MARKETS SOAR ON GRAINS AND COTTON BOOM

Stocks Spurt 7 Points; Staple Up $4 Bale; Wheat Near $1.

New York, June 26 (U.P.).—American financial markets roared upward today under the impetus of a smashing advance in wheat and cotton prices.

The Chicago grain pits seethed with the activity of a war-time boom. Millions of speculators, in a frantic bid for wheat, sent the price up 7 cents a bushel to near the dollar-a-bushel mark.

Wheat for future delivery in May, 1934, touched 99 cents a bushel—a cent short of the long hoped for goal of millions of depression-ridden farmers. It was the highest price paid for wheat since 1930.

Corn, oats and rye soared to new highs with wheat, as speculative enthusiasm was whipped up by another run of crop reports that stressed severe damages to all crops from heat and drought.

Acreage Reductio: Factor.

The cotton market at New York shot ahead more than $4 a bale to the highest levels since 1931. Trading was turbulent as prices rose under the influence of the boom in grains, the Government's apparent success in enlisting farmers' support to the cause of acreage reduction and the continued reports of high activity in cotton mills.

Other commodities were buoyed by the action of wheat and cotton. On all markets there were occasional rushes to cash in on paper profits, but the demand was so great that offerings were readily taken up and prices finished near the day's highs. Brokers reported buying orders for wheat and cotton pouring in from an enthusiastic public in all parts of the country.

The imaginations of traders on the stock exchange were fired by the skyrocketing activity of the commodity markets. Currency fluctuations, the dilly-dallying at the London Economic Conference and other factors that ordinarily would influence trading were ignored as professional traders and market dabblers in all walks of life clambered to get aboard their favorite stocks.

Implement Shares Soar.

Stocks of companies whose earnings depend largely on the course of commodity prices naturally were most popular. Farm implement shares soared, J. I. Case reaching 92¾, up 7¼. International Harvester climbed more than 2 points to 41⅞.

A lively bull demonstration took place in alcohol stocks. National Distillers was bid up to a record high of 85¾, up 7¾. U. S. Industrial Alcohol and Crown Cork & Seal scored new highs. Mail order shares rose 1 to 5 points.

Allied Chemical led an uprush in chemical stocks, rising 4 points to 118. Rails, oils and utilities perked up. The motor stocks were turned over at a fast clip at new highs. Steel shares were buoyed by another rise in the country's steel operations. U. S. Steel closed more than a point higher at 58⅝ and Bethlehem up 2⅛ at 42.

Speculative bonds kept pace with the stock market, particularly railroad issues, which rose 1 to 5 points to new 1933 highs.

U. S. Observers at Labor Congress Told to Return

Geneva, June 26 (U.P.).—The United States delegation of observers to the International Labor Conference here received brief instructions today to return to the United States immediately. They probably will leave tomorrow or Wednesday.

The conference does not end until Friday, but the Americans pointed out the main work had been finished, and added there was "pressing work to do in the United States."

NORMAN H. DAVIS,

DAVIS ON DESTROYER FOR TALK WITH CHIEF

Ambassador-at-Large Holds London Conference Has Slowed, Not Stopped.

The Chief Executive, a scant 40 miles from his destination, Campobello Island, New Brunswick, after a vacation cruise up the New England Coast, will confer with Davis tomorrow aboard the vacation yacht Amberjack II.

Lieut. Comdr. Edward W. Wunch, in command of the Bernadou, said he did not know where contact would be made with the presidential yacht, but expressed the belief the Bernadou would pick up the Amberjack tomorrow morning.

Mr. Davis, asked if the Economic Conference at London hadn't slowed up, replied: "Well, it has slowed up a little, but hasn't come to a stop." He declined further comment on the economic or the disarmament conferences.

Asked if he had received a fee for the floating of a $25,000,000 bond issue for a Chilean Potash Co., Davis said "several years ago" he had assisted Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and the Guaranty Trust Co. in floating a loan he believed was about $25,000,000. He said that he did not recall the amount of his fee, but that it might have been $25,000.

Davis made it clear he was acting in such capacities as a private citizen, not in any way connected with Government activities.

An investigation of the affairs of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., is scheduled to begin tomorrow before a Senate Investigating committee.

"They are trying to smoke me out," Davis concluded, "and I don't care if I am smoked out."

Accompanying him was James Roosevelt, eldest son of the President, and John Cutter, of Boston, a friend of the Roosevelts.

Balbo Fleet's Departure Is Set for This Morning

Orbetello, Italy, June 26 (A.P.).—The 100 aviators preparing for the take-off of 25 Italian seaplanes on a flight by stages to the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago retired early tonight, with weather indications promising the possibility of departure in the morning.

It was officially asserted the armada would leave barring an unfavorable change. Unfavorable weather conditions have held up the flight several days.

Beer Revolution Opens in Kansas

Wichita, Kans., June 26 (A.P.).—Open revolt against the Kansas bone dry laws flared here today as Attorney General Roland Boynton said he would demand county officials to report what they were doing to control the situation.

About 100 places opened this morning to sell 3.2 per cent beer in what owners described as an effort to "show the futility" of the State's prohibition statutes.

Funds for legal defense were said to have been obtained by an assessment against those selling beer. The price is 25 cents a bottle. The only raid today was on a restaurant, where officers seized 24 cases of beer being unloaded from a truck.

FRANCE SEEKS BRITISH AID TO BALK AMERICA

Her Stabilizing Scheme Would Link Pound to Franc; Dollar Out.

(Associated Press.)

France is bringing tremendous pressure on Great Britain, it was authoritatively learned last night, to hitch the pound to the franc in a stabilization scheme excluding the American dollar.

Senator Couzens, American delegate, told the economic conference yesterday it was time to make a concrete move to relieve debtors and pleaded for adoption of his public works program.

Australian objections to the American wheat restriction plan were believed removed by a formula devised in an American-Australian conference.

India For U. S. Plan.

Assistant Secretary of State Moley decided to hurry his arrival in London by leaving his ship at Cobh, Irish Free State, and completing his trip by airplane.

American quarters discounted views that his arrival might alter the United States monetary policy or result in war debt developments.

Neville Chamberlain, British chancellor of the exchequer, urged negotiations between debtors and creditors, as did Senator Couzens, and cited the complaint that creditors are not organized.

Cuban to Make Sugar Plea.

Foreign ministers of Great Britain and Soviet Russia started negotiations for resumption of trade now broken off between the two countries.

Orestes Ferrara, Cuban secretary of state, plans to emphasize an appeal today for world-wide cooperation in restoring sugar prices by pointing to "economic war" as the alternative.

Japanese quarters expressed dissatisfaction with progress of the conference and expressed conviction that direct tariff negotiations between interested countries would provide better results.

Speculators Are Warned By Secretary Wallace

Des Moines, Iowa, June 26 (A.P.).—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, commenting on the spectacular rise of grain prices today, warned against speculative markets and added that to bring higher prices to the producer the purpose of Federal legislation was rather than the speculator.

Gunmen Murder Cashier When Time Lock Balks

Lacrosse, Ind., June 26 (A.P.).—Two gunmen, furious because a time lock sealed the vault of the Lacrosse State Bank, today shot and mortally wounded the cashier, William E. Tennell, and took $500 from the cash drawer before they fled.

3 Are Electrocuted Working Hayfield

Anamosa, Iowa, June 26 (A.P.).—Three workers were electrocuted in a hayfield today when the pole of a "hay stacker" fell against a power line. The dead: John Gerdes, 45; Louis Walberback, 23, and Leo Walberback, 13, the last two brothers.

The three were hoisting the pole preparatory to stacking hay on the Gerdes' farm when the accident occurred. They were pulling on a steel cable, and death was instantaneous when the pole contacted the power line.

Gerdes is survived by his widow and several children. Louis Walberback is survived by his widow.

Recovery Act Legislation Needed for Capital Sewers

Residents of Fifth and Ingraham Streets Will Dispense With Rowboats as Necessities if $400,000 for Flood Work Is Obtained.

Rowboats may be needed no more as household necessities by the storm-harassed residents near Fifth and Ingraham streets northwest.

And if the relief in prospect is not realized, the residents, instead of commuting in rowboats to dry land after each storm, may have to change their abodes from houses to houseboats.

Every time it rains, the cellars in the homes in that vicinity are inundated with waters which the storm sewers are inadequate to carry away.

After each storm, the Fire Department and Sewer Department have to pump dry the flooded homes.

For years the harried home owners have clamored for relief. But now the rainbow seems to have followed the cloudbursts which made life miserable for them on Sunday.

Engineer Commissioner John G. Gotwals revealed yesterday that he has included an additional storm water sewer to cost $400,000 on the District public works list now being compiled.

If the National Recovery Administration approves the project and advances the money it will be the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow for the storm-bothered residents. That crock of gold will be in the form of a new 9-foot parallel sewerage system.

But if no approval is given to the project, Sanitary Engineer J. B. Gordon says an 18-foot lake will eventually form in that vicinity.

PROSECUTOR TELLS OF HARRIMAN DELAY

New York, June 26 (A.P.).—A spectacular clash between a senator and a former Assistant United States Attorney General, the latter's explanation of delay in ordering the prosecution of Joseph W. Harriman in connection with alleged irregularities in the national bank bearing his name, and a threat to force a witness to answer specific questions against his will were crowded into a seven-hour Senate inquiry today.

Senator Mathew W. Neely, of West Virginia, a member of the subcommittee investigating an asserted failure to prosecute Harriman promptly, almost came to blows with former Assistant United States Attorney General Nugent Dodds when the senator accused Dodds of trying to "whitewash" the inquiry.

Senator Neely seized a water carafe when Dodds made as if to strike him, but they were quieted by Chairman Henry F. Ashurst, of Arizona, and later they shook hands.

Dodds assumed responsibility for ordering the prosecution of Harriman delayed, saying he shared it jointly with the New York Clearing House Association and the Treasury Department. They were actuated by the fear of bringing about a "major banking crisis," which might have resulted had Harriman been indicted when the alleged irregularities were first discovered, last July, Dodds said.

Albert Murray Austin, former vice president and director of the bank, who is under indictment with Harriman, stirred the committee's ire when he invoked his constitutional right to refuse answers to questions that might tend to incriminate him.

Austin testified that he believed Harriman ordered the allegedly false entries, amounting to approximately $1,500,000, that led to his indictment, but refused to tell who received the orders.

Georgians Give Garner Tung Oil Wood Gavel

Cairo, Ga., June 26 (A.P.).—Vice President Garner can do his pounding in the Senate henceforth with a gavel made of Chinese tung oil wood grown in Grady County, Ga.

The local chamber of commerce sent it to him and he replied by letter, saying he has placed it in his collection of treasured possessions as something different from any gifts heretofore received. Landowners in Grady County have planted thousands of tung oil trees which produce nuts from which valuable oil is extracted.

SPANISH SEA FLIERS FOUND DEAD IN SHIP

Mexico City, June 26 (A.P.).—The federal minister of interior announced tonight that the bodies of Capt. Mariano Barberan and Lieut. Joaquin Collar, Spanish transatlantic fliers, missing six days on an attempted flight from Havana, and the wreckage of their plane, Cuatro Vientos, had been found in a lagoon in the State of Tabasco.

A tug, the announcement said, will leave at 3 a. m. tomorrow to take the bodies to Puerto Mexico.

The minister's information came from R. Vazques Cerda, chief of immigration at Puerto Mexico, who said: "Airplane Cuatro Vientos found wrecked in the lagoon Alacran or Machona, State of Tabasco. Pilots dead. They will be brought to Puerto Mexico aboard tugboat Coloso which leaving 3 a. m. Tuesday."

Warmer Weather Today Is Promised for Capital

With 85 degrees recorded late in the day as yesterday's high temperature, the Weather Bureau last night predicted warmer weather for today.

Promised showers failed to materialize yesterday, although outlying sections reported a brief rainfall late in the afternoon. It will be fair and warm today and tomorrow, except for probability of local afternoon thundershowers.

Hawaiian Filipinos Protest Idleness

Honolulu, June 26 (A.P.).—More than 300 Filipinos, who asserted they were unemployed and demanded return to the Philippines, paraded in the Capitol Grounds and before the city hall today.

The demonstration here followed strikes of Filipino plantation workers in which sugar-cane knives were brandished at Aiea, near Honolulu, last Tuesday.

The Hawaiian Sugar Planters Association announced that if the Filipinos were without jobs they would be given transportation aboard the President Pierce Friday for Manila. While the demonstration was in progress, Gov. Lawrence M. Judd conferred with Maj. Gordon Ross, commander of Territorial police. The governor said the government was ready to take any steps necessary to protect life and property. Three hundred Filipino sugar cane harvesters at Waimanalo struck today.

I. C. C. WILL USE FURLOUGHS AND FIVE-DAY WEEK

Plans to Be Employed to Prevent Widespread Dismissals.

By Robert C. Albright.

Payless furloughs and application of the five-day week will supplant widespread discharges in the economy-stricken Interstate Commerce Commission.

The commission will follow the Postoffice Department's lead, completely substituting a furlough system for wholesale dismissals under the administration's sharp retrenchment program.

Secretary George B. McGinty said a five-day week will be applied in the Bureaus of Valuation and Accounts. Monday will be eliminated as a work-day in these two units. Furloughs, also will be invoked in bureaus not so drastically hit.

Victory for Employes.

Selection of Monday as the idle day in the five-day week plan was the second victory in less than a week for Government employes slated for the short work-week schedule, now being widely discussed throughout the Federal structure.

The Navy Department had ordered a five-day week for field workers, with Saturday as the idle day, but canceled this program following protests from Luther C. Steward, president of the National Federation of Federal Employes.

Under the Navy Department plan, one full day's pay would have been deducted, although the working week was actually curtailed only one-eleventh. Saturday is a half holiday in the Government service. With Monday as the idle day this inequity in pay deduction will not apply under the Interstate Commerce Commission's plan.

Valuation Bureau Hit.

The commission's valuation bureau was affected more deeply probably than any other Federal agency, in the Congressional pruning process. Congress lopped $1,750,000 below the Bureau of Valuation's 1933 appropriation of $2,750,000.

Secretary McGinty said the commission's "no dismissal" program will depend largely on the success of plans to transfer competent employes to other bureaus.

Announcement there will be no discharges from the commission at the close of this fiscal year revived hopes a similar system may be worked out for government units not so seriously curtailed.

Nevertheless, the ax continued to fall in other agencies. The State Department was reported ready to let out 62 employes by the close of the week, while 150 to 200 employes were said to be slated to go at the General Accounting Office, and 60 workers were released from the Office of Public Buildings and Public Parks.

Former King of Spain Hears Couzens' Speech

London, June 26 (A.P.).—One of the sensations of the World Economic Conference today was a surprise visit from former King Alfonso of Spain. He slipped in quietly and was an interested listener to speeches by Senator James Couzens and Neville Chamberlain, British chancellor of the exchequer.

Peru's Cabinet Headed By Manzanilla Resigns

No official announcement was made immediately regarding the cause for the resignation nor any steps to be taken for the appointment of successors.

First Recovery Code Trial to Be Held Today

Prisoner Wins Liberty By Name of 61 Letters

Chester, Pa., June 26 (A.P.).—Lieuszkuieiszeszkei Willihimintzziastdizziu Hurrizziasteizii—just 61, count 'em—was arrested today on suspicion, but released almost immediately because Desk Sergeant John Denmark said he couldn't spell the name.

The prisoner, who said he is Siamese, later gave the spelling to detectives, and said his name in English meant "great mountain-wonderful strength—the bear of the lake."

He is an unemployed musician, and was picked up after being found in a shack on the outskirts of the city.

3 WASHINGTONIANS ON HOARDERS' LIST

Three Washingtonians, who are alleged to have withdrawn a total of $3,050 in gold during the last two years, are on the list of suspected hoarders sent to the Department of Justice by the Treasury Department, it was revealed yesterday.

The three will be visited by agents of the department and asked to account for the gold, and to return it if it is still in their possession. Their names are included in the 15,000 suspected hoarders listed by the Treasury from reports submitted by banks throughout the country.

Names of deliberate hoarders probably will be published when justice agents finish interviewing all those who withdrew large sums in gold or gold certificates, Attorney General Cummings said yesterday. It is also possible that the names of those who admit holding large sums will be published soon, when it is certain the gold is still in their possession.

More than $187,000 was returned by 35 persons on demand of Justice agents during the last three days of last week, it was reported. This brings the total amount of gold returned to $23,921,000. The number of persons refusing to return gold is 185, with holdings reported to be $1,141,819.

As long as the present campaign against hoarders is going along successfully, the Justice Department will only assemble data to be used later in prosecution of deliberate violators of the order against keeping gold, Mr. Cummings said. The present campaign has two phases, he said. One is the return of gold on account of Justice agents, and the other is the gold returned by people who have read of the agents' activities.

The possibility of new Federal legislation to deal with gangsters and racketeers was forecast by the Attorney General. New statutes, possibly covering the transportation of machine guns and stolen goods, would be based on the interstate character of crime. The State, he declared, does not have the equipment to deal with a crime problem national in scope. A conference of State officials to discuss the problem may be called, he said.

East St. Louis Banker Kills Himself in Home

East St. Louis, Ill., June 26 (A.P.).—Conrad Reeb, 65, president of the Southern Illinois National Bank & Trust Co., shot and killed himself today at his home here. Police said Reeb left no note. Dr. Carl Wilhelm said he had been treating the banker for nervousness and that he was subject to high blood pressure.

Americans' Captor Taken in Mexico

Alpine, Tex., June 26 (A.P.).—E. E. Townsend, State representative, learned in a letter today from Mexican military authorities that Candelario Bisa, who recently made prisoners of Art Hannold and Jim Rollins, Texas ranchmen, had been captured and was held in prison at Musquis, Mexico.

The Texans were taken captive below the border while hunting for horse thieves and were freed through the intervention of Mexican authorities.

The letter also said that Pedro Alvarado, of Chihuahua, also sought for his activities in northern Mexico, was being pursued by a cavalry regiment. When captured he will be tried with Bisa.

Battle Is Certain Over Proposals of Cotton Industry.

Hugh Johnson Denies Friction Within His Organization.

By J. Bernard McDonnell.

Fate of the administration's economic recovery program will hang in the balance this morning as hearings begin on the industrial code submitted by the cotton textile industry for approval by the new national industrial recovery administration.

The hearing, in the auditorium of the Commerce Department Building, beginning at 10 o'clock, will be presided over by Brig. Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, retired, administrator of the national recovery act.

The cotton textile code provides for minimums which are not satisfactory to representatives of labor. Labor contends that the 40-hour work week and $10 and $11 a week minimum wage for certain employes are not satisfactory.

Code to Set Precedents.

Especial importance attaches to consideration of the textile code because of its precedent characteristics.

Decision of the recovery administration on hours of labor, minimum working age and other questions are going to be fought over in the course of the hearings.

The precedents set in this, the first industrial code hearing in the "new deal," undoubtedly will serve as guides in the future.

There was growing talk yesterday about friction between the various officials having to do with bringing about national economic recovery.

"Hell, no!" Johnson said in response to questions.

"I couldn't have had more help if I had written the ticket myself," the general added after a conference with Secretary of Commerce Roper, Budget Director Douglas and others.

Gen. Johnson Satisfied.

Gen Johnson said that he and Donald Richbourg had phrased the law under which they were operating and he was satisfied.

Stories of dissension arose out of the fact that Gen. Johnson had been selected by President Roosevelt to head the revivification machinery before the law was enacted by Congress. Col. John R. Spalding had been named to get together the recovery machinery along with Gen Johnson. Col. Spalding undoubtedly offended many members of Congress because he set about gathering an organization capable of doing the work but he didn't consult the senators and representatives.

It was said that Col. Spalding had turned to the Army and his

Italian Liner Roma Is Aground in Fog

New York, June 26 (A.P.).—The Italian liner Roma, with 400 passengers aboard, went aground at the entrance to Ambrose Channel in the dense fog today.

Coast Guard officials reported the ship was in no danger and would free herself during the night with the rising tide. The liner sent out no calls for help.

The fog was so dense several liners were held at the entrance to New York Harbor for many hours. The Britannic, of the White Star Line, was forced to anchor overnight and did not clear quarantine until early tonight. The thick of the fog centered off Sandy Hook and around Ambrose Lightship.

Blond Tarzan Terrorizes Debutantes of Cleveland

Special to The Washington Post.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 26.—The hunt for the blond Tarzan of Rocky River, woodad and fashionable suburb of Cleveland, is on.

The entire man power of the suburb's police department was marshaled today by Chief Gundar Robertson in a do-or-die effort to run down the nimble wood sprite who swings from trees and pops out of bushes to scare women and children.

Blondy, as the big Tarzan of Rocky River is called by maids and gardeners, who find the elusive Satyr their chief topic of conversation, first appeared about three weeks ago, but his antics were kept a dark secret at the request of wealthy citizens of the suburb until today.

A pretty debutante, who requested that her name not be used, gave reporters a graphic account of Tarzan's antics.

"I was getting dressed after dinner to keep an engagement, when I suddenly heard a man laugh," she said. "The shades in my bedroom were not drawn because there is not another house within 500 feet and I had no fear of being seen.

"You can imagine my surprise when I glanced out of the window and saw a giant man sitting on a branch of a tree in our yard. He was naked and had long, blond hair. He was chuckling as he watched me undress and it was the noise that attracted my attention.

"I screamed and he swung from the branch upon which he was sitting to the branch of another tree. It was a typical Tarzan of the Apes trick and he did it neatly."

The young lady said that her father reported the incident to the police, but requested that a secret search be made for the naked giant.

Since that evening Tarzan has made numerous appearances and has the suburb in an uproar.

Young women have reported that he dropped in front of them while they were strolling along the boulevard, performed a little dance, laughed his maniacal laugh and then disappeared.

He also has popped out of bushes in front of children, sending them screaming to their homes.

The nude giant's favorite pastime, however, is peeking into the bedrooms of girls while they are undressing. Rocky River police have received scores of complaints from parents of girls who discovered the blond Tarzan peeking at them from the branch of a tree.

According to reports, he gave himself away in each instance by laughing and attracting the attention of the young lady standing in her stepins or less, blissfully unaware that she was exhibiting her charms in front of a moron perched in a tree.

The nude giant has made no attempt to molest any woman or child, police say, being content to show himself to girls and young women and to spy on them while they are preparing for bed or getting ready to go out evenings.

He has made it practice not to show himself to girls in the company of escorts, but several men, attracted by screams, told police that they saw him beating his retreat through the branches of trees.

BUSINESS COUNCIL CONDUCTS MEETING

Committees Named to Study and Report on Various Trade Problems.

Committees to review the need for Department of Commerce services and to consider the business problems were named yesterday as half a hundred leaders of industry met here for the first session of the Business Advisory and Planning Council.

John H. Fahey, publisher of the Worcester (Mass.) Post, was selected to head the committee which will study problems of the department. An executive committee headed by Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric Co., was chosen while other committees will consider five major problems of American industry.

Each of the five members of the committee on departmental problems will head a special subcommittee dealing with a specific question. Henry S. Dennison, president of the Dennison Manufacturing Co., is chairman of the subcommittee to advise the department on its future policy in domestic commerce surveys. Whether the department should continue these surveys from general funds was a question asked by Secretary of Commerce Roper in his speech opening the council session.

Service Fee to Be Studied.

Another subcommittee will consider the future of the department's foreign service. The chairman of this group is Edward N. Hurley, of Chicago. Questions to be considered, which were raised by Secretary Roper, include the necessity for foreign trade reporting of the present scope and the proper organization for the work. The problem of charging a fee to pay the cost of collecting such trade information also will be studied.

The advisability of charging fees for other department services will be studied by a group headed by Robert L. Lund, general manager of the Lambert Pharmacal Co. The fifth group, headed by Dr. C. K. Leith, professor of geology at the University of Wisconsin, will recommend a future policy for the reporting and publication service of the department. The use of questionnaires also will be studied by this subcommittee.

Mr. Swope also will be chairman of a general economic research committee, which will name another advisory committee of economists. The committee to study the decentralization of industry will be headed by W. A. Julian, Treasurer of the United States. International trade relations will come under the scrutiny of still another group led by Alfred P. Sloan, jr., president of General Motors Corporation.

Executives Group Named.

The committee on business ethics, unfair competition, standardization, and elimination of wastes of distribution will have Lew Hahn, president of the National Retail Dry Goods Association, as its chairman. Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., will head the committee on statistical reporting and uniform accounts for industry.

The executive committee is composed of eight men. In addition to Mr. Swope, its members are Mr. Fahey, Gen. R. E. Wood, president of Sears, Roebuck & Co.; Henry H. Heimann, executive manager of the National Association of Credit Men; Henry I. Harriman, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce; Edmond C. Van Diest, president of the General Service Corporation; Austin Finch, president of the Thomasville Chair Co., and O. Max Gardner, former Governor of North Carolina.

"Business has always spoken with too many separate voices," Secretary Roper said yesterday as he outlined the purposes for which he had called together the council. "It has not 'come to one' with itself or with its own problems before approaching the country and the Government," he continued.

"Each separate interest, whether an industry or a part of an industry or a particular firm, has come here separately seeking to promote that special interest without taking account of the needs of other business or labor or public groups. The entire task of coordinating the business interests of the country has thus been thrown upon the machinery of government."

Roper Outlines Problems.

In facing the problem of economizing and changing the work of the department to conform to changed conditions, he wanted the advice of business itself, he told the council.

Among the long-term planning problems, he said, is the question of controlling or reducing cycles in employment and income. A means of balancing the growth of productive equipment with the growth of purchasing power should be sought, he said. Ascertainment of whether the Nation's debt structure is increasing too rapidly for the income also was advocated.

The first session of the council ended last night after the appointment of committees. The date of the next meeting has not been set, but it probably will not be held until the subcommittees are ready to give tentative reports.

Prisoner in Contempt Confined in Own Home

Providence, R. I., June 26 (A.P.).—A sentence of 26 days in his own home was imposed today upon Herman Kronson, 54, for contempt of court. In imposing the sentence, Superior Court Judge Antonio A. Capotosto said he decided to sentence the defendant to his home instead of jail on learning an invalid wife and sister were dependent upon him and a jail sentence might mean their deaths.

Kronson was convicted of contempt last week in having approached a litigant in a will case and saying, probably he could "do him some good," as he knew one of the jurors.

Arthur Robinson Leaves On Cutter for Alaska

Seattle, June 26 (A.P.).—Senator Arthur S. Robinson (Republican), Indiana, member of the Senate Committee on Territories and Insular Affairs, left here yesterday for Alaska on the Coast Guard Cutter Chelan.

He is expected to return in about three weeks.

Strike of Teachers Forecast.

Milwaukee, June 26 (A.P.).—American school teachers, alarmed by payless pay days and retrenchment in school administrations, may forget about ethics and go on strike, said Mrs. Florence Curtis Hanson, Chicago, executive secretary of the American Federation of Teachers, today. Mrs. Hanson was here for meetings preliminary to the seventeenth annual convention of the association, opening tomorrow.

FARLEY RAPS BLOCS AS INJURING NATION

Lays Roosevelt's Success to Defeat of Organized Minorities.

Grand Rapids, Mich., June 26 (A.P.).—James A. Farley, Postmaster General and chairman of the Democratic national committee, said tonight "one of the great secrets of the success" of the Roosevelt administration to date "has been the fact that it has not yielded in the slightest degree to the demands of organized minorities."

Addressing the banquet of the Advertising Federation of America, the Roosevelt campaign manager said in a prepared address that "too often in the past have these special groups been able to whittle out of our public officials special consideration that was to the disadvantage of all of us."

The Roosevelt administration, Farley declared, "is basing its activity firmly upon the principle that what is good for all of the people is good for every class and that special consideration for particular groups can not fail, in the end, to be injurious not only to the mass of the people but to the special groups themselves."

America finds, he said, that it was a "highly organized minority which for years maintained the sham of prohibition after all evidence had conclusively proven that the eighteenth amendment was impoverishing the Treasury and building up a class of supercriminals to prey upon the whole public."

Farley said one of the first acts of the Roosevelt administration was to provide for the resubmission of the prohibition question to the people and "what has transpired shows that the great majority of our people are against the iniquitous eighteenth amendment."

Before the end of the year 1933, Farley said, "I am sure that we will by the enactment of the twenty-first amendment accomplish its repeal."

Discussing the President's economy program, Farley said "There is not a single individual who now deems himself injured by reason of any of the economy cuts who would not have lost far more if the President had not had the courage to make them."

This program of economy, the Postmaster General says, "has established thrift as a national objective."

Reporters of 1893 Invited to Chicago

Chicago, June 26 (A.P.).—Newspaper men and women who wrote about the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago in 1893 today were assigned "their day"—August 12—at A Century of Progress.

Whether or not they have entered other types of work in the past 40 years, the committee in charge announced, all newspaper reporters and writers who worked at the Columbian Exposition have been invited to attend.

An incomplete list of 150 names of those eligible for the reunion has been drafted, and others are expected to be added. All have been asked to correspond with William K. McKay, Chicago correspondent of the New York Daily News.

Dedicated by the committee to "celebrate the typographical error," the chief event will be a banquet at which George Ade, one of those who "covered" the fair of '93 will be toastmaster.

Rainey Will Urge Soviet Recognition

Speaker Rainey said yesterday that he would urge the President's immediate consideration of recognizing Soviet Russia "not only for the trade, but for that country's friendship."

He declared that this Nation is losing nearly $500,000,000 a year in trade which is going to other countries.

The Speaker has been an advocate of recognition for several years. He visited Russia two years ago after being member of a ways and means subcommittee that investigated charges of enforced and convict labor there.

St. Louis Man Named Deputy to Helvering

Charles T. Russell, who has been in charge of the Internal Revenue district with headquarters at St. Louis, has been promoted to Deputy Commissioner of Internal Revenue and will come to Washington to take charge of the income tax unit of the Internal Revenue Bureau, it was announced yesterday by Guy T. Helvering, Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Greta Garbo to Return to Stockholm.

Stockholm, Sweden, June 26 (A.P.).—Greta Garbo will definitely return to Stockholm at the end of her two-year Hollywood film contract, Dagens Nyheter said today. The newspaper added that the actress recently purchased property near her birthplace on the south side of the city and will completely modernize it.

Down Again

Schooner Sinks for Third Time in Potomac and Dynamite Is Near.

In debt and out of work, the apparently jinxed schooner J. J. Underhill is again on the floor of the Potomac.

Washing its hands of the ill-fated boat, the Engineering Department now threatens to dynamite the craft if her owners do not raise her from the third watery grave she has occupied in two weeks.

The District fireboat raised the two-masted ship and her 25-ton cargo of oyster shells last Tuesday, several days after she sank near a wharf at Alexandria, Va. The schooner was beached near Hains Point but a passing vessel created enough suction to drag her down to the bottom of the river channel.

Government dredges raised the boat Sunday with the aid of bell divers. Apparently able to sail, the boat was towed for a mile toward Alexandria and left to navigate under her own power. The schooner dived to the bottom again at Gravelly Point, and faces a $150 salvage fee and the threat of dynamite if she is not removed.

Gov. Rolph Signs Cather Extradition

Sacramento, Calif., June 26 (A.P.).—Gov. James Rolph signed extradition papers today for the return of L. A. Cather, former Circuit Court clerk of Marion County, W. Va., from Los Angeles to West Virginia to answer ten indictments alleging embezzlement of approximately $16,000 in public funds while holding office.

Attorney Lloyd Nix, of Los Angeles, who represented Cather at the hearing held in the governor's office, announced he would file habeas corpus proceedings in the Los Angeles courts upon technical points he raised at the hearing which were not allowed.

Nix said the extradition papers failed to specify exactly when the alleged crime was committed. He was told that only a court could uphold his objection.

Cather has been held in the Los Angeles County Jail in lieu of $50,000 bail.

Joan Crawford Offers To Go to Former Mate

New York, June 26 (A.P.).—Joan Crawford, "very much concerned" about the condition of her pneumonia-stricken former husband, Douglas Fairbanks, jr., has offered to come to his bedside in a New York hospital.

The young acter was reported so much improved tonight, however, that he has decided against asking his former wife to make the journey from Hollywood. That was the information given out from the home of Mrs. Jack Whiting, Fairbanks' mother.

Von Papen and German Envoy Leave for Rome

Berlin, June 26 (A.P.).—Vice Chancellor Franz von Papen and Ulrich von Hassell, German Ambassador to Rome, left for Rome tonight.

The reason for the trip was not announced.

Chairman Henry F. Ashurst, of Arizona, threatened to bring Senate action against him, but later reconsidered.

In the course of his testimony, Dodds declared there is only "an innocuous and desultory system of bank bookkeeping" and expressed the hope the new administration would provide for more stringent national bank examinations.

In accepting joint responsibility for delaying the Harriman prosecution, Dodds remarked it was a "common thing" to do.

United States Attorney George Z. Medalie, of New York, told the committee at the morning session that Harriman would go on trial about July 5. The former bank president has been indicted on a charge of causing false entries to be made in the books.

The committee concluded its hearing in New York, although it had been expected to require two days.

Three Die After Eating Beets.

Dayton, Wash., June 26 (A.P.).—The third death in one family attributed to poisoning from home preserved beets served June 18, occurred today when Mrs. Alvin Laughery died in a hospital here. Elmer Laughery, head of the household, died Sunday, and his daughter, Dorothy, 14, died Friday.

67 Killed in Sumatra Quake.

Batavia, Java, June 26 (A.P.).—Sixty-seven persons were killed today in a severe earthquake which struck South Bencoolen, a seaport on the west coast of Sumatra. Most of the inhabitants of the district are Malayans.

KUHN, LOEB PROBE WILL BEGIN TODAY

(Associated Press.)

Senate investigators yesterday completed months of preparation for the investigation of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. today and word came that the evidence would include some income tax matters.

In the final preparations for the inquiry, the expectations had arisen that prominent names would be included in the evidence collected during the many months of examining the operations of the banking house.

Ferdinand Pecora, the committee counsel, smilingly refused to disclose the evidence on his arrival here last night from New York, but said it would include income tax matters, flotation of securities and the general set-up of the banking house.

Pecora said the evidence would include no lists of favored clients as were presented in the investigation of J. P. Morgan & Co., because Kuhn, Loeb & Co. had no "private issues."

In other sources, however, it was said that prominent names were included in the evidence to be submitted and that although Kuhn, Loeb & Co. chiefly marketed securities through other houses, it had some individual clients of its own.

Pecora said that among the first evidence to be submitted would be the balance sheet, showing the firm's set-up, and its partnership agreement. He added that Otto H. Kahn, senior partner, would be the first witness.

Kahn, born in Germany 66 years ago, is well known to the American public, because of his patronage of art but as a banker his methods are almost as little known to the public as J. P. Morgan's were before the last inquiry of the Senate committee into his banking house.

The committee has indicated it will follow the same general course in the Kuhn-Loeb inquiry that was followed in that of Morgan.

One of the features of the Morgan inquiry was evidence of the organization of the Van Sweringen Railroad Holding Co., Alleghany Corporation. In the Kuhn-Loeb hearings, a similar study will be made of the organization by the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. of the Pennroad Corporation, a holding company.

Vast Cargoes of Wheat Will Be Sent to Orient

Seattle, June 26 (A.P.).—Five million bushels of wheat will be loaded here for the Orient, the Seattle Port Commission announced today, as a result of a contract entered into with the newly organized Continental Pacific Grain Corporation.

Full cargoes for 20 8,000-ton ships will be involved, the commission said. The wheat is part of 12,500,000 bushels sold by the United States Government to China.

Prince Michael's Nose Is Punched by Playmate

Bucharest, Roumania, June 26 (U. P.).—A sturdy punch in the royal nose of Prince Michael, 12-year-old crown prince of Roumania, was delivered in sincere fashion by one of his playmates recently, the Bucharest newspapers reported today.

The reports said that the fight occurred Sunday, after King Carol, the father, had commanded his son's companions to hit back whenever Michael became pugnacious.

Mrs. Hutton Improves At Hospital in Paris

Paris, June 26 (A.P.).—Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton, who was operated on recently for removal of an intestinal obstruction, had a comfortable day and showed improvement today. It was expected, however, it would be several weeks before she would be able to leave the hospital.

Efforts to reach her for comments on rumors in Los Angeles of a possible divorce between her and David Hutton met with doctor's orders forbidding her to receive visitors.

Motorist Kills Gunman And Wounds Partner

Hot Springs, Ark., June 26 (A.P.).—One man was killed and another gravely wounded early today when W. P. Westmoreland, of Houston, Tex., motoring with his wife, was halted by a pair with a gun and replied to a demand to "stick 'em up" with bullets.

The dead man was identified by officers as Nolan Brady, of Conway, Ark., and the wounded gave his name as Clem Holman, of Mimeko, Okla. As the order to "stick 'em up" came, Westmoreland pulled a revolver from the side pocket of his automobile and opened fire. One bullet pierced Brady's heart and several hit Holman.

REPEAL VOTE TODAY IS ISSUE IN 2 STATES

(Associated Press.)

Indiana and Massachusetts yesterday went through the formality of ratifying repeal of the eighteenth amendment while California and West Virginia prepared for a vote today on the prohibition question.

A preliminary to the Texas vote on August 26 was also planned for today. Prohibitionists and antiprohibitionists arranged Lone Star State conventions to choose candidates for their respective slates.

The State of New York meanwhile made ready today to ratify the repeal amendment, with delegates elected May 23 gathering in convention for the formal action. Antiprohibitionist delegates will sit unopposed.

California antiprohibitionists have claimed many prospective benefits would ensue to the State's grape industry through ratification of the twenty-first amendment, which would repeal the eighteenth, and they predicted a substantial vote to take prohibition out of the Constitution. The balloting, however, was complicated by a number of other issues, horse-race betting, unemployment relief and taxation.

Both sides had worked hard in West Virginia, at one time listed as a dry State.

Fourteen States have ratified repeal of the eighteenth amendment, or have voted to do so. In addition to Indiana and Massachusetts, they are Michigan, Wisconsin, Rhode Island, Wyoming, New Jersey, New York, Delaware, Nevada, Illinois, Connecticut, New Hampshire and Iowa.

U. S. Blamed in Fears Of Europe's Gold Shift

London, June 26 (U.P.).—Fears that Holland would go off the gold standard shortly, followed by similar action by France, were expressed in financial quarters tonight.

The financial expert on the Daily Telegraph wrote that the United States would be to blame if this occurred. America's rejection of temporary stabilization of currencies at the economic conference, he wrote, was the cause of the new uncertainty. The damage that policy of isolation has inflicted on other countries is now becoming apparent, the article said.

Safe Fourth Call Is Sent Over Air

A word to the wise about fireworks and the familiar plea for a "safe and sane Fourth of July" was broadcast last night over WMAL. The speaker was William H. Rodda, of the Washington Chamber of Commerce.

"The most fun," he said, "at the least risk is provided by our community fireworks celebration. Take the kiddies to see something of this sort and spare yourself the expense of buying your own. Besides, the displays are much more elaborate than you or I could possibly afford privately."

Mr. Rodda also berated Washington's return to the burning-dump method of trash disposal. "The economy program," he said, "that forces closing of our modern incinerator plant is thus increasing our fire hazard, as well as presenting some serious health hazards."

Wheat Rise May Alter Processing Tax Rate

Kansas City, June 26 (A.P.).—In the face of rising wheat prices, Prof. M. L. Wilson, Federal wheat administrator, declined today to say whether the wheat processing tax, when actually applied, would be the 30 cents a bushel now contemplated.

The tentative figure of 30 cents was arrived at by the Department of Agriculture through computing the price averages for the first two weeks of June. The processing tax provided by the agricultural adjustment act will be based on the difference between the prewar purchasing power of wheat and its current purchasing power.

Merchants of Northeast Will Hold Outing Today

The annual excursion of the Northeast Business Men's Association will be held today at Seaside Park, Chesapeake Beach. Horseshoe pitching, freak races, swimming and a chicken dinner are on tthe program for the 150 excursionists.

The committee in charge includes W. M. Ward, John Pappas, R. M. McCullough, oseph Bailey, H. R. King, A. L. Seaton and John M. Beane.

Ulm Arrives in Burma On Flight to Australia

League Session Called In Gran Chaco Dispute

Geneva, June 26 (A.P.).—Francisco Castilla Najera, of Mexico, president of the League of Nations Council, today convoked that body for an extraordinary session July 3 to discuss the Gran Chaco border dispute between Bolivia and Paraguay.

Boy Drowns Swimming In Pit With Companions

John Edlin, 17, colored, 1842 Ninth street northwest, was drowned late yesterday while swimming with several other boys in an excavation pit at the Hudson Brick Yard at New York avenue and Bladensburg road northeast.

The body was recovered by the Fire Rescue Squad. Resuscitation efforts were unsuccessful. The youth was pronounced dead on arrival at Casualty Hospital.

REVIEW OF PENSIONS MAY START JULY 10

(Associated Press.)

The Veterans' Administration hopes to have the veterans boards of review set up by July 10 and will place upon the field managers the responsibility for pointing out to higher authorities any injustices or inequalities to veterans.

This was disclosed yesterday in a letter from Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, the veterans administrator, to senators.

The letter said the reviewing boards would be of five members, three to be appointed by the President, and that one or more boards would be established for each of the 60 regional offices of the Veterans' Administration.

Brief Account of Reasons.

Senators, governors and boards of trade or chambers of commerce in each State have been asked by Gen. Hines to submit the names of four or five men for membership on the boards along with "a very brief account of the reasons why they are peculiarly fitted for the work."

He asked in his letter that the names be submitted by July 2, adding that it was desired to establish the boards at the earliest practicable date and "not later than during the first 10 days in July."

These boards were provided for in the veterans' compromise law to review benefits paid veterans whose disabilities and ailments were presumed under the law of 1924 to have originated in service, including such diseases as tuberculosis and neuropsychiatric troubles.

Authority to Extend Time.

Under the economy law of March 20 virtually all these presumptive cases would have been removed from the pension rolls July 1, but the compromise provided they should stay on and receive 75 per cent of the payments they were getting March 20 until October 31 unless a board decided their cases earlier. Authority was given for the President to extend the time of cases pending for decision on October 13.

The three civilian members of the boards will work with two members from the Veterans' Administration. The civilian members will be paid $15 per day while serving, plus a $5 daily allowance for subsistence.

Instructions to the field offices for carrying out the compromise were issued last week by the central administration in Washington and were primarily technical administrative documents.

FIRST CODE HEARING WILL BE HELD TODAY

past associates to find his executives and had had a complete state organization throughout the country already selected when the protests from Capitol Hill got to the President's ears. The result is said to have been the appointment of Col. Donald Sawyer as temporary head of the work.

Battles Behind Scenes.

This is only one aspect of the battles which have been going on behind the scenes. The battles haven't been particularly bitter but rather have come about through the determination of the various officials to have it made clear just what responsibility is at their door.

Yesterday Gen. Johnson had all plans made to move his office down to the old Land Office Building. Later Secretary Roper said that it had been merely a question of office space and that adequate space had been found for Gen. Johnson's organization and he would stay in the Commerce Department Building.

Where their offices shall be, and how much space shall be allocated to this or that office is, of course, of no importance, but the significance lies in the fact that there has been a quarrel about office space which indicates disagreement about other things—a disagreement which is universally denied formally.

Mrs. Rumsey Named.

Leaders of the first industry to face the Nation with its so-called "new deal" were not entirely satisfied with the product of their deliberations and met again last night to go over it. There were several who felt the code did not meet the administration's ideal, but the majority ruled and the rule was to give no more than must be given.

Gen. Johnson swept his arm wide in a final gesture before the curtain rolled up on the first hearing, naming Mrs. Mary Rumsey, daughter of E. H. Harriman, as chairman of the committee which is supposed to safeguard the interests of the nondescript, forlorn and inarticulate consumer.

Other members of the committee include Frank Graham, president of the University of North Carolina; Mrs. Joseph J. Daniels, of Indianapolis, president of the Indiana League of Women Voters; Mrs. Belle Sherwin, Willoughby, Ohio; Prof. Frank Ogburn, of the University of Chicago.

Appointment of the consumers' representatives was the last thing Gen. Johnson did preliminary to the hearings on the textile code. There was some objection voiced to the personnel of the committee, but whatever criticism might have arisen did not have time to come to a head.

Meanwhile, labor and employers, capitalists and those socialistically inclined were preparing their ammunition for the hearing this morning.

SPECIAL NOTICES

PURSUANT TO THE PROVISIONS OF Article 8, section 1, of the by-laws of the company, a special meeting of the stockholders of the Capital Traction Company is called to be held at the office of the company at Thirty-sixth and M streets northwest, Washington, D. China's Cloudburst Death Toll Heavy

Hankow, China, June 26 (A.P.).—A cloudburst in eastern Kweichow Province has resulted in the destruction of the important city of Tungjen with a great loss of life, according to meager advices reaching here. The date of the disaster is not known, but it is believed to have occurred June 20.

Advices received here said that in addition to destroying Tungjen, drowning thousands of persons, a wall of water swept through the Mayan River valley, drowning an additional thousand and destroying scores of villages.

Dispatches said that the American Evangelical Mission Hospital at Tungjen, the headquarters of which are in Cleveland, Ohio, was partly destroyed, escaping obliteration because it is on high ground on the outskirts of the city.

Dry Chief Urges Followers to Vote

(Associated Press.)

F. Scott McBride, superintendent of the Antisaloon League, in a statement last night urged the heaviest possible voting in the coming repeal elections, asserting that "the drys seldom lose when a high percentage of the vote is cast."

The prohibition leader challenged statements by Jouett Shouse, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment. Shouse, he said, was "very much mistaken in two important respects in attempting to explain the small percentage of the total vote cast for repeal up to date." McBride continued:

"The Antisaloon League has never urged voters to stay away from the polls in any election of binding effect. Certainly no one on the dry side has ever urged the drys not to vote as Mr. Shouse is quoted in some newspapers as having declared."

DIXIE STATES RACING TO CUT COTTON CROP

Texas and Mississippi Vie to Be First in Quota to Raise Prices.

Atlanta, June 26 (A.P.).—A cotton reduction marathon was on in Dixie tonight and States raced to be the first to cut their acreage within the quota suggested by the Government.

A total of 10,000,000 acres, already red and white and green with the staple, must be retired and from Texas to Virginia, the planters are mapping plans to cut their crop down in an effort to keep the price up.

Texas says it will be the first to reach its quota. It's the greatest cotton State in the union. Mississippi, second to Texas in production, says it will be the first.

The initial step in the program—something new under the sun—is to get farmers to agree to retire 10,000,000 acres already planted. The Government will pay them cash or grant options on Government-owned cotton as an inducement to action.

J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture of Texas, said today he has found practically "every prominent, conservative leader to be pronouncedly and actively behind the plan." McDonald wired G. C. Adams, Georgia's commissioner of agriculture, that Texas would be first under the wire.

J. C. Holton, Mississippi's commissioner, said his state would be the first to attain its quota. Gov. Martin S. Conner of Mississippi issued a proclamation today urging farmers to "do their full part toward attainment of individual, community, State-wide and Nation-wide good by reducing the acreage."

Louisiana farmers left their plows to attend mass meetings in 50 cotton parishes (counties) as Administrator J. G. Lee said machinery had been perfected for bringing the plan individually to every grower in the State.

Educator Jailed in Strike

Prof. Lovett, University of Chicago Author, Cast Into Cell for Espousing Cause of Garment Workers; Says "It Was Cool."

Chicago, June 26 (A.P.).—Prof. Robert Morss Lovett, of the University of Chicago, author and lecturer, spent an hour in a jail cell today because he espoused the cause of 1,500 garment factory workers striking for higher pay and shorter working week.

The elderly professor, a member of the university faculty since 1893, was released under $25 bond on a disorderly conduct charge. A short time later it was announced the employers had offered to meet the workers' demands, at least in part.

The employes went on strike against wages that Prof. Lovett said were as low as $3 a week for 52 hours of work. Most of the workers were women, many of them Negroes.

Loyett said he went to the scene of the strike, the B. Sepkin & Son apron factory, on reports that "police were brutal to strikers who were exercising their constitutional rights by picketing the plant."

"On arriving at the factory," he recounted, "I found there were about 25 picketers and a fair-sized crowd of sympathizers. Suddenly the police began to push the crowds and order them to move on.

"I reminded the officers that the strikers had the mayor's permission to picket. I persisted in demanding their rights, and finally a police sergeant informed me I was under arrest."

Sergt. Rudolph Freemont said Lovett had shouted to the crowd: "Don't pay any attention to the police; you have a right to picket." Lovett denied it.

"It was my first ride in a patrol wagon," Lovett said, "and the cell in which they confined me was cool and comfortable."

Arrested with him was Thomas McKenna, secretary of the Chicago Civil Liberties Committee, and also an editor of the New Republic.

ACTIVITIES OF R.F.C. SHARPLY RESTRICTED

(Associated Press.)

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation last night withdrew from virtually all activities except those of banking and supplying money for other Federal offices.

The making of loans for self-liquidating properties designed to create employment was transferred at midnight to the new public buildings administration. The emergency relief activities of the corporation ended a month ago.

As a result of newly-enacted legislation the corporation reverts virtually to its original status as an agency for lending money to banks, insurance companies and other financial institutions and railroads.

The only duties left to it that were not included in the original law passed in January, 1932, are those of buying preferred stock in banks and insurance companies needing strengthening; disbursing $50,000,000 to drainage and irrigation districts in difficulty and acting as a bank for the Federal Relief Administration, the Farm Administration and the Home Loan Corporation. It also is to supply the capital of the Foreign Securities Holders Corporation.

Congress directed the corporation to supply the Federal Emergency Relief Administration with $500,000,000 to be given to the States for emergency relief work. None of this money will be repaid.

The Farm Administration must be supplied with $300,000,000 and the Home Loan Corporation $200,000,000 for its capital. In addition, an undetermined amount of money is to be furnished for the purchase of cotton. These latter funds may be repaid.

Loan for Planetarium.

Closing its work on self-liquidating loans, the Reconstruction Corporation yesterday authorized six loans, the largest of which was $650,000 to the American Museum of Natural History Planetarium Authority of New York.

Other loans included $98,000 for financing the construction of a central market building at Charlotte, N. C.; $60,000 for a dormitory at the Henderson State Teachers College, Arkadelphia, Ark.; $5,000 to Milliken, Colo., for a well in its water supply system; $75,000 to Tarentum, Pa., and revision of a previous loan to the Louisiana State University at Baton Rouge.

U. S. BEER REVENUE HELD DISAPPOINTING

(Associated Press.)

The American Business Men's Prohibition Foundation in a statement yesterday said Federal revenue from 3.2 beer "is sharply disappointing to the brewers and their political backers."

From April 7, to the end of that month, beer taxes yielded $9,138,863 and the May figure was $11,536,126

"This represents an average daily decrease in beer revenue for May as compared to April of $8,658 and if this decline should continue, even at the same rate, the total revenue for the first 12 months of relegalized beer would fall short of $136,000,000.

"As an offset to this comparatively small total when contrasted with the billion dollar revenue claims of beer spokesmen in the last Congress, there should be taken into consideration the fact that even so small an amount of revenue reveals a beer consumption of over 2,225,000 barrels of beer for April and May.

"This at the rate of 496 half-pint steins per barrel is equivalent to 1,103,600,000 glasses of beer, which at a dime a glass would net the beer makers $110,360,000 as the gross receipts of their first 55 days of 'legal' beer.

"This represents simply more than $110,000,000 taken out of the people's pockets and diverted from legitimate industry, necessities and wholesome luxuries to the beer trade."

BOMB IN ST. PETER'S IS BLAMED ON SPAIN

National of That Country Is Arrested for Outrage in Great Edifice.

Vatican City, June 26 (A.P.).—Strained relations between Spain and the Vatican were blamed today by authorities for yesterday's bomb explosion in the portico of St. Peter's, mother church of the Roman Catholic world.

A Spaniard, Demetrio Solamon, who arrived in Rome from his own country only a few hours before the bombing occurred, was arrested and charged with planting the explosive.

Police said Solamon stood in the center of St. Peter's Square and watched the explosion, which caused a panic among holy year pilgrims and injured four persons, and then ran away with a Fascist officer in pursuit.

Solamon escaped his pursuer, but made the mistake of throwing his passport in a fountain near the piazza, police related, which the officer recovered. The passport carried a photograph of the bearer, and after a search of hotels Solamon was arrested early today.

Authorities expressed the belief that his action was inspired by the Pope's encyclican of June 3 and the latae setentiae excommunications of members of the Spanish government. This followed the invoking of the revolutionary religious laws in Spain, nationalizing church property and turning all religious orders into civil societies.

The Spanish Embassy and the Vatican were notified immediately of Solamon's arrest. It was not divulged whether the prisoner made any statement. Under terms of the Lateran treaty, he will be tried in Italy.

Reich Protestants Told to Stand Firm

Berlin, June 26 (A.P.).—The Rev. Friedrich von Bodelschwingh, elected a month ago to the post of Reichsbishop by German Protestant church groups, urged his followers tonight to stand firm in the face of what he termed persecution and political pressure.

In behalf of conservative Protestantism, he wrote a pastoral letter calling on his followers to trust in God's wisdom to guide the church through the turbulent times.

Dramatically and secretly passed along by couriers, the Bodelschwingh appeal paralleled that of the church general superintendent's letters in which the officers urged nation-wide attendance on July 2 at repentant prayer services. Fear was expressed in church circles that clashes will occur should the services be held. The Von Bodelschwingh letter refuted the previous report that he had resigned as Reichbishop and said "the commission which I received from God's hand has not been voided.

Philatelists Bewailing Closing of Office Here

The economy ax has struck again. Another great Government office will be abolished. Along with such organizations as the National Screw Thread Commission, the philatelic office of the Bureau of Insular Affairs will be discontinued. Stamp collectors throughout the country are bewailing the loss of this service. It is rumored they will present a petition to President Roosevelt.

Policeman Is Indicted With Five in Hijacking

Chicago, June 26 (A.P.).—Six men, including a Chicago policeman, were indicted by a Federal grand jury today charged with hijacking a truck load of merchandise worth $13,000. A conspiracy indictment also was returned.

The merchandise was shipped from Columbus, Ohio, last March on a truck of the Universal Car Loading and Distributing Co. The goods were found later in a South Side garage here.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS ADVOCATE REPEAL

Wet Resolution Unanimously Adopted by D. C. Unit of National Clubs.

A resolution advocating repeal of the eighteenth amendment and pledging the organization to work for repeal was adopted unanimously last night by the District of Columbia division, Young Democratic Clubs of America, at its monthly meeting at the Hotel Mayflower.

It was said that such a resolution had not been adopted before, supporting the party's platform, because of dry sentiment among some of the former officers of the club.

Ambrose O'Connell, special assistant to the Postmaster General, the principal speaker of the evening, related the chief accomplishments of the Roosevelt administration up to the present time. He was introduced by Homer Tatum, acting president.

He closed his speech with a eulogy of his superior, Postmaster General Farley, praising him for his ability both as an administrator and politician.

Miss Helen Griffin, chairman of the social committee, announced plans for a moonlight boat ride July 7, on the City of Washington.

Coll's Widow Held In Slaying of Girl

New York, June 26 (A.P.).—Lottie Coll, widow of the slain gangster, Vincent Coll, was ordered held on a first-degree murder charge tonight in connection with the slaying last Wednesday of a 22-year-old Bronx girl. Two men held with Mrs. Coll since last Friday, when they were arrested in a midtown hotel on a charge of unlawful possession of firearms, also were ordered arrested for murder.

The order was issued by District Attorney Samuel Foley, of the Bronx, after one of Mrs. Coll's companions, Joseph Ventre, allegedly confessed that the Bronx girl, Molly Schwartz, was struck by a bullet intended for a jewelry salesman.

Ventre was quoted by Foley as saying Thomas Pace, Mrs. Coll's other companion, fired three shots at the salesman when he fled from an attempted holdup.

THE FEDERAL DIARY

By George D. Riley

THROUGH all this determination to separate men and women from Government service looms entire lack of human consideration. From the outset, when it became evident the administration intended to "shake buildings from top to bottom" to the time when Congress and the President planned to be away from the city while the upheaval was at its height, the human equation has been absent.

Reorganization was to have been effected by July 1. Now many are to remain on anxious seats another two weeks, until July 15. Departments are adopting their own individual methods of meeting their pared budgets for the new fiscal year.

Two things have been definitely planned. First, the administration has determined to be done with married women in Government. Second, 30-year employes have no elective in the matter of leaving the service.

And the big hitch in the married woman clause is that, having resigned her position, there still is no assurance that her mate can keep his job. The husband may easily be located in a bureau slated for the national economy ax. Then both are out and another family loses a breadwinner.

FEDERAL employes as a whole slept on their right to lobby. Meanwhile, economy-in-government forces started early. They had a two-years jump on Federal workers. They hammered through usual channels when it became obvious that economy would be the battle cry.

The Federal Diary notes with interest announcement of a stiffening among certain Federal workers' organizations with slogans like these: "Get Socked or Organize," "Help Yourself," "What Are You Doing to Get Back Your Lost Pay?"

These phrases are all very good. Let's hope they avail even at this late hour.

In September in Kansas City a national convention of Federal workers will meet. If there ever was a time when this convention should be in Washington this is the year. Press services take greater cognizance of happenings in the National Capital. Conventions here are under the eyes and near the ears of the national legislature. That is ample reason for such meeting here.

The sad part of the recent salary paring of Federal employes is that protesting hands were conspicuously few. Those who stood to reap the greatest benefit from a lobby on the Hill were absent. Congress heard no protest. The President heard no protest. Without friends at court, it followed that Federal employes must take what was handed them.

THE dying days of the special session showed what determination can do. The President was forced to compromise on his drastic veterans' compensation stand. As a result, $97,000,000 went back into the expenditures.

Several merchants last week blazed the way toward voicing the truths sorely in need of expression, thus aiding in molding thought in line with temperate action toward those who work in Government service. The administration tells the Nation we are over the hump and are on the recovery boulevard after devious detours. Thus, we can repeat the words of Gen. Hugh Johnson when he says the employe wants to know "where do I find work and when do I go back on the pay roll?"

It is time still for Federal workers to make common cause. Whatever names their organizations may bear, they stand, after all, for one thing—the common good. Remember, Kentucky's great seal, "United We Stand, Divided We Fall."

YESTERDAY the Federal Diary presented the first installment of the annual report, National Civil Service Reform League. Here is the second:

"It has been useless to appeal to Congress to eliminate from important legislation ill-advised riders for such exceptions, although various members have made their protests against the more brazen exemptions. It has become the habit of Congress whenever new boards, bureaus or commissions are created to provide for exemptions from the Civil Service act. The record of the development of the competitive system in the Federal Government indicates plainly that far more has been accomplished toward such extension through the executive branch than through Congress. In the past when Congress has made special exceptions from examinations to fill public places, it has often been necessary for the executive branches concerned to appeal to the Civil Service Commission for aid in recruiting competent subordinates.

"Following the precedent set by Presidents Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson, we earnestly urge President Franklin D. Roosevelt to request the administrative heads of the various agencies and bureaus established under the emergency legislation to ignore the exceptions made by act of Congress in the various recovery measures, and to seek the cooperation of the Civil Service Commission in the selection of their staffs. Only in this will it be possible for the heads of these agencies to be relieved of the back-breaking burden of acting as political referees for the determination of the distribution of spoils. It would be tragic if the recovery program were to be wholly defeated or impeded by the clamor for spoils of office."

THE burdened taxpayers can not afford the luxury of privileged political job-holders. Let us have a dollar's worth of work for every dollar expended. New employments should be made for merit and fitness, and public officials now on the Government pay rolls because of political reward, and who give little or no service, should be weeded out.

"The President, even if he had desired, may have been unable to prevent the enactment of the emergency measures without the exemption clauses in them. However, he has an obligation to the country in the face of the economic crisis to see to it that the appointments made to the subordinate staffs of each and every one of the emergency bureaus shall be of the best possible qualified persons.

"During the half-century since the adoption of the Civil Service law in 1883, the public service has grown tremendously through the many increasing functions undertaken by our various governments. The Civil Service throughout the country represents an army of more than 3,000,000 persons, and calls for an annual expenditure of over $4,000,000,000. One in every 40 persons draws pay from the Federal, State or municipal governments. This huge public pay roll represents about one-fifth of the total annual budgets for all governmental activities.

"Yours is the first name I heard when I came to Washington," says a young woman from Richmond who has just joined The Washington Post staff. "I never knew till I came here that there was any other side to all this government reorganization. All we have heard down there is that economy demands Government workers be cut."

We must write at length on this theme. Perhaps later.

THE case of Evelyn Briggs Baldwin, dismissed Navy Department employe and famous polar explorer, inventor and scientist, is "such an unimportant matter," if we accept the view aired at the White House. Capt. Baldwin is the man, you will recall, who has been lopped from Navy rolls without ado and left to shift at 71 on charity.

The White House view is a bit at variance with views of these men and women who know Capt. Baldwin and his cause:

United States Senators Bronson Cutting, Millard E. Tydings, Royal S. Copeland, Bennett Champ Clark, Arthur Capper, Robert M. La Follette, Hubert Stephens, Pat Harrison, James Couzens, Harry Flood Byrd and David I. Walsh, Representatives W. A. Romjue, W. M. Colmer and Thomas O'Malley, Judges Luther A. Smith and W. R. Toombs, both of Mississippi, H. Alban Anderson, vice president, Westchester County National Bank, Peekskill, N. Y.; Sanford G. Donaldson, Yankton, S. Dak.; Capt. John H. Cowles, grand commander, Scottish Rite, Washington; J. W. Crabtree, secretary, N. E. A., Washington; Gen. A. W. Greeley, Washington; Gen. D. L. Brainerd, Washington; Dr. James H. Breasted, director, Oriental Institute, University of Chicago; E. W. Fox, lawyer, New York; Admiral Richard E. Byrd, William Allen White, Emporia, Kans.; Mrs. Harriet Chalmers Adams, honorary president, Woman's Geographical Society, Washington; Frank Steele, secretary, S. A. R., Washington; Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, past president general, D. A. R., Milford, Ohio; Mrs. William W. Badgley, president, D. C. League of Pen Women of America, Washington; W. S. McCrea, Spokane; H. L. Alden, Long Beach, Calif.; Walter Kruckman, Long Beach; Floyd S. Nix, Los Angeles; Andrew Davison Agnew, Milwaukee, and others whose names will be listed soon.

These men and women form the start of committees in their respective sections to champion the cause of Capt. Baldwin.

"I am greatly in sympathy with Capt. Baldwin," writes Admiral Byrd. "He certainly deserves reward for his many years' service and splendid achievements for the country. I'm going to take this up immediately." This is the generous tribute from a fellow explorer.

The Archives Building under construction here is the product of Capt. Baldwin's tireless work to preserve the Nation's priceless records. Yet, when the cornerstone was unveiled, Capt. Baldwin labored at his desk. Others' names are on the cornerstone which will provide a monument to Capt. Baldwin.

But while monuments are being built, the question is asked: "On what will Capt. Baldwin subsist?"

POSTMASTER GENERAL FARLEY is reminded by Thomas F. Dolan, president, U. N., A. P. O. C., that "postal employes have been under the impression, or at least had hoped that they would not be penalized beyond the prevailing 15 per cent wage reduction," and that they "felt that a smaller and perhaps no reduction would prevail after July 1." Mr. Dolan says anticipated effects of the recovery bill, increased postal receipts, increased revenue and absorption of labor slack seem to justify this sentiment. "Further wage reductions do not appear to be conducive to confidence, particularly when inaugurated by the Government itself.

"If the 15 per cent reduction is to operate in conjunction with the imposition of the nine-day furloughs, it will very obviously inflict a combined reduction in pay of 25 per cent; surely a backward and dispiriting step and in the wrong direction—backward and not forward.

"In the absence of any definite information as to what, if any, flat wage reduction will be operative after July 1, the personnel is quite naturally disturbed and the morale upset."

AT 4:15 p. m. yesterday, in a ceremony made imposing by its very simplicity, the entire force of the Patent Office gathered in the spacious search rooms to say good-by to the departing Commissioner of Patents, Thomas E. Robertson, and to receive the greetings of the new commissioner, Conway P. Coe. Mr. Shaefer, Division 44, chairman of the committee especially created by the Patent Office Society for the occasion, presided.

In his brief address he outlined progress made in the Patent Office during the incumbency of the outgoing commissioner and in behalf of employes of the Patent Office greeted the incoming commissioner. Mr. Robertson and Mr. Coe spoke in that order in praise of each other, the latter also greeting employes of the Patent Office.

At conclusion of his speech Mr. Coe, in behalf of the employes of the Patent Office, presented Mr. Robertson with an autograph book containing the names of the Patent Office personnel and a gold watch as tokens of their appreciation of his services. Charles L. Sturtevant, president of the Patent Bar Association, was the last one to speak. In behalf of his association he presented Mr. Robertson with a picture of the Patent Office Building and a bouquet, and concluded his speech with a greeting for the new commissioner.

PERILOUS JUNE.

June is here and in the trees the birdies chirp with pep and while you listen to their songs you'd better watch your step! For now, whatever path you choose on which to take your walk, perchance you'll crush some posey down by stepping on its stalk.

The earnest gardener, when aroused, is quite a fearful sight, if you have trod upon some plant that he's nursed day and night. Although you make apologies in tones so low and meek, and he accepts them, still you'd better dodge him for a week!

NEW HOTEL HEAD

ARTHUR J. HARNETT.

For any man who's labored hard at raising tender plants and seated 'neath the flaming sun, annoyed by flies and ants, is very apt to lose his head, the same as any loon, and smite you in his rising wrath, although the month is June!—Walter A. Harnett to Manage Hotel Powhatan

Arthur J. Harnett, president of the Hotel Association of Washington, will assume the managership of the Powhatan Hotel, Eighteenth and Pennsylvania avenue, August 1, it was learned yesterday.

Many improvements will be made to the hotel and efforts will be expanded to bring it to the most modern standards, it was said.

Mr. Harnett has managed both the Ambassador and the Mayflower Hotels and before coming to Washington, he was director of the Park Central Hotel in New York. He is a member of the Board of Trade, Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis Club and other organizations here.

Orphans to Profit By Fat Reducing

Chicago, June 26 (A.P.).—Ogden Johnson, 320 pounds, 6 feet 3 inches tall, 52 inches around the waist, and wearer of size 12½ shoes, has set out to lose 100 pounds in five months.

Whether he does it or not, a group of Chicago orphans will have a $500 outing from his efforts. H. M. McCarger wagered that amount that he could do so today against Porter F. Leach, the loser to provide the outing.

Johnson will be allowed to drink 3.2 beer and eat white bread in moderation, his trainer said, but the weight will come off at 20 pounds a month.

MOLEY TO CONFER IN LONDON TONIGHT

By Harold J. T. Horan.

The London Conference is expected to take a new trend with the arrival there today of Assistant Secretary of State Raymond Moley. Dr. Moley will reach Ireland this morning, but will leave for London by plane immediately and will hold his first conference with the American delegation tonight. . .

The President's closest advisor held a lengthy talk with his chief off Nantucket before Dr. Moley's departure last week, and in the space of those few hours the President is understood to have given Dr. Moley certain definite instructions which will go far toward clarifying the American position and conciliating the points of friction that have cropped up.

Prof. Moley will have with him the memorandum which was prepared by Bernard M. Baruch, at his suggestion, for the American delegation and which emphasizes certain concrete factors which should play an increasingly important role from now on in the discussions between the delegates. The details of the Baruch memorandum were not made public here, but it is believed they are, in essence, the economic principles by which he is generally known.

Points to Be Emphasized.

Mr. Baruch, who has been known as an economic statesman even before that term became popular, is a believer in the inherent strength of the American industrial and economic world. The new directives which the American delegation will follow from now on will emphasize the following points in addition to their general instructions:

First, the chief element of economic weakness in every country is their budgetary histories and public works programs.

Second, the main concern of the American delegation, at least, should be directed to an improvement of economic conditions here in the United States.

Third, the project for monetary stabilization is a detail in the sweeping program of industrial recovery which hangs on the industrial recovery act and its successful operation, the agricultural administration and the public works program.

Moley as Coordinator.

The Baruch program was designed to supplement the other instructions which were given the delegates before their actual encounter with the difficulties of the London meeting. As the conversations between the delegation at the Geological Museum increased the importance of certain phases of the American program, the memorandum of Mr. Baruch was devised to meet this new and aggressively nationalistic program.

The entire industrial and agricultural future of the United States will slowly undergo a change, resulting in the intensified development of American doorstep markets, in preference to the costly and uncertain advantages to be derived from foreign trade, under this new program. The arrival of Prof. Moley will also assist in the coordination of the American delegation, which has several times been dangerously near to open contradiction.

Accompanied by Sister.

The President, it is believed, in his last-minute talk with his chief adviser, brought out a formula for reconciling the divergent views of Secretary Hull and Dr. Moley. Dr. Moley belongs to the Baruch school of economic thought. He is inclined to deprecate the importance of tariff reductions in economic improvement, which is the basic thought and purpose of Secretary Hull. This divergence of view has resulted in an undercurrent of uneasiness throughout the entire delegation, which spoken utterances of various mmbers of the delegation have tended to accentuate.

The Assistant Secretary of State will remain in London for a week or ten days and is expected to be ready to return here after July 4. Dr. Moley is accompanied by his sister. They plan to fly over to Paris for a day and also to pay a visit to the Minister of the Irish Free State here, Michael MacWhite, who is expected to be in Dublin by that time.

Figures Adduced to Prove House Didn't Waste Time

Smith, of Washington State, Goes Through 5,000 Pages of Record to Show Economy of Debate Was Rule in Session.

The old complaint that Congress wastes time in pointless debate was demolished by the House in the 100-days emergency session which ended ten days ago, and Representative Martin F. Smith, a Democrat from Washington State, has made certain that the facts in the case shall be preserved for history.

Poring laboriously over more than 5,000 pages of the Congressional Record, Representative Smith computed the actual time spent by the House in debating the 12 major bills of the administration program.

The total for the entire session was only 40 hours and 40 minutes. Allowing an estimated total of 19 hours more for debate on secondary bills, Representative Smith computes the total House debate on the essential business of the session at 60 hours. This he characterizes as "an exceptional and unprecedented record."

The industrial recovery act and the Muscle Shoals bill were debated six hours each, the maximum time allotted any legislation in the House. The agricultural bill was passed after five and one-half hours' discussion, and the securities bill was debated five hours. Beer, reforestation, railroad control and unemployment exchanges were accorded three hours each. Economy and emergency relief were passed with only two hours, and home loans with only an hour and a half. The emergency banking bill of March 9 was whipped through under a rule limiting debate to 40 minutes.

Representative Smith placed his compilation in the possession appendix of the Congressional Record with the observation that the House consumed less time in general debate "than any other Congress in the 150 years of our national history."

"It is probably the most remarkable record of expeditious action ever made by any law-making body in the history of the world," he said.

Had it been possible to handle the major bills in uninterrupted succession, according to Representative Smith's compilation, the entire emergency program might have been passed in the House in ten legislative days of six hours each.

BORAH RECOVERING AFTER OPERATION

Idaho Senator Will Remain in Johns Hopkins Hospital About Three Weeks.

Baltimore, June 26 (A.P.).—The fiery senator from Idaho, William E. Borah, underwent an operation at the Johns Hopkins Hospital here today and was reported to be recovering nicely.

"We couldn't ask for a more successful case," said an aid to Dr. Hugh H. Young, the noted urologist, who performed the operation. "It is like a textbook case."

Mrs. Borah, wife of the senator, who was in the hospital during the operation, said her husband had been "resting quite comfortably" and apparently was not in great pain.

At Dr. Young's office it was said the senator probably will have to remain in the hospital for two and a half or three weeks.

Senator Borah came to Baltimore Saturday from Washington for what was described as his annual physical examination. The decision to operate was made after his arrival.

Mrs. Borah was with him Saturday, but returned to Washington over the week-end, making the trip back to Baltimore early today to be with her husband.

The operation was performed before its scheduled time, and Mrs. Borah did not know it had been started until it was completed. She said the physicians "put one over" on her.

Mrs. Borah, who plans to remain in Baltimore for several days, said the senator's condition was greatly improved after he had several hours' sleep.

When she first saw him this morning soon after completion of the operation, she said, he appeared to be in great pain, but this afternoon did not appear to be suffering. The operation was on the prostate gland.

MOSCOW PROTESTS JAPANESE LANDING

Naval Party Is Alleged to Have Sought Slayers of Fishermen.

Moscow, June 26 (A.P.).—G. I. Sokolnikov, vice commissar for foreign affairs, today protested vigorously to Tamekichi Ota, Japanese Ambassador, against the alleged action of the Japanese torpedo boat Tatzikaze entering Soviet waters and sending a landing party ashore to investigate the reported slaying of three Japanese fishermen.

The incident was alleged to have occurred in the region of Cape Kronotski, Kamchatka Peninsula.

The vice commissar declared that the war vessel landed sailors despite the Soviet government's refusal five days earlier to entertain the Japanese government's request that the Tatzikaze be allowed to proceed there with the Japanese consul at Petropavlovsk in order to investigate the matter.

Moreover, it was asserted that the Soviet government so far was without confirmation of the fact that such an incident actually occurred, although it has instructed Kamchatka authorities to make full inquiries and punish those responsible.

The protest declared: "The Soviet government can not fail to express utter surprise at the fact that the head of the European-Asiatic department of the Tokyo Foreign Office denied June 20 to the counselor of the Soviet Embassy in Tokyo that the ship actually had touched Soviet waters."

Mounties Get Man By Wire to Dallas

Dallas, Tex., June 26 (A.P.).—The Royal Canadian Mounted Police got their man this time by telegraphing Dallas police.

Thirty minutes after receipt of the request from Toronto to be on the lookout for Joseph L. Dugas, two detectives made the arrest. Canadian authorities advised that Dugas was wanted on charges of absconding with $16,000.

The prisoner waived extradition and said he could clear up the case with about $4,000. Dugas said he had operated a collection agency and had done business for many of the most important firms in Canada. Police here were notified that officers were on the way from Toronto to return Dugas.

BUDGET TO BALANCE, LEADER BYRNS SAYS

Democrat Answers Charges of Snell on Special Session's Results.

(Associated Press.)

Representative Byrns, of Tennessee, the Democratic leader, said in a formal statement last night that as a result of governmental economies and additional revenue that had been provided for "it will be found that the budget will be substantially balanced during the next fiscal year."

The statement was issued in response to that of Representative Snell, of New York, the Republican leader. Byrns said "Mr. Snell declares that the budget is 'more out of balance than at any time in the history of the United States with the single exception of one year during the World War.'"

Byrns enumerated the sums set aside for the agricultural adjustment plan, the farm credit activities, the home owners loan work, the Federal employment system and bank deposit insurance and said that apparently the Republican leader disapproved of these activities.

The Tennessean said the chief source of Snell's complaint appeared to be the national recovery act with its appropriation of $3,300,000,000. Byrns added that this was to be financed by a bond issue, the amortization of which already was taken care of by new taxes.

"It is quite true that the $400,000,000 to be allocated for public highway construction and the $247,000,000 for new naval construction and $50,000,000 for work in reclamation, irrigation and drainage projects will have to be paid eventually by the taxpayers," Byrns said, "but it is equally true that all these projects are calculated to restore large numbers of persons to employment and in turn provide revenue to meet the charges.

"Now the plain facts are that the actual cost of Government as a result of the activities of the special session of Congress have been reduced approximately $1,000,000,000. The 1934 budget will be substantially balanced. Mortgaged farms and farm homes and city and town residences have been protected against foreclosure.

"Agriculture and industry are in process of revival; bank deposits have been given a limited guarantee and banking generally has been put on a sounder and more secure basis.

"Could a more inopportune time be chosen for such a display of partisanship than the present, when the entire country, financially, industrially, agriculturally and in all material aspects, is on the upgrade for the first time since the Hoover panic of 1929?"

Raids of Deer Annoy Sequoia Forest Camp

"Timid as a deer" may be a good simile, but the reforestation workers in a Sequoia National Forest camp wouldn't agree to it. Deer, to them, are a menace.

It started one day several weeks ago when a truckload of hay arrived to fill the workers' matresses. The hay was stacked outside, but by morning the ravages of a herd of deer had left hardly enough to stuff pillows all around. Then, a few days later, the workers awoke to find a doe polishing off the last of a suit of underwear, hung outside to dry. While a buck, scampering up the hillside, was munching merrily on the remains of a Government issue sock.

Soldier Who Shot Killer Will Get Army Medal

Peter Hardley, colored Army corporal at Fort Huachuca, Ariz., who killed a crazed soldier, who had just murdered two officers and their wives, will receive the soldier's medal for bravery, it was announced yesterday at the War Department.

Hardley shot the killer last December 29, just as he was in the act of attacking his fifth victim, another officer. The soldier is a member of Company L, Twenty-fifth Infantry. His home is in Camden, Ala.

U. S. ISSUES STRICT RULES ON AID FUND

Money Lent to States Must Be Distributed by Public Welfare Agencies.

All Federal unemployment relief money must be distributed by public agencies after August 1, Harry L. Hopkins, emergency relief administrator, warned State welfare officials yesterday.

This means that private agencies and charities now distributing the money loaned to States must be taken over by the States by this date. No Federal funds can be distributed by a private agency. The unemployed must apply to a public agency for relief.

"Hundreds of private agencies," Mr. Hopkins said, "have freely and generously offered their services in the administration of public funds. It would be a serious handicap to relief work if the abilities and interests of these individuals were lost. But these individuals should be made public officials, working under the control of public authority. Thousands of these workers are serving and will continue to serve, without pay, but if paid they should be compensated in the same manner as any other public servant."

The Emergency Relief Administration has also ruled that Federal funds may be used to pay for medical attendance and supplies, but not for the payment of hospital bills or for boarding out children. Federal funds may be used to pay rent for needy unemployed, but not to pay for maintaining them in an institution. Neither can Federal money be used to pay accident insurance premiums for persons employed on public works financed by Federal funds. These workers are employes of the State or local authority, and the premiums must be paid from State or local funds.

My husband introduced me to Luckies

He had no objection to my brand of cigarettes. But, one day he asked me to try his. Well, I did—and I've been saying "Luckies Please" ever since. And it's not merely because Luckies taste fine and are ever so mild. Let me tell you the real reason. My cigarette is a personal, intimate thing with me. After all, it touches my lips—and I do take pride in my sense of daintiness. Naturally, "Toasting" means to me even more than it does to a man—for purity is something very precious to a fastidious woman.

TRANSFERS WOULD HELP.

Hope that the various departments and independent agencies of the Government would adopt a uniform policy in the reduction of personnel seems to be no longer tenable. Some of the departments are dismissing employes outright. Others are adopting the five-day week, and still others are arranging for extended furloughs to spread available funds among all members of their staffs.

Unfair as this disparity seems, it may be essential for the various departments to work out their own problems with the least possible impairment of efficiency. It is reasonable to expect, however, that the number of working hours per week will be shortened and furloughs will be ordered wherever practicable to avoid the dismissal of competent employes. In the field of industry the Government is making extensive efforts to spread available employment among a larger number of workers. Surely the principle involved can be applied with equal force to the Federal service.

Still more effective action toward mitigating the results of the economy program could be taken by the directors of the vast new organizations that are being set up to administer the national recovery, public works and farm relief acts. While thousands of Federal employes with civil service status are being retired, other thousands are being hired by these governmental agencies. Many of these Federal employes are specially trained in the type of work that the new agencies will require. Congress did not provide for the transfer of civil service workers to the new units, but this doesn't prevent the practical accomplishment of that purpose if the administration is disposed to give trained civil service workers preference over inexperienced political appointees.

A word from President Roosevelt would pave the way for the transfer of hundreds of men and women now doing satisfactory work for the Government to the new administrative organizations.

ACCIDENTAL DEATHS.

The National Safety Council furnishes annually an extremely interesting report and analysis of accidents in the United States. Its report for 1932 reveals several important and encouraging facts, notably the decrease in the number of fatal accidents in the United States, and a decrease in fatal automobile accidents.

The number of accidental deaths in the United States last year was 88,000, as compared with 97,415 in 1931 and 99,300 in 1930, the all-time maximum. Automobile accidents caused the largest number of deaths, as usual, but the number of automobile fatalities was reduced almost 4,000, being 29,500 in 1932, 33,675 in 1931, 32,929 in 1930, 31,215 in 1929, and 27,996 in 1928. Last year, for the first time, there was a drop in the record of automobile fatalities.

Aside from automobiles, the chief causes of death by accident were home accidents 28,000, public fatalities (not including motor vehicles) 18,000, and occupational accidents 15,000. About 2,500 occupational fatalities also involved a motor vehicle, and elimination of this duplication brings the total down to 88,000.

In about 4½ per cent of automobile fatalities the driver had been drinking. Less than 1 per cent of fatal accidents were attributable to faulty eyesight or other physical defects. About 95 per cent of the drivers had no apparent physical or mental defect of such character as to cause accidents. Most of the fatalities in cities occurred at speeds between 20 and 29 miles per hour. The speed factor in accidents, however, can not be ignored, in the opinion of the council. About 6 per cent of fatalities in a certain motor car group resulted from skidding. In 14 per cent the drivers ran off the road. Four times as many male as female drivers were involved in accidents, but the total number of male and female drivers is not reported. Young drivers under 20 led in the proportion of fatalities, and the next dangerous age was 20 to 29 years. Nine out of each 100 drivers with less than three months' experience have an accident, but after three months the proportion of accidents drops to 2 in 100. More drunken pedestrians than drunken drivers are killed in motor accidents. The danger hours for both motorists and pedestrians are from 6 to 9 in the evening, and August registers the greatest number of accidents on the road. About 80 per cent of automobile accidents occurred in clear weather and on dry roads.

Occupational deaths dropped to 15,000 last year, from 17,500 in 1931, 19,000 in 1930 and 20,000 in 1929. There were about 1,200,000 non-fatal accidents in occupations. In a large number of industries the accident frequency rate has dropped 61 per cent since 1926, and the severity rate 35.3 per cent. The worst records are in lumbering, mining and construction industries.

Home accidents caused 28,000 deaths in 1932, and there were about 4,195,000 non-fatal injuries. The chief causes of home accidents are falls, burns, scalds and explosions. About 34 per cent of home fatalities occurred in the kitchen.

For the first four months of 1933 the fatal accident rate is 12 per cent under last year, indicating a reduction of 3,000 deaths already.

THE 1934 BUDGETS.

As the end of the fiscal year approaches, taxpayers who must ultimately meet the obligations of the Government find interest in a glimpse at the status of the Treasury. A deficit of about $1,750,000,000 will be recorded for the fiscal year 1933 when the books are closed next Friday. For the last three years expenditures, swelled to abnormal proportions by public works and relief funds, have exceeded the diminishing revenues. A total of $5,650,076,149 has been added to the public debt in this period.

The public is somewhat familiar with this record. At present there is more interest in the prospective status of the Treasury during the new fiscal year which opens this week. Expenditures for 1934 can be only tentatively estimated because of President Roosevelt's efforts to save $900,000,000 in the ordinary expenses of the Government and because the outlay for public works is subject to the discretion of the President. Nevertheless, indications are that the actual deficit for 1934 will be much larger than for the past year.

Expenditures of the Government for the coming year are involved in confusion because of the peculiar method of bookkeeping adopted by the Treasury. The budget proper will include only the ordinary expenses of the Government. An emergency budget has been created to include what are considered extraordinary outlays and various other non-recurring items. These expenditures will not be reflected in the regular budget, but will nevertheless be represented by increases in the public debt.

The 1934 budget outlined by the Hoover administration estimated expenditures at $3,974,794,200. It is reported that the Roosevelt administration plans to reduce this amount by $900,000,000 through reduction of allowances to veterans, salary cuts and savings in the departmental budgets by curtailment of various activities. If all these reductions are effected, the Treasury will need an increase of about $500,000,000 in revenue next year to balance its ordinary budget, exclusive of debt retirement.

When the extraordinary budget is brought into the picture, a quite different view is obtained. The extra session of Congress which recently adjourned appropriated $4,373,252,624, in spite of the fact that most of the regular appropriation bills for 1934 had been enacted by the previous session. How much of this tremendous sum will be expended next year depends upon the policy to be adopted by the administration with regard to public works and reconstruction activities.

Foremost among the items outside of the ordinary budget is the $3,300,000,000 public works fund. Congress has levied special taxes with a view to amortizing the bonds that will be issued to finance this program, and actual payment of the debt thus incurred will be spread over a considerable period of years. Heretofore, items of this kind have been included in the regular budget and have been paid out of current revenue or represented in budgetary deficits.

A number of other items seem to find no place in the ordinary budget. These include $150,000,000 as the Treasury's contribution to the bank deposits insurance fund; $100,000,000 for administration of the farm relief act; $50,000,000 for stock in the Home Owners Loan Corporation; $50,000,000 for the Federal Land Banks; $15,000,000 for reduction of interest on farm mortgages, and $40,000,000 for an agricultural revolving fund.

Expenditures of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation are also outside of the ordinary budget. The practice of distinguishing between outlays by the R. F. C. and regular expenditures of the Government was justified so long as the relief agency was merely lending money and taking collateral to guarantee repayment. But the last Congress compelled the R. F. C. to make available $500,000,000 to the States for relief purposes. It is extremely difficult to regard such an outlay as a capital investment.

The one certainty in the financial situation of the Government for 1934 appears to be a huge deficit, probably larger than any which has occurred since the depression began. Whether this deficit is put into a class by itself, or is allowed to appear plainly in the Federal budget, is incidental. Enormous expenditures are contemplated for the next year, with little regard for the immediate prospects of increasing revenue. Indications are that the national debt will be not for short of its peak just after the war when the fiscal year 1934 closes.

SHIFTING BALKAN RACES.

The offer by the Turkish government of free homes in Anatolia has brought back to the land of their origin Turkish families whose ancestors lived for centuries in Roumania. New Dobrudja, the territory they are leaving, was at one time a part of the Turkish empire. Later it was taken over by Bulgaria, and today is a section of Roumania. It is not without regret that the Roumanian government is watching the exodus, for the Turks have proved good settlers. During the frequent conflicts between the Bulgarians and Roumanians, the Turkish farmers of the section have taken no part in the quarrels, usually retaining the friendship and respect of both sides.

After the great Turkish victories of 1922, Greece offered her nationals of Asia Minor shelter in their homeland. The Greeks returned in great numbers and began crowding out many Macedonians of Roumanian origin. Whereupon, Roumania offered free homes to these in New Dobrudja. They returned to crowd the Turks' pastures in this section. Now the Turks are going back to Asia Minor. They will make room for more colonists from Greece, where thousands of Macedonians of Roumanian origin live, but are anxious to return to this fertile district between the Danube and the Black Sea.

Though the Turkish colonists of the section enjoyed full liberties and apparently were contented, it is believed that the continued conflict between the colonists and the frontier raiders, who often invaded their property, made them glad to accept the offer of the Turkish government, which gave them a home in the land of their ancestors. The wilderness in which the raiders live is being slowly cleared away and settled by colonists, as the Roumanian government progresses with this work it is believed the hiding places of the raiders will be destroyed and the country freed from their depredations.

REPLENISHING INVENTORIES.

Authoritative reports from scattered industries indicate that much of the greatly expanded factory production of the last 60 days has gone to replenishing sadly depleted stocks all along the line of distribution, from the factory to the retailer.

The hand-to-mouth production schedules which have ruled generally in industry for more than three years now are giving way gradually to expanding operations which look once more to the accumulation of normal reserve stocks. As the stream of business activity moves more swiftly in a steadily broadening channel, larger inventories will be necessary to meet consumer demands.

In May last year, domestic consumption of American cotton was but 330,000 bales. In May this year the figure was 630,000 bales, and June estimates run to approximately 900,000 bales. Spot buyers in New York and New Orleans are reported to be operating on the basis of 1,000,000 bales of domestic consumption for both July and August. Many Southern mills are operating 110 hours a week, far in excess of current market demands. In a less marked degree, the same is true in the leather industries, in wool, and in many food products.

Obviously some of this increased production has been stimulated by a general anticipation of higher prices to flow from the administration's reflation program. Part of it also likely has been called out by the desire of manufacturers to accumulate abnormal stock reserves before some of the more complex problems of the industrial mobilization program are attacked by their industries. To the extent that our recently increased factory production is merely speculative, in hope of artificially increased prices, the new stocks may prove burdensome later. In such cases curtailed production schedules may be in order. But in view of the extreme depletion of distributors' supplies since the summer of 1929 it appears probable that the recent pace of industrial production in excess of immediate consumer demands represents mostly a general restoration of normal inventories.

EXPLORING UP AND DOWN

From the Boston Transcript.

The spirit of high adventure is as keen now as in the age of Columbus or Drake or Cook or Sir John Franklin—the restless desire to do something that no man has done before, to stand on a bit of ground never before marked by human footprint. Up to 100 years ago half of the dry land of the world lay before the explorer for a choice. Even in this country of ours the region west of the Mississippi was mainly a land of fable. Lewis and Clark had crossed it, but it was only in 1849, with the migrations of the Argonauts, that it began to be known. The seven seas had long given up their secrets, but the edges of the Arctic and Antarctic had only been nibbled. The lure of the poles beckoned men on, though the extremities of our terrestrial spindle, for all that anybody knew to the contrary, might be the location of those gaping Symmes holes through which one could obtain access to the salubrious, inhabitated interior of our planet.

But now that travelers have stood upon those points whence every direction is north or south, all the territory lying in the lower 4 or 5 miles of the earth's atmospheric envelope has been ticketed. The length and breadth of the globe's surface have been mapped—nowhere do

. . . geographers, in Afric maps,
With savage pictures fill their maps,
And o'er unhabitable downs
Place elephants for want of towns.

But there still remain third-dimensional areas here and there which defy man and tempt him to their conquest. William Beebe has plumbed the ocean deeper, Prof. Piccard has ascended into the upper strata of the air higher than any other mortal since the age of legend, and others have spiraled upwards in airplanes to a height of 7 miles, or flown over Everest. But these recent journeys in sky and sea have been dependent upon and owed their success to mechanical devices. As an achievement, the flight over Everest, with all its hazard, is not so crowded with peril and difficulty as the inch-by-inch creeping up the ridges and icy steeps that guard the summit; it is not so significant a triumph of man's fortitude, of his mental courage and physical endurance.

JOE MENDI.

Joe Mendi is a chimpanzee
Which little children joy to see
And "almost human," people say
Who gaze upon him day by day
And watch him drinking from a glass
Or doff his cap to girls who pass.
On roller skates he wheels about,
He'll turn his stockings inside out
And count the fingers of his hands
To show how well he understands.

He's "almost human," people say,
Who laugh at him from day to day.
"Almost," but Joe a monkey still Remains at heart and always will.
Nor all the tricks he learns to do
Will ever change his point of view.
Unwatched by keepers to a tree
Would vault that clever chimpanzee
And though erect he walks the floors,
He much prefers to go "all-fours."

Smart monkey! But no thought has he
Of human pain and misery.
His instinct is to rend and tear,
No joy he finds in being fair,
Unto himself his life he lives.
To one who needs he never gives.
He plants no flower, no whit improves
The space of earth on which he moves.
He's "almost human"—yet how far

The Dogs May Fight One Another, But They Join Forces When a Wolf Appears.

By Robert Quillen.

THE world-wide war between classes, dreamed of by Russia's leaders, will remain an impossibility until human nature is changed.

The obstacle is race prejudice.

It is the fashion now to regard race prejudice as an evil, but it is not. It is natural, and all natural things are fundamentally good.

All progress is the work of groups. Individual geniuses point the way to better things, but the united effort of many men is required to achieve reforms and improvements.

Because that is true, nature made man a herd animal and prompted him to cooperate with his fellows—as bees and beavers do.

When men were few, common interest bound them together in a tribe with a single chieftain at their head. And whether they lived as a mountain clan or dwelt in walled cities on the plain or spread over a continent and became a great nation, the tribal instinct remained the strongest of motives and the most beneficial to the race.

Being divided into race conscious groups, men inevitably make comparisons flattering to their own clan and struggle endlessly to demonstrate its superiority.

This competitive spirit has done more than any other single influence to advance civilization.

Where there is race consciousness and race comparison and race competition, there inevitably will be race prejudice. And this race prejudice cannot be evil in itself, for it is natural and its effect is good.

To say that its effects can be evil is merely to say that any good thing can become an evil if it is carried to extremes and denied the saving benefit of reason.

Race prejudice, being instinctive and natural, is stronger than class prejudice, which is artificial. No motive developed by artificial conditions can outweigh a motive that is bred in the bone of the race.

The ability of race prejudice to overcome all others was established beyond question during the great war. Class groups and political groups and religious groups pledged to peace and universal brotherhood laid aside their principles for the duration of the war and fought tooth and nail for their respective clans.

Class may fight against class within a nation, as relatives fight one another, but all classes join forces against the hated foreigner.

POLITICAL COMMENT

New Deal Rests on Management.

Chicago News.

It may have dawned upon the American public, as the Rooseveltian policy of governmental control has been unfolded in the last three hectic months in Washington, that under the new deal there is no safe place remaining for blockheads and bunglers in Federal office. With crop allotment, gigantic works financed from the public Treasury, far-flung industrial control and all the rest of the vast program that is coming into effect, the Government must become and remain a government of specialists if the productive forces of the country are not presently to crash upon the rocks of bureaucracy and ignorance.

"Fleet Second to None."

Providence Journal.

It must always be remembered that the best way to protect the gains in control of naval armaments which the London pact represents is to utilize the privileges which that treaty provides. Not to avail ourselves of the opportunity to build a fleet second to no other navy in the world is to concede to more ambitious naval powers that we do not really feel that we need such a large Navy. Such an attitude might seriously embarrass our Government when the time arrives to replace the London agreement with a new pact.

Manila Already Getting "Hot."

Detroit Free Press.

When Frank Murphy was appointed governor general of the Philippines a friend in congratulating him remarked that Manila was a pretty hot place to live. "That's all right," answered the then mayor; "I like it hot. Besides, do you think the Detroit City Hall hasn't been a hot spot in the past three years?"

If the governor general really likes "hot" politics, as his remark indicated, his task for the next few months ought to satisfy him. The Philippine Legislature is about to try to make up its mind whether it will accept the unfortunate and unwise offer of independence made by Congress or renounce, for some time to come, the dream of insular freedom.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

UPTURN IN THE BEE TRADE. "Montgomery, Ala.—The bee industry in Alabama is booming, according to figures released by the State apiary department. Alabama this spring shipped to Canada and Northern States 700,000,000 bees, a 25 per cent increase over the same period in 1932. Queen bees slumped in price, however, bringing only 50 cents each. A two-pound parcel of bees brought an average of $1.75."—News item.

Hooray for the Recovery! The tide has turned! Apiary days are here again!

* * * *

We had an idea the depression was over, but we couldn't be certain until we heard from the bee industry.

* * * *

The bee business, you know, was hard hit in the big slump. Back in the boom days the bee was in clover. Life was just a bed of roses. The bee business got behind the slogan, "A bee in every home," and made America bee conscious.

* * * *

There was a veritable bee boom. Bee farms were split six for one and you couldn't get through a day without hearing a rumor that they were going to merge the honey industry with the petroleum trade so they could produce a motor oil that could be used on pancakes or pistons.

* * * *

Then came the break. Perhaps the first industry to feel the slump was the bee industry. It was a picture to bring tears to your eyes—millions of bees full of honey—and no market!

* * * *

America found itself with a honey glut. Prices fell so rapidly that the best bees could be had for the asking. People with bees in their bonnets shook them out as a drug on the market.

* * * *

There was the usual demand that the Government do something. Congress was asked to vote billions of dollars to buy the honey crop and keep up the price of honey, preserve the self-respect of the bee, and keep the farmer from being stung.

* * * *

The Government appointed a Federal Beehive Administrator and countered by urging the farmers to burn every fiftieth bee and sell half of the 1929 crop as mucilage.

* * * *

It all resulted in further chaos. Even the attempt to sell China all the bees she could use, and on time payments, failed.

* * * *

Then, just as the industry seemed sunk, came the news of the upturn in the Alabama bee trade.

* * * *

Forward with the new deal to victory! And we hope Gen. Johnson has a good time coordinating the beehives.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Reclamation Association States Reasons for Its Request for Public Works Funds.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In reference to your interesting editorial, "New Land vs. Crop Surplus," of even date: The National Reclamation Association, therein referred to, does not at this time ask the adoption of new projects or the inclusion of new lands for cultivation, nor does its request to the Emergency Public Works Board contemplate increase of the crop surplus.

We ask for the completion or cleaning up of the Federal reclamation program previously authorized and partially completed. The first purpose is quick employment relief. On the basis of an allocation of $150,000,000 and estimating 80 per cent, or $120,000,000, of this amount for employment, work would be directly provided for 80,000 men and indirectly for 60,000 to 120,000. Since the indirect employment is of men in the industrial centers engaged in the production of materials, machinery and supplies, work would be furnished 80,000 to 60,000 men in the industrial centers of the East on the basis of estimates by the Federal Employment Stabilization Board.

In the areas and communities affected by direct employment proposed one person of every three is a victim of economic distress. Transportation, contracting, manufacturing, business and other interests are affected.

The farming on the reclaimed land in question is largely in the maintenance of self-subsisting homes. We propose from work to be done in supplemental water storage and completion of canals, laterals and other works, a cheapening of operation so that settlers may operate within cost of production.

LICENSING POWERS ASKED FOR DAIRIES

(Associated Press.)

Representatives of the dairy industry, which produces about one-fourth of American farm income, last night voted to ask Secretary Wallace to employ his drastic licensing powers to enforce dairy trade agreements.

Their decision came soon after representatives of butter manufacturers and distributors had submitted a proposed trade agreement calling for the fixing of minimum weekly prices of butter by a dairy council of ten members in the major markets.

The vote favoring licensing was taken at the general dairy conference called by administrators of the farm act. More than 200 representatives of producers, processors and distributors, including officers of both cooperative and private concerns, were present.

Daily Fine of $1,000 Possible.

Under licensing powers provided Wallace he can refuse operating permits to concerns which fail to observe trade agreements now being drawn for every phase of the dairy industry, including butter, cheese, fluid milk, evaporated and dry milk and ice cream manufacturing. A concern operating without a lincense is subject to a daily fine of $1,000.

Earlier, Charles J. Grand, coadministrator, told the group that Wallace was prepared to use the licensing power, but that administrators first desired to give "minorities a chance to play fair." The dairy representatives, however, took the position that licensing should be put into effect when trade agreements were approved.

The group selected a committee to represent each phase of the industry in correlating agreements which each will present in an effort to increase the return to producers.

Members of Committees.

Members of the committees are:

Whole milk for city supply—C. F. Whiting, president International Association of Milk Dealers; Charles W. Holman, secretary National Cooperative Federation of Milk Producers; Don Geyer, Pure Milk Association, Chicago.

Butter manufacture and sale—N. R. Clark, Chicago; John Brandt, Minneapolis.

Ice cream manufacture and sale—R. C. Hibben, Harrisburg, Pa.; George R. Fitts, New York.

Chicagoan Quotes Figures.

Dry or powdered milk—Roud McCann, Dry Milk Institute, Chicago; H. R. Leonard, Twin City Milk Producers Association, St. Paul.

N. R. Clark, of Swift & Co., Chicago, said butter prices were now approximately 15 per cent below the prewar level which is the goal of farm act administrators. He said the butter industry accounted annually for about 1,700,000,000 pounds of butter, with an annual production value of from $400,000,000 to $500,000,000.

The butter program contains no provision relating to wage scales or minimum hours of labor. Two courses are open to the industry, either the setting up of a separate code covering these features, to be submitted to administrators of the national recovery act, or obtaining the consent of Secretary Wallace to approve an amendment to the agreement covering wages and hours of labor.

Question of Wage Scale.

Wallace has taken the position that wages and hours should be dealt with by Hugh S. Johnson, administrator of the national recovery act and that the farm administrators would not deal with that field. Clark, however, said that the butter industry desired to have all elements embodied in one agreement subject to Wallace's administration.

The butter agreement proposed a code governing butter sales which would outlaw the paying of secret rebates or concessions by a creamery or distributor to retailers; the giving of any advertising allowance except the reimbursement of the purchaser for actual cost of advertising the seller's brand of butter; the use of articles sold by retailers at a loss and the guaranteeing of prices to customers regardless of a market decline.

W. T. Nardin, of St. Louis, presented details of the evaporated milk agreement to the conference. He said the prices paid producers for milk used in that industry were about 5 per cent below the prewar level.

The agreement would base prices to producers on quotations for butter and cheese in established markets and fix wholesale prices, varying according to differences in freight rates on hauls from plants to distributing centers.

Happenings in Washington Society Circles

M. and Mme. Maurois Entertained at French Embassy.

THE AMBASSADOR OF FRANCE, M. Andre de Laboulaye, and Mme. de Laboulaye entertained at a luncheon yesterday in honor of M. Andre Maurois, eminent French author, lecturer and critic, and Mme. Maurois, who are spending a few days in the Capital, previous to their departure for Chicago, where they will attend the Century of Progress Exposition. They will sail from New York on July 6, aboard the Ile de France.

Last evening the former United States Ambassador to Argentina and Mrs. Robert Woods Bliss entertained at dinner in honor of M. and Mme. Maurois, and today they will be the guests of hohor at the weekly luncheon of the National Women's Press Club at the Willard.

Mme. Simopoulos, wife of the Minister of Greece, Mr. Charalambos Simopoulos, left yesterday morning by motor for Nonquitt, Mass., where she has taken a house for the season. The minister and their son, Jan, will join her there later.

The Minister of Paraguay, Senor Dr. Don Enrique Bordenave and Senora de Bordenave, with a party of friends, left Sunday to motor to Sherwood Forest, where they will spend a few days.

The newly appointed United States Minister to Greece, Mr. Lincoln MacVeach, will be the guest of honor Friday evening at a dinner to be given at the Kennedy-Warren by the Greek residents of Washington.

Mrs. Claude A. Swanson, wife of the Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Claude A. Swanson, left yesterday for Richmond and Virginia Beach. She will return to the Capital on July 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Britten To Visit in Delaware.

Representative and Mrs. Fred A. Britten will leave on Saturday to spend the week-end with Senator and Mrs. Daniel O. Hastings at their country home in Delaware. Representative and Mrs. Britten will go to Rehoboth the middle of next week for a short visit before returning to their home on Sheridan Circle. Later in July they will take a motor trip in New England and Canada.

Representative and Mrs. S. Otis Bland closed their apartment at Wardman Park Hotel yesterday and will be at their home in Newport News, Va., during the summer.

Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Guy V. Henry have returned to Washington, after a short visit to Hot Springs, where they joined Gen. Henry's brother, Mr. Seton Henry, of the summer colony.

Miss Mary Henry, who with her sister, Miss Patricia Henry, and cousin, Miss Josephine Henry, of Philadelphia, has been staying for the last two weeks at West Point, will return to Washington this evening.

Col. and Mrs. Stephen O. Fuqua have moved from their apartment at 1302 Eighteenth street, to a house at 1826 Jefferson place, where they will be until the early fall when Col. Fuqua, accompanied by Mrs. Fuqua, will go to Spain to assume his duties as Military Attache of the United States Embassy in Madrid. Col. Fuqua will also be Military Attache to Portugal and Morocco.

Miss Jeannette Fuqua, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Fuqua, with Mrs. Howard N. Tucker, and Mrs. Grace Waggaman Pulver, will sail on July 5, for Europe, to spend the summer in France. They will visit Mlle Reine Claudel, daughter of the French Ambassador to Belgium and Mme. Claudel, in Brussels for a short time and will then go to France with the Claudels for a visit at their home near Paris. Miss Fuqua will join her parents in Madrid in September.

Col. and Mrs. Wrisley Brown, and their daughter, Miss Katherine Brown, are staying a few weeks in Atlantic City.

Dwight F. Davis Leases Robbins' Georgetown Home.

Former Secretary of War, Mr. Dwight F. Davis, who with his family, is spending the summer at Southampton, Long Island, has leased the home of the United States Minister to Canada, Warren Delano Robbins, in Georgetown for the coming winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Porter Davidson will come to Washington today from Middleburg, Va., where for the last few weeks they have been occupying the home of the latter's cousin, Miss Katrina McCormick. They will sail the end of the week for a cruise to the North Cape and the Land of the Midnight Sun.

Mr. and Mrs. Davidson have leased their home on the Rockville road to Mr. and Mrs. R. Golden Donaldson for the summer.

Mrs. Eliot Wadsworth has sailed for Europe to join Mr. Wadsworth, who has been attending the World Economic Conference in London. Mrs. Wadsworth was accompanied by Miss Joanne Bass, and her brother, Mr. Perkins Bass, daughter and son of former Governor and Mrs. Robert Bass, who now make their home in Tucson, Ariz. Miss Bass has been a student at the Ethel Walker School, at Simsbury, Conn.

After their stay in London, Mr. and Mrs. Wadsworth, with Miss Bass and her brother, will go to Switzerland and later attend the music festival at Salsburg, Austria.

Mr. and Mrs. George D. Vaughan, of West Hartford, Conn., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Dorothy Vaughan, to Lieut. Paul Douglas Wood, son of Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Winthrop S. Wood. Miss Vaughan was graduated from Miss Marchant's School in 1932. Lieut. Wood was graduated this month from the United States Military Academy, West Point.

Granddaughter of Bryan Wed Near Fredericksburg.

The wedding of Miss Mary Sholes Bryan, daughter of Mrs. H. Berger Bryan, of Fredericksburg, Va., and Mr. William Jennings Bryan, jr., of Beverly Hills, Calif., and granddaughter of the late William Jennings Bryan, to Mr. Alfred Smith Forsyth, of New York, took place yesterday morning at Belvedere Farms, the home of her maternal grandfather, Mr. Alexander Berger, near Fredericksburg.

Mr. James P. Forsyth, of St. Davids, Pa., was the best man for his son. The ushers were Mr. John F. Wood, of Chester, Pa., and Mr. Edward P. Helwig, of Brooklyn, N. Y. A breakfast for members of the two families and a few close friends was served after the ceremony. After their marriage, Mr. Forsyth and his bride will make their home in New York, where he is practicing law.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Del. Thomas will go to Rehoboth Beach, Del., this week to open their cottage for the season. Mr. Thomas will make frequent week-end trips to the nearby resort. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomas, brother and sister-in-law of Mr. Frances Thomas, have also taken a cottage at Rehoboth for the summer.

Mrs. G. M. Hyland will sail from New York on July 14 on the Santa Clara for South America, where she will visit her son-in-law and daughter, the former Minister of Bolivia and Senora de Abelli, who are at their country home Avacayla, after passing several months in Lima, Peru. The former Minister and Senora de Abelli with their two children left Washington last winter after two years in the Capital, during which time they were among the most popular of the younger diplomatic set.

Mrs. Rose Wallach Merriam will leave next week for Newport, where she will visit her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Woodbury Blair, before going to Massachusetts to open her cottage for the summer.

Mr. Alexander Legge, of Chicago, the former chairman of the Federal Farm Board, is in Washington for a short stay.

Mrs. Standard Chapman, of Culpeper, Va., accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Everette Shell, visited Rapidan Camp last week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Flint sailed yesterday aboard the Rex for Europe.

Mrs. John S. Walker, with her three children, Mary Duncan, Margaret and Sidney, arrived in Washington yesterday from their home in Huntington, W. Va., and will be the guests for several days of Mrs. Walker's mother, Mrs. Howard Sutherland. Mrs. Walker and her children are on their way to their summer home at Lake Sunapee, N. H., where Mr. and Mrs. Sutherland will join them later for a visit.

Miss Eleanor O'Donoughue, daughter of the Associate Justice of the Supreme Court and Mrs. Daniel W. O'Donoughue, will return to Washington Saturday after a visit of several weeks at the summer home of Miss Anne Nealon, on Lake Erie.

Mary L. Hannan to Wed In Trinity College Chapel.

Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Hannan have issued invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Mary Louise Hannan, to Dr. Robert Hugh Mahoney, of Norwich, Conn. The wedding will take place in the Trinity College Chapel Saturday, at 9 a. m.

The Right Rev. William Turner, Bishop of Buffalo, will officiate. A reception will follow at the country home of the bride's parents in Norbeck, Md. Miss Sadie Mahoney, of Norwich, will be the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Miss Catherine Hannan and Miss Vera Whitty. Dr. Patrick Mahoney, of brother, and the ushers will be Mr. Boston, will serve as best man for his John Hannan and Mr. Vincent Shields.

Mrs. John E. Murray and Miss Katherine Urquhart are spending a few days in New York.

A buffet supper and swimming party will be given at the Manor Club on Friday evening, at 6 o'clock, by the Young Democrats Club of the District of Columbia. Miss Eleanor Branson is in charge of arrangements.

Mary A. McGlynn Bride Of John F. McGowan.

St. Joseph's Church was the scene of the wedding yesterday morning when Miss Mary A. McGlynn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. McGlynn, became the bride of Mr. John F. McGowan, of Bridgeport and New Haven, Conn.

The bride wore a gown of white lace made on princess lines with a picture hat to match and carried white roses and lillies of the valley. Miss Margaret McGlynn, who attended her sister, wore pale pink mousseline de soie and carried pink roses and blue delphinium. Mr. McGowan had as his best man, Mr. Raymond J. Devlin, Connecticut State senator. Mr. Joseph T. McGlynn and Mr. John P. McGlynn acted as ushers.

The wedding was followed by a reception and breakfast at the Dodge Hotel garden house, the bride being assisted in receiving by her mother, who wore flowered chiffon with white accessories. Members of the immediate families and a few close friends were present.

Miss McGlynn is a graduate of Wilson Normal School and a teacher in the local public schools. Mr. McGowan is a graduate of Georgetown College and Law School. After a motor trip through the South, Mr. and Mrs. McGowan will return to Bridgeport where they will make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. James M. Andrews, of Brookline, Mass., are guests at Wardman Park Hotel for an indefinite period.

Mrs. R. B. Paddock and Mrs. A. J. Warwick, of Memphis, Tenn., are at the Carlton.

Wife of French Author

Underwood & Underwood.

MME. MAUROIS, wife of M. Andre Maurois, well-known French author, who has been visiting in Washington. M. and Mme. Maurois were the guests of honor at a dinner given last evening by the former United States Ambassador to Argentina and Mrs. Robert Woods Bliss.

4 Federal Lawyers Resign Positions

Four lawyers, prominent in the service of the Government, have resigned to engage in the private practice of law, it was learned yesterday.

They are Seth Richardson, special assistant to the Attorney General; Chauncey G. Parker, general counsel of the United States Shipping Board; E. Cortlandt Parker, assistant counsel of the Shipping Board, and W. Earl Smith, attorney in the Justice Department.

The Parkers will practice together here with offices in the Southern Building; Mr. Richardson has become a member of the Washington firm of Davies, Jones, Beebe & Busick; Mr. Smith will be associated with a New York firm.

Filling of the two vacancies at the Shipping Board is not contemplated "in line with the general program of retrenchment," officials said.

The Meanderer

Finds Women's Felt Hats Selling Rapidly—Gray and Lemon-Colored Chiffon Delightful Summer Gown.

Three felt hats of a special make and a special price have been sold by an F street women's wear shop to a woman preparing to sail for Europe. Reasons for the choice of felts is almost obvious. They pack easily, they are generally becoming and adaptable for many types of costumes, they are not easily affected by the weather and will not be out of season so soon as would other hats.

The hats that are going to Europe cost $5 each. The shop selling such hats for $5 announces that within a few days their price will be $6.75, due to slight increases in prices by manufacturers. This announcement is speeding up the sale of the hats in Washington. One woman who already owns four of the hats has invested in five more. This is understandable, for there are at least fifteen colors in the felt hats in the local shop and other colors may be ordered. Three shades of tan—light tan, deep tan, and rose-tan, for instance, are on the color card, as well as three shades of blue, two or more shades of green and plenty of blacks, whites and pastel shades.

Fluttering chiffon printed in a design of gray shaded white flowers on a lemon yellow background makes a gown with jacket that appeals to the Meanderer as one of the loveliest of all the summer clothes she has found. The gown is intended for formal afternoon or evening wear. Circular frills are used about the neck of the gown in becoming arrangement. Several narrow circular frills bring the jacket's short sleeve down to the elbow in graceful effect. The costume has every appearance of being expensive, even to the handfinishing of the frills about the neck and sleeves, but its price tag reads only $15.95.

Black bathing suits, and dark blue bathing suits share equal popularity with the 1933 summer girl, the manager of an authoritative shop selling sportswear for women, told the Meanderer. Almost invariably a backless type bathing suit is chosen. One simply cut suit without trimming, has almost no back and is one of the most desired suits. Another has back straps that are adjustable, and are in color contrasting with the body of the suit. A new brassiere top bathing suit that gives trim lines to the figure is welcomed by many shoppers.

Bathing caps that have been moulded into shape from not more than two pieces of rubber are chosen often in preference to other caps that do not fit so well. This moulded cap fits so closely that it requires no fastening of any kind. The Meanderer saw the new moulded caps in the sportswear shop mentioned just above.

"Please show me three daytime frocks that would, in your opinion, be most useful to the Washington woman who is to remain in the city all the summer," the Meanderer asked the man executive in a women's wear section of a smart haberdashery. He brought out immediately two wash silk, sleeveless frocks of good material—one white and the other in a choice of pastel shades, and a silk jacket dress. The latter was a monotone print, small beet root colored flowers on white. An alternative for those who do not care for prints, he said, was a sheer crepe or chiffon suit in plain color, or a new printed chiffon voile dress with a linen jacket in white or natural linen.

Wide white hats of tailored linen at $3.50 seemed to the Meanderer to be an excellent buy for the woman who is to remain in the city most of the summer. These wide hats and many more of summer appeal are arrayed in the windows of a corner shop on F street, a large shop selling only hats, so that the stock is immense. Values there include many small hats especially priced at $1, hundreds of attractive summer hats at $1.95, and none over $5.

Two piece gingham dresses—a tailored, belted blouse worn outside a trim matching skirt—are new in one F street shop. Large plaids in red and brown or in brown and yellow are used for these frocks, priced $5.95.

Toll Bridge Is Favored Across Rappahannock

Construction of a new toll bridge across the Rappahannock River between Port Royal and Port Conway, Va., was recommended yesterday by Maj. Joseph D. Arthur, War Department engineer for the Washington area.

The project would be financed by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and would be a link in a new highway to the South making use of the proposed George Washington Memorial Bridge across the Potomac at Dahlgren, Va. Maj. Arthur's recommendations now go to the office of the chief of engineers, Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown.

WHAT'S GOOD TO EAT

FRIED CHICKEN FOR JULY 4 MAKES DOUBLE CELEBRATION

By Ann Barrett

EVEN without fireworks, there's a grand way to celebrate the Fourth. Decorate the table with a big platter of juicy, fried chicken. Thick slices of tomato, broiled just right. A bowl of buttered green peas. A dish of currant jelly. A plate of fluffy, white baking powder biscuits. And end up the feast with a big dish of ice cream.

Okay? I can't imagine anyone would say no. For the list of people who like their meals built around chicken reads like Who's Who in America. Including Marie Dressler, Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, former Postmaster General Walter Folger Brown, Actor Alfred Lunt, Explorer Martin Johnson. And you and I!

Even if you're picnicking on the Fourth the theme can be the same—picnic equipment being what it is today.

Guides to Good Chicken.

So let's see what's what about having fried chicken perfect. First, get it young, if you can, and fresh. Friers and broilers from 2 to 3 pounds are the best. You can fry and broil older birds by parboiling them 15 minutes first. But, of course, the flavor is not the same.

Second, wash and singe the birds well, cut out the little bones on each side of the backbone, make sure you have every speck of viscera out of the inside, and then dry them well.

Third, protect the delicate meat from burning by rubbing it well with fat. Or by rolling in flour, crumbs or cornmeal. Or dipping in batter.

Fourth, don't cook your chicken so fast or so long as to dry it out.

Pan-fried Chicken.

So much for general directions. Now—with 2 young chickens before you (weighing from 2½ to 3 pounds each)—here's exactly how to proceed. After splitting and cleaning them carefully, sprinkle them with mixed salt and pepper (2 teaspoons salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper) and roll them in flour or fine, dry bread crumbs. Then melt 6 to 8 tablespoons fat in heavy skillet, and let this heat till a thin blue film arises from it. Fry the chickens in this till tender and brown, turning them frequently. This will take 25 to 30 minutes. To make sure the chicken is done, insert a knife point into the thigh. If chicken feels soft and juice runs clear (not red) snatch it off the fire quick. Serve at once on a hot platter. Fried chicken must not stand.

Smothered Chicken.

If you'd rather have chicken with a deliciously rich gravy, maybe smothered chicken done like this is your number. Split and clean 2 broilers weighing 2 to 2½ pounds each. Rub both sides with mixed salt and pepper (2 teaspoons salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper). Then sift a little flour over the skin of the chickens. Next, put 1 cup thin cream in heavy pot and let it get hot. Put chickens into hot cream and cook till brown, turning occasionally. Then cover and cook till tender, adding enough cream from time to time to keep kettle from going dry. (It takes about two cups of thin cream for this whole recipe, including gravy.) Then remove chicken to hot platter.

To about 3 tablespoons of fat remaining in kettle, add 3 tablespoons of flour and blend well. Then stir in 2 cups of chicken stock (made from cooking up necks, tips of wings and lower legs) and the remainder of second cup of cream. Bring to a boil, season to taste, and serve in gravy boat with chicken.

Deviled Broiled Chicken.

If you like your chicken with a snappier flavor, you'll find deviled, broiled chicken ace-high. It has the extra virtue of being a bit unusual.

First split and clean two broilers (2 to 2½ pounds each). Then cut several gashes in the skin side of each half broiler. Rub prepared mustard and a few grains of cayenne pepper into these gashes, using about half-teaspoon mustard to each half chicken. Then sprinkle them with salt and rub into them a little softened butter.

Next, place them on a hot, greased broiler, skin side up, and 2 to 3 inches from flame. Broil at 500 till skin is nicely browned, then turn over and broil at 400 till done (about 20 minutes in all). Then remove to hot platter and spread with deviled butter made like this: Cream ½ cup butter (or part butter and bacon fat) with 2 teaspoons dry mustard, 1½ teaspoon Worcestshire sauce, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ½ teaspoon salt. Serve at once. That will be eating!

Send for More Recipes.

Our newest bulletin, "World Famous Ways to Cook Chicken," contains many recipes I think you'll find useful all year through. Chicken Maryland, Dutch oven chicken, chicken fried in deep fat, paprika chicken (Hungarian), curried chicken and others. Besides further tips on cooking. Any day can be a celebration once you get these recipes in your files.

Udet, German War Ace, Arrives in Los Angeles

Los Angeles, June 26 (A.P.).—Maj. Ernest Udet, third ranking ace of World War fliers, whose triumphs over enemy planes while flying in the German Air Corps numbered 63, arrived here today after a transcontinental flight by easy stages from New York.

Maj. Udet will be among the stunt fliers at the national air races, which begin next Saturday.

33 States Represented At Catholic U. School

Students from 33 States, including Texas, California and Washington, the District of Columbia and Cuba, Canada and Australia, have registered for the summer session at the Catholic University during the past three days. The total number of registrations will run over 1,100 when enrollment for the twenty-third annual session will close the end of the week, according to an announcement by Dr. Roy J. Deferrari, director of the summer session.

These figures indicate that the 1933 session will be the largest in the history of the university. During the past few years there has been a steady increase in the student body, particularly in the summer school and the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences. A series of lectures, concerts and excursions has been arranged by Director Deferrari.

Culbertson on Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

A FATAL DISCARD.

AGE can not wither nor can custom stale the infinite variety of hands at Bridge. It was my good fortune recently to run across a really new one—a hand wherein one of the defending players, holding the 2, 3 and 4 spot of a suit, lost the hand as a result of discarding the 2. This may sound like Baron Munchausen in his more brilliant moods, or at least as though there were some catch to the story, but the story is both true and catchless. Here it is:

South, Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

	♠ J 9 6 ♡ A 8 2 ◇ A K Q J 9 ♣ 10 6
♠ A 10 7 3 ♡ K Q J 6 5 ◇ 10 8 ♣ 8 3	N W E S	♠ Q 8 5 ♡ 7 ◇ 4 3 2 ♣ A 9 7 5 4 2
	♠ K 4 2 ♡ 10 9 4 3 ◇ 7 6 5 ♣ K Q J Mr. Balfe

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1◇	Pass
1NT	Dbl.	2◇	Pass
Pass	2♡	2NT	Pass
3NT	Dbl.	Redbl.	Pass
Pass	Pass

The above bidding is neither technically correct nor psychologically to be recommended. Although four excellent players participated in this game, each one of them was trying to be brilliant and outguess the other, and this accounted for some of the weird bids and passes made. At any rate, Mr. Raymond Balfe, of New York City, was the final Declarer at a contract of three notrump, redoubled.

The Opening lead by West was the heart King. Mr. Balfe did not win the Ace in Dummy, and West held the trick. He continued with the heart Queen and the Ace won. On this trick East, a player of national repute, had to discard, and, as a matter of course, threw the deuce of diamonds. This seemingly harmless discard lost the hand for the defense. Had East, at this trick, kept the diamond 2, Declarer would have had no play to fulfill his contract, but with one of East's diamonds out of the way, Mr. Balfe now proceeded to make three notrump.

Here is what happened. After winning the second trick, Mr. Balfe played two rounds of diamonds, stripping both East and West of that suit. A small club was now led from Dummy, and East, quite properly, did not win with the Ace. He did win the second round of the suit, and now had to find a lead. South, on the bidding, must have a spade honor. If it was the King, a spade lead would set it up and enable Declarer to make four-odd perhaps, while a club return would automatically give South a second club trick while he still had control of the major suits. East chose to return a club, and Mr. Balfe now led a small heart from his hand. This time West was on the spot, as he was now forced to lead either a heart or spade, giving Declarer his ninth trick.

What would have happened had East held on to his third diamond and discarded a club on Trick 2? Mr. Balfe obviously could not immediately run five diamond tricks, as this would squeeze his own hand and he would be forced to discard potential trick winners ahead of West. Equally, he could not run three diamond tricks and then abandon the suit, as he would never be able to return to Dummy to cash the last 2 tricks in that suit. Therefore, Mr. Balfe's only hope would be to play two rounds of diamonds, as he actually did, and then tackle the club suit. East, of course, would refuse the first round of clubs, winning the second, and then would be able to exit with the diamond, throwing the lead back to Dummy. If Mr. Balfe now cashed his remaining diamonds, he would have to squeeze his own hand and make discards from it before West. Thus, had East had the foresight to keep this harmless-looking little deuce, South was doomed to go down at his three-notrump contract. But with one of East's three "valueless" diamonds out of the way, Mr. Balfe saw the path to victory and followed it with precision.

One more alternative line of play for the Declarer was suggested in the event that East did not discard a diamond at Trick 2; that was that a heart be led by South at the third trick. A glance at both hands will show that this line of play could not possibly have won the hand, as the defense would then be able to take 3 heart tricks and the two Aces. All in all, this was the most spectacular losing defensive play that I have seen.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

If West, after South's pass, opens the bidding with one heart and East raises to two hearts, what should be West's next bid after South overcalls with two spades?

South, Dealer.
East and West vulnerable.

	♠ J 9 3 ♡ 4 2 ◇ Q 10 8 6 2 ♣ A 9 2

The hand will be discussed in tomorrow's article.

Today Means

By Mary Blake

"CANCER."

INFLUENCES operating on this day will probably be of a confusing nature and will tend to make you incapable of reaching a decision or taking a definite stand on matters both personal and business in nature. More than the usual risk will attach to travel by auto or boat on this June 27.

The child born on this June 27 will probably be of a frivolous nature and slow to develop. He will not mix well with children of his own age. He will be a great tease himself, but will resent being teased in turn. Will show his feelings in his face; not a good sport.

If June 27 is your birthday, you sometimes allow yourself to complain and whine over conditions when they go against you. This tendency to feel sorry for yourself has a great deal to do toward retarding your advancement and ultimate success in life. Don't complain of your luck, for, as a matter of fact, it is as good as the next person's and very often a bit better than the average. You are a hard worker, but a fitful one. You are inclined to be a bit temperamental and to let yourself be unduly influenced by the people with whom you rub elbows as well as by the physical surroundings in which you find yourself. You are a good-hearted fellow, you always chip in and do your share and there is none more willing to help another in a pinch.

Born on June 27, you are not as saving as you might be. You are impetuous in the matter of saving your money, and frequently on the spur of the moment do and buy things that temporarily appeal to you; then you wonder later why in the world you have done so. You are slow to meet your obligations; you should not run bills if you can help it.

STEEL LEADERS PUT WAGE BEFORE PRICE

Executives Meet This Week to Consider Code for Trade Practice.

(From Magazine Steel.)

Cleveland, Ohio, June 26.—Predominant conservative opinion among iron and steel executives appears to be rallying to the position of the industrial recovery administration that price advances be deferred until after wages have been raised, states the magazine Steel.

This week when executives meet in New York to consider the iron and steel industry's trade practice code, a determination of prices is expected.

In the meantime, the intrinsic strength of the markets, regardless of any artificial support, is manifest in isolated advances, such as 50 to 75 cents a ton on coke, $5 a ton on rivets and short-range selling on practically all products.

Firmness and Prices.

This underlying firmness, little due to anticipation of higher prices, is reflected in a rise of 2 points in the steelworks operating rate last week to 51 per cent, and the certainty that a further gain will be recorded this week. Pig iron corroborates this gain in steel production, with resumption of four more blast furnaces.

Last week 5-point advances were made in the steelworks rate at Chicago, to 50 per cent; at Pittsburgh, to 41 per cent; and in eastern Pennsylvania, to 33⅓ per cent.

In the Buffalo district the rate increased 11 points to 48 per cent; and in New England 10½ points to 81½ per cent. The Wheeling district remained at 84 per cent; Cleveland at 79; Youngstown, 52; Birmingham, 50; and Detroit, 38. Tin plate mills average 95 to 100 per cent.

Rolled Strip Steel.

Pending a decision on prices, hot-rolled strip steel is being sold through the third quarter at the recent advance of $2 a ton. Wire rods, wire, and nuts and bolts are being booked for July, with delivery to August 15, at present prices. Leading producers of plates, shapes and bars are quoting current levels for July, with clauses protecting them on wage advances.

Tin plate makers are understood to be reaffirming prices for third quarter. Some of the lake pig iron producers now decline to quote for delivery beyond July.

Action in heavy finished steel is more vigorous. Structural shape awards for the week, 17,198 tons, include 4,600 tons for the Pennsylvania Railroad's Baltimore pier. Southern Alkali Corporation, a subsidiary of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., has placed approximately 20,000 tons of cast and steel pipe and structural shapes, and is negotiating for 2,000 tons of plates for a chemical plant at Corpus Christi, Tex.

Naval Vessels Outlook.

Bids will be taken July 26 on 17 naval vessels, the first group of 32 authorized, and for these 40,000 tons of steel will be required, mainly plates. A program for oil tank construction contemplated at New York will require 40,000 tons of steel.

For the San Francisco-Oakland Bridge substructure 7,500 tons of plates have been awarded, and for the Boquet Canyon penstock, Los Angeles, 4,300 tons of plates. Pittsburgh mills have taken 6,000 tons of plates for two freighters for H. H. Bull & Co., New York.

Railroads are concentrating purchases for repairs to rolling stock and bridges, releases for these purposes increasing substantially. In some districts a shortage of cars for shipping scrap is noted. Inquiries for farm implements for fall delivery show further improvement.

Pig Iron Stocks.

Pig iron stocks at both merchant and steel works furnaces have been so far reduced that several more stacks will be lighted before the close of June. A strong demand for basic iron has developed in the East, one consumer purchasing 9,000 tons. Wage and price advances in coke have led to heavier shipments.

This country again increased its favorable trade balance in iron and steel in May, when exports rose 23 per cent to 123,069 gross tons, largest since October, 1930. Imports dropped 6 per cent to 26,295 tons.

Steel's iron and steel price composite is up 8 cents this week to $28.83, on stronger plate prices; the finished steel composite has advanced 20 cents to $45.50; and the scrap figure is up 4 cents to $9.70.

Listing Removal Asked By Philadelphia Board

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, June 26.—The board of directors of the Philadelphia Company has approved a request to the New York Stock Exchange for removal from listing on the exchange of the company's preferred 5 per cent capital stock ($10 par value), according to Frank R. Phillips, president of the company. This action has been requested, Mr. Phillips said, because of the fact that 142,365 shares of the stock issue have been retired and there are only 1,880 shares now outstanding; these shares are divided among only eighteen stockholders. Other stocks of the Philadelphia Company listed on the New York Stock Exchange are the 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock and the $6 cumulative preference stock.

The preferred 5 per cent capital stock, which will be removed from stock exchange listing, should not be confused with the company's $5 cumulative preference stock; this stock is not listed on any exchange, Mr. Phillips pointed out.

St. P., M. & M. Ry. Bond Plan Declared Operative

New York, June 26 (A.P.).—William P. Kenney, president of the Great Northern Railway Co., announced today that the plan for extending the consolidated mortgage gold bonds of the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway Co., amounting to $41,936,000, had been declared operative following approval of 80 per cent of the bondholders.

Under the plan the maturity will be extended to July 1, 1943, with interest at 5 per cent and a cash payment of $38.10 per $1,000 bond, giving an effective yield maturity of 5½ per cent. In connection with the plan for extension, the First National Bank of New York announced it would purchase at the principal amount and accrued interest any of the bonds not deposited under the plan, which are tendered prior to July 1, next.

Flour Breaks Through $6 Mark After 3 Years

Minneapolis, June 26 (A.P.).—Flour broke through the $6 mark today for the first time in three years.

After an almost steady climb during the last few months with temporary and minor setbacks, prices for family patents today reached $6.05 to $6.15 a barrel. The last time family patents were quoted at $6 a barrel was in July, 1930. The lowest price for this year was $3.80.

As flour prices kept pace with wheat in the upward surge millers were besieged with shipping orders.

NEW OIL BUSINESS SYSTEM PROPOSED

Chicago, June 26 (A.P.).—A new system for the gasoline and oil business, with the President of the United States setting price limits and dealers competing "by the book," was offered to oil refiners and jobbers today as the work of 60 marketing association delegates who met here to draft a recovery act code.

With it went a request they were expected to indorse or reject. It asked Federal licenses for the entire oil industry, producers, refiners, jobbers and shippers.

The code conference found independent oil dealers and representatives of big companies in sharp dispute over one of the 34 proposed new rules. As to how far the big companies shall be allowed to go in control of filling station outlets, the code contains alternative sections.

Filling Station Trade.

That written by small dealers forbid refiners from tying station owners up to handle their products exclusively, unless the refiners owned the stations or had long-term leases. The other rule allowed refiners to lease stations for any period, or to make station men their agents.

The President of the United States was requested to set maximum and minimum prices for petroleum products, and the code outlined in detail how the business would be conducted. Wholesalers and jobbers must not furnish equipment to filling stations.

Equipment would be transferred from one company to another at blue book prices, and there was uniform schedule for credit. Wholesalers and retailers must post their prices and let them stand for 24 hours. All price concessions were outlawed.

Selling Below Cost.

Selling below cost was forbidden, and "prudent management" basis was established for prices so as to allow a "reasonable profit." Advertising that you undersell competitors was declared to be unfair.

The marketers come under the governmental machinery which the producers' code set up, an emergency national committee of 52, and agree to open their books to it.

No attempt was made to set minimum wages or maximum hours. W. R. Boyd, of New York, executive vice president of the American Petroleum Institute, said the emergency committee probably would do this.

Labor sections of the recovery act were included in the code.

(Associated Press.)

London—Trading on the stock exchange started the week steadily with the speculative group most active. Kaffirs, oils, transatlantic and celanese issues were dearer, but transatlantics closed below the best of the day. German bonds were firm on optimism regarding the interest payments on the Young and Dawes loans. Gilt-edged securities were easy and the closing tone was quiet.

Paris—The bourse was encouraged by news of economic improvement in several countries and the world economic conference commercial prospects. Royal Dutch banks and electric issues led the advance, but rentes were weaker. The closing was firm.

Berlin—Trading on the boerse was fairly good and prices were slightly higher.

BONDS SENT HIGHER UNDER UTILITY LEAD

Freight Loadings Also Aid as Sales Mount to $13,518,000.

New York, June 26 (A.P.).—Further improvement in freight car loadings, together with booming commodity prices, brought renewed enthusiasm for secondary bonds today and gains of 1 to 3 or more points were recorded by a number of the low-priced favorites.

With stocks and grains generally in a buoyant mood, especial attention was paid to the more speculative carrier liens. A few of the utilities were also given a run, but the industrials and most of the higher grade maturities were content to follow a rather narrow range.

The trading volume expanded to $13,518,000, par value, and the average for 60 domestic corporate loans advanced three-tenths of a point to 78.2, another new 1933 high.

Best gains were recorded by some bonds of American & Foreign Power, Alleghany Corporation, Baltimore & Ohio, Boston & Maine, St. Paul, Chicago & North Western, Denver & Rio Grande, Erie, Colon Oil, International Telephone, Louisville & Nashville, "Soo" Line, Missouri Pacific, Nickel Plate, Northern Pacific, Postal Telephone, Iron Mountain, Southern Railway, Southern Pacific, Texas & Pacific, United States Rubber and Warner Bros. Chicago & North Western issues were heavily traded for gains of around 3 to 5 points.

United States Government securities were dull and slightly easier. Foreign obligations were quiet and irregular. Some of the Germans and Japanese rallied a point or more and there was a sizable turnover of British 5½s at a gain of ½ point.

Stocks Rise as Prices Of Commodities Climb

Implement Issues Lead Advance, With Mail Orders and Provisions Following; Sales for Session Total 4,548,549 Shares.

Frenzied purchasers of these staples from their opening found stocks rather hesitant for a time, except in spots, but net gains approximating 7 cents for wheat, 3 cents for corn and 5 cents for oats were too imposing to be ignored and shares improved briskly in the late hour, closing with net gains of 1 to 7 points.

The stock market looked strongest in the farm implement, mail order and "wet" divisions. Case jumped 7 and closed near the top; International Harvester gained 2, Sears Roebuck 3½ and Montgomery Ward more than 2. Chemical shares boiled briskly; Allied closed up 3½ and Du Pont 2¼. Alcohols were led by the effervescent National Distillers which improved 7½. Oils were strong, with the help of some further advances in their raw materials and a belief that the recent Chicago conferences had taken long steps toward a final solution of the industry's troubles. Several petroleum shares were up at least a point. Standard industrials sloughed off their early indifference sufficiently to bring gains of a point or two to U. S. and Bethlehem Steels. American Can, Westinghouse, National Biscuit, American Tobacco "B" and Union Carbide, among others. Utilities leaned toward conservatism, though American Telephone was up a couple of points. Rails perked up a bit toward the close, particularly in the low-priced sections. Sales totaled 4,548,549 shares.

Aside from the markets themselves, the financial day was rather uneventful. Fluctuations of dollar exchange, generally favoring our currency, were again ignored, though early firmness of sterling doubtless helped some commodities a little. Dutch guilders were conspicuously weak on revival of an old rumor that Holland was soon to leave gold.

Routine trade reports told of a lift in steel production to above 50 per cent, of a marked pickup in railroad earnings and a continued expansion in freight movements. Chesapeake & Ohio and the St. Paul were among the large carriers reporting larger loadings for last week than a year ago.

Money markets exhibited no nervousness over the approach of July 1, a day of large settlements; however, seasonal flurries in interest charges have been absent for a long time and it would be surprising if the approaching date proved an exception to recent experience

Stocks.

An average advance of 2.2 points followed a rally inspired by soaring commodities. Implements, mail orders and provisions led the rise. Sales totaled 4,548,549 shares.

Bonds.

Improvement in freight loadings aided bonds in another advance. The average gain was three-tenths of a point on $13,518,000 sales. Utility issues headed the rise.

Curb.

High ground was captured again as the curb followed the Big Board in the upswing. Sales increased to 661,000 shares.

Wheat.

Possible Nation-wide crop shortage and weather reports caused wheat to approach the dollar mark. The gain was 7⅞ cents. Dealing at Chicago approximated 150,000,000 bushels. July wheat sold at 89⅜ cents. Corn and oats joined the sharp advance.

Cotton.

Prices soared more than $4 per bale, to new high levels for the season, with all months rising above 10 cents. October sold at 10.57; July, at 10.30. The upturn was attributed to trade demand. Consumption increased.

Rubber.

Sugar.

Raw sugar prices were unchanged at 3.40, with no offerings below 3.50. Refined was also unchanged at 4.60.

Coffee.

Silver.

Gold.

Bar gold sold in the United States at $20.67 per ounce; in London, at 122 shillings and 4 pence.

Dollar.

The United States dollar lost to the English pound. At the close it stood, with reference to other currencies, $4.24¼ to the English pound, 4.88½ to the French franc, and 29.50 to the German mark.

American Dollar's Career Marks History of Nation

New York, June 26 (A.P.).—No longer moored to gold, the American dollar—now tossing about chaotically in foreign exchange seas—has had a career more varied than the lives of most individuals.

The history of the dollar, in fact, is the story of the experimentation and stress of a young country grappling with emergencies thrust upon it by basic social and economic changes.

Wall street economists who have been poring over the records, point out that the dollar was not legally born until passage of the first coinage act in 1792. This legislation established the government mint, and gold and silver dollars of a specified weight and value came into existence.

But up to that time currency developments were characterized largely by convenience and necessity rather than stability. The Mayflower adventurers and their children, occupied in the stern business of carving out a new civilization in pioneer territory, used British currency for many years.

When the Revolutionary War needed financing, continental bills of credit were issued to the extent of almost a quarter billion dollars. Here was unadulaterated fiat money, without metal backing of any kind. A painful process of redemption was begun in 1780, and shortly thereafter 400 old bills were redeemed for one new one.

A decade later the national debt was funded, old paper still outstanding was accepted at the rate of 100 for 1, and the dollar was legally christened.

While the records show many important changes in the position of the dollar in subsequent years, the most exciting episode, up to the present, was during the Civil War period, in the opinion of financial historians.

In fact, the present discount of around 20 per cent from parity is small in comparison with the dollar's downward plunges during and immediately following the Civil War, money students maintain.

CURB MARKET AGAIN ENTERS HIGH GROUND

New York, June 26 (A.P.).—The curb market followed the lead of the big board today, and moved into higher ground. Closing quotations were around the best for the day, with advances ranging from 1 to more than 5 points.

Deere & Co. rose more than 5 points in active dealings on the sweeping advance in wheat prices. Montgomery Ward "A" spurted more than 3 points. Aluminum Company of America added 5½ points while a similar advance was recorded by Hazel Atlas Glass.

Commodity groups were well favored, oils and metal shares closing with gains of 1 to more than 3 points, respectively, for Electric Bond & Share and Commonwealth Edison. Columbia Gas & Electric preferred soared more than 8 points.

Among specialties closing with substantial gains were Armstrong Cork, Parke Davis, Hiram Walker and General Tire & Rubber. Transfers approximated 661,000 shares compared with 493,000 last Friday.

Stock of New York City Banks Continue Gains

Special to The Washington Post.

The aggregate value of the 16 leading issues, as compiled by Hoyt, Rose & Troster, ended the week at $1,608,549,000, compared with $1,572,966,000 at the close of the previous week, an increase of $35,583,000, or 2.3 per cent. The low point for the year to date, namely $1,065,746,000, was recorded on April 5.

The average yield of the 16 stocks is now 4.87 per cent compared with a yield of 4.98 per cent, reported on June 16. The current market value of the 16 stocks is now 1.20 times their known book value against 1.18 on June 16. Based upon current figures the 16 stocks are now quoted at an average of 11.8 times their known earnings against 11.5 on June 16.

Wall St. Briefs

New York, June 26 (A.P.).—Last week's freight loadings on the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul Pacific System totaled 24,747 cars, compared with 24,274 in the preceding week and 20,093 in the like 1932 period.

Most of the railroads which undertook refunding operations to meet 1933 bond maturities have been successful in making their plans operative, and, according to opinion in railroad bond circles, remaining operations of this character should be aided by the considerable rise in carrier bond prices since the upward movement got under way a few months ago.

Business failures in the United States last week totaled 373, the smallest since October, 1929, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., reported today. Defaults in the previous week numbered 396 and in the corresponding week last year 401. The agency comments that "something more than the usual seasonal reduction is to be noted in the present trend of insolvencies."

Directors of American Can and Allied Chemical Companies are scheduled to meet for dividend action this week. Others on the list include Pacific Lighting, Firestone Tire, United Gas Improvement, Southern California Edison, and Hershey Chocolate.

Endicott Johnson Corporation, shoe manufacturer, reports net profit of $855,184 for the six months ended June 3, equal to $1.59 a common share. This compares with net loss of $4,580 for the corresponding period of 1932. Net sales for the six months of this year aggregated $18,765,537, against $21,277,634.

Favorable dividend changes in the week ended June 23 totaled 23, as compared with 19 in the previous week, reports Standard Statistics Co. There were 37 unfavorable revisions, an increase of 6.

INVESTMENT YIELDS SHOWN BY FIDELITY

Association Reveals Returns of Holdings; Loans and Bonds Lead.

By Thomas M. Cahill.

The annual report of Fidelity Investment Association, of which Howard Sutherland, formerly Alien Property Custodian, is president, reveals that at the end of 1932 investments consisted of $14,921,375 in bonds with an approximate yield of 4.96 per cent; $1,559,479 in stocks returning 2.89 per cent; loans to contract holders of $6,162,163, yielding 6.26 per cent; collateral loans of $1,031,855 with a return of 5.05 per cent and mortgage loans of $128,266 with a yield of 5.44 per cent.

"Credits to the various bonds and contracts in force," says the report, "were the largest in our history, amounting to $8,542,822.

"In order to meet the legal requirements of the State of New York, a subsidiary company—Fidel Association of New York, Inc.—was organized under the laws of the State of New York and began operation in June, 1932.

Officers Almost Identical.

"The officers and directors are virtually the same as those of the Fidelity Investment Association. Fidel issues a "collateral trust bond" which is guaranteed by the Fidelity Investment Association."

May sales of the International Business Machines Corporation, both foreign and domestic, were the best in 21 months, Thomas J. Watson.

WHEAT VALUES SOAR ON CROP'S OUTLOOK

Unparalleled Shortage Fear Aids Upturn; Corn and Oats Are Up.

Chicago, June 26 (A.P.).—Possible Nation-wide crop shortage unparalleled for half a century caused excited buying today that rushed wheat up 7⅜ cents to practically $1.00 a bushel.

Grain trading in Chicago approximated 150,000,000 bushels, a total never before reached here, even in war times. Today's prices for wheat were more than double those at the beginning of the year, about the lowest on record.

Chicago May delivery of wheat, officially quoted today for the first time this season, changed hands at 99¼ cents, and wheat available for immediate use commanded $1.00½ at Fort Worth, Tex.

Effects of Weather.

Three weeks of destructive drought and scorching temperatures of 100 degrees and above were virtually unrelieved today, and thousands of purchase orders for every kind of grain overwhelmed the speculative pits.

Wheat closed flurried at the topmost point reached, 6⅜ to 7⅜ cents above Saturday's finish; corn, 2¾ to 3½ cents up; oats, 4⅜ to 4¾ cents advanced, and provisions showing a rise of 7 to 45 cents.

With a leap of more than 3 cents in the first moment of trading all deliveries of wheat smashed high price records since 1930. Oats, rye, corn and barley likewise outdid season top quotations, barley almost equaling the sensational rise of wheat and netting a gain of 7⅛ cents a bushel before the day was ended. Oats jumped more than 5 cents, with corn and rye both up a maximum of more than 4 cents.

Damage Worst in History.

Crop damage in spring wheat territory northwest was reported to be the worst in the history of that region, and it was this circumstance following major crop losses in winter wheat districts, especially in the Southwest, which suggested a crop deficit not duplicated in 50 years.

For the time being, little attention was paid to the fact that even such a shortage is offset by the large carryover of domestic supplies of wheat from former years. Some rains in Canada and in parts of the American Northwest were also disregarded by many traders, who, not daunted by dollar wheat, pointed out that in 1926, the year used by Washington as a basis for commodity levels, July wheat in Chicago sold at $1.52.

Urgent need of rain and of cooler weather hoisted corn, oats and other cereals as well as wheat.

World Oil Conference Waits on Curbing Plan

Paris, June 26 (A.P.).—The international conference, scheduled to convene this month, has been delayed because of the desire to await developments in America regarding control of the production of independent interests.

An international oil authority said today it was felt that it would be useless to hold a meeting until it has been determined what measure of control finally would be worked out. It was understood that the Roumanians, who agreed to restrict output on condition that the production by American independents would be reduced, have denounced the agreement "in principle" but are provisionally abiding by it.

"The improvement was uniformly spread over the four major divisions of the company and geographically covered almost the whole world," Mr. Watson stated in an interview.

Resources of Investors Syndicate with local offices reached a new high in the 39-year history of the company, when they totaled $51,070,306 on May 31, as shown in the financial report released by E. M. Richardson, treasurer.

Five Months Increase.

This is an increase of $597,216 for the first five months of 1933, and of $2,414,766 over May 31, 1932. It compares with total assets of $30,444,904 as of September 30, 1929, the beginning of the depression period.

Liquid assets consisting of cash and securities totaled $8,079,684 as of May 31. This represents an improvement of $2,477,267 in liquid position for the 12 months period, after payment of $10,167,241 in maturities, loans and cash surrenders during the same period.

"Thrift certificate sales have shown a steady gain since shortly after the end of the bank holiday," said Mr. Richardson. "Our indications point to a steady improvement in general conditions for the balance of 1933."

Chairmen for standing committees of the District of Columbia Bankers Association for the new administrative year will be announced the first part of next week.

Dollar Wheat Appears First Time in 3 Years

Fort Worth, Tex., June 26 (A. P.).—Dollar wheat appeared on the Fort Worth grain market today for the first time in three years. Ten cars sold for Texas Gulf port and common point delivery at $1.00½ a bushel.

Pennsylvania Crude Oil Prices Boosted 10 Cents

Pittsburgh, June 26 (A.P.).—An increase of 10 cents a barrel in Pennsylvania grade crude oil was announced today by leading purchasing agencies.

Pennsylvania grade in southwest Pennsylvania lines, $1.27; Eureka, $1.22; Buckeye, $1.07; tidewater oil in New York transit lines, $1.57; Bradford District, $1.57.

Other grades unchanged.

U. S. TREASURY RECEIPTS.

(Associated Press.)

Treasury receipts for June 23 were $5,988,193.34; expenditures, $16,621,122.76; balance, $984,636,983.33. Customs duties for 23 days of June were $17,272,918.44.

U. S. Dollar Loses To British Pound

New York, June 26 (A.P.).—The American dollar rallied in some foreign exchange markets today but finished a trifle heavy in terms of the British pound sterling.

The pound generally followed a narrow range until late transactions, when it moved up for a gain of 2 cents, to $4.24½ for cables. Dutch guilders, on the other hand, were soft, losing .85 of a cent at 49 cents. French francs eased fractionally to 4.88½ cents and Belgian belgas and Swiss francs dropped 1-20 of a cent each. The Scandinavians were unchanged and German marks sagged .15 of a cent, to 29½ cents. The Canadian dollar firmed ¼ of a cent at 90½ cents.

The break in guilders was attributed partly to rumors that Holland might suspend the gold standard. Sir Henry Deterding, head of the Royal Dutch Shell Co., at the same time recommended that action be taken to place the guilders on a basis of 2½ to the dollar. The hesitation of the French currency was also in line with the theory that if Holland divorced gold and resorted to inflation, France would also have to abandon the gold base. The par of the guilder is 40.2 cents.

Business Reveals Vitality in New Climb to Prosperity

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, June 26.—In its weekly summary of the general business situation, the Standard Statistics Co., of New York, currently comments as follows:

"With the starting of the machinery provided by the public works legislation and the industrial recovery act, a new phase of the current economic program begins. From this time on, determined efforts will be made to provide a substantial basis for business revival in the diffusion of purchasing power and control of output, wages and competitive conditions. This will afford a welcome contrast to previous reliance on the depreciation of the dollar in foreign markets as proof that inflation is under way.

"'Business is showing great vitality, in spite of the approach of the seasonally dull period of July and August. There have been numerous minor setbacks in one line or another, but these have been followed promptly by a renewed pick-up. While a recession is yet possible during the hot weather, the upward movement has gained such momentum that the outlook for next autumn is distinctly reassuring. Increased buying in farming communities at that time would furnish further stimulus to activity.

"'Thus it is seen that the business outlook is preponderantly favorable, and that 'willingness to spend' constitutes a more potent influence at present than the basic uncertainties still existent."

Freight Loadings Gain In Southeast District

New York, June 26 (A.P.).—The Southeast Shippers Advisory Board today estimated that freight loadings in its section during the third quarter of 1933 would total 378,101 cars, an increase of 7.3 per cent over the 352,381 aggregate for the same period of 1932.

Chesapeake & Ohio Railway handled 29,855 cars of freight last week, compared with 28,461 in the previous week and 21,581 a year ago.

Warning Is Issued AgainstSpeculation

Des Moines, Iowa, June 26 (A.P.).—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace commenting on the spectacular rise of grain prices today warned against speculative markets and added that the purpose of Federal legislation was to bring higher prices to the producer rather than the speculator.

"The trouble with speculative markets," he said, "is that a good rain can break a market just as rapidly as a drought scare can run it up. It is our job to adjust production and prices so that the farmers can realize better prices not only this year but next year as well."

There is little chance of surplus production of wheat this year, Secretary Wallace said, and added that the only course of action to be taken in planning acreage reduction is to concentrate on the 1934 production.

"Nature has kindly taken a hand in the administration of the farm act in 1933," he said. "It is true that wheat production now promises to fall below the domestic needs for this year, but with a carryover of 350,000,000 bushels, the country is in no danger of a wheat shortage for several years." Secretary Wallace said the corn crop in Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio appeared backward, while it was in fine shape in Minnesota and fair in Iowa. He stopped here en route to Kansas City, where details of the wheat plan are being worked out under direction of H. L. Wilson, administrator of the wheat division of the far mact.

Hop Prices Steady.

New York, June 26 (A.P.).—Hops steady; Pacific Coast, 1932, prime to choice, 78@80; medium to prime, 76@78; 1931, prime to choice, 69@71; medium to prime, 67@69.

Chileans Forced to Kill Sheep Only for Tallow

Magallanes, Chile, June 26 (A. P.).—British restrictions on meat importations have forced Chilean ranchers to slaughter 225,000 sheep, from which the only marketable product they obtained was tallow.

Ordinarily almost all the sheep raised in this region are exported to England. Meat importations into the United Kingdom from non-empire sources were restricted in the Ottawa trade agreements.

COTTON PRICES RISE TO NEW HIGH LEVELS

October Sells at 10.57, With the General Market Up 83 to 85 Points.

New York, June 26 (A.P.).—Cotton soared more than $4 a bale today to new high levels for the season, with all months rising above the 10-cent level.

Buying was stimulated by preliminary reports of favorable response to the Government's cotton acreage reduction campaign, which opened in the South today. October contracts closed at 10.57, with the general market closing strong at net advances of 83 to 85 points.

The market started 14 to 22 points higher in sympathy with firm Liverpool cables and expectations that Southern growers would cooperate in reducing cotton acreage by 25 per cent or more through the signing of cotton option benefit contracts offered by the Secretary of Agriculture through the agricultural adjustment administration.

Demand Laid to Trade.

Demand was attributed to domestic and foreign trade account, including Liverpool, the continent, as well as the Far East, while there was also active speculative buying through commission and Wall street houses.

This buying was unusually active and readily absorbed rather limited offerings from the South as well as liquidation in advance of first July notice day tomorrow.

The highest levels were established in the last few minutes of trading with July selling up from 9.57 to 10.30 and December from 10.07 to 10.77 or to net gains of 84 to 88 points. Final prices were within a few points of the best.

There was no relief from dry conditions in the Southwest which were further aggravated by high temperatures. Exports today 17,044, making 7,743,135 so far this season. Port receipts 10,239. U. S. port stocks 3,547,982.

The New York Cotton Exchange service reported May world's consumption of American cotton of 1,284,000 bales against 1,110,000 during April and the largest in any month since October, 1929. The ten months' total was 11,555,000 against 10,528,000 last year. Liverpool cables attributed firmness to speculative and Bombay buying with offerings light.

Midwest Plans Wheat Allotment

Kansas City, June 26 (A.P.).—Details of the application of the domestic allotment plan to the wheat raising section of the Middle West were under consideration here today in the first of a series of conferences between farm leaders and Government officials.

Representatives of nine States were to confer with M. L. Wilson, wheat production administrator and sponsor of the domestic allotment plan, and his assistants. Among the major questions for discussion during the two-day conference are those pertaining to the amount of processing tax to be assessed, the basis for settling the quota of acreage reduction and allotment in each State, and the amount of reduction to be asked from the farmers.

States represented are Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming, Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico.

TRADE TRENDS.

(Associated Press.)

Cotton goods—Buyers seeking spot or nearby deliveries on certain wide gray constructions, are said to be finding it difficult to make contracts. There is said to be a fairly free supply through August except on special widths and weights.

Structural steel—May bookings were the lowest for any month during the depression, but shipments showed a slight increase, according to the American Institute of Steel Construction.

Paper—Trade reports say that many boxboard mills are operating at capacity and that prices continue on an advancing trend. Further price advances have been reported on certain classes of fine papers.

Wool—Receipts of domestic wool at Boston last week were 9,532,500 pounds, compared with 4,450,000 in the previous week. Total receipts for the year to date were 87,694,900, against 53,629,300 pounds for the corresponding period last year.

Plumbing industry—The slight betterment in the demand for plumbing supplies since April marks the first check to a four-year downward trend, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., reports. Brewing and beer-dispensing requirements gave the strongest impetus to the industrial demand, the agency said.

PERMANENT PEGGING OF DOLLAR STUDIED

New York Bank Explains Two Kinds of Money Stabilization.

New York, June 26 (A.P.).—The sort of "de facto" stabilization of currencies that was originally discussed at the London Economic Conference is not the same as a definite and permanent stabilization on a gold standard, the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York says in its current economic review.

Such a development would not necessarily involve a resumption of gold payments, even on a restricted basis, the bank explains.

Process of Pegging.

Discussing this subject in detail, the survey continues:

"This process is usually known as pegging. Great Britain pegged the exchange value of the pound sterling during the World War; and a somewhat similar procedure has been followed since the abandonment of the British gold standard in 1931, although in the present case the object of the exchange equalization fund has been not to maintain a fixed exchange ratio, but merely to avoid unnecessarily violent fluctuations in rates."

Any world-wide agreement for tariff reduction must be accompanied by a world-wide agreement for stabilization, the bank maintains, and the latter must involve either a universal acceptance of the gold standard or a universal abandonment of it.

Analyzing the "limiting factors in recovery," the survey says:

"The most disquieting question at the moment concerns the permanent validity of the higher price level that has come about in response to the expectation of inflationary measures.

Ability to Stimulate.

"Another is the ability of the Government to stimulate, coordinate and regulate the country's vast and intricate economic machinery without falling victim either to the sheer complexity of its task or to the terrific political pressure that will inevitably be brought to bear upon it by special interests.

"A third is the ability of capital to find investment outlets in the face of impending currency manipulation, severe regulation of security flotations, heavy taxation and the blows that have recently been struck at the principle of sanctity of contracts. A fourth is the possible outcome of the experiment in bank-deposit guaranty, which, in the opinion of most bankers and in the light of experience, does not tend to promote sound banking."

World's Fair Boon To Railway Lines

Chicago, June 26 (A.P.).—The world's fair is proving a boon to transportation lines. Executives announce heavy passenger gains and thousands of workers reemployed during the first months of the fair.

The New York Central announced 5,000 men had been employed between New York and Chicago. The Great Lakes Transit Co., restoring two steamships to service, put 1,000 men on the pay roll.

The Pennsylvania Railroad said it used 23 extra sections on trains in and out of Chicago during the week-end. Other lines to report increased business were the Baltimore & Ohio, the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, the Chicago, Duluth & Georgian Bay Steamship Co., and the Chicago & North Western, which announced an 80 per cent jump in business the first three weeks of June, as compared with the like period in May.

Better business also was observed by airplanes.

Australia to Fight U.S. Wheat Curbing

Melbourne, Australia, June 26 (A. P.).—Indications today pointed to a united front of Australian States against the American wheat acreage reduction proposal, Reuters (British) News Agency advices stated.

New South Wales, South Australia and West Australia are definitely opposed to the curtailment project, these reports asserted. It was said Victoria and Queensland may take a similar stand.

London, June 26 (A.P.).—Action on the wheat acreage reduction plan was deferred indefinitely today when it developed that Stanley M. Bruce, Australian delegate, was unable to associate himself with a restriction scheme.

Dispatches from Australia, indicating the growth of opposition there, further intensified anxiety in American quarters that the project, which had seemed on the verge of adoption, might either fall through or be further delayed.

The present plan is to hold a meeting in the morning of the "Big Four" conferees, representing the United States, Canada, Australia and Argentina. It is believed that Mr. Bruce's instructions will be complete at that time.

Rails Claim Lead In Stopping Waste

Chicago, June 26 (A.P.).—Railroads have shown greater progress in eliminating waste and promoting efficiency than any other industry, R. H. Aishton, chairman of the Association of Railway Executives, told the American Society of Mechanical Engineers today.

"I assert without hesitation," Mr. Aishton said, "that more efficient and economical operation, the result of research and mechanical improvement, is all that has saved the railways from extinction during this period."

Taking the unit costs of railway operation as a basis, Aishton said, the 1929 operating expenses of the country's railroads would have been $1,212,000,000 greater in that year than they actually were, if the unit cost had remained the same as it was in 1920. Aishton paid tribute to the part mechanical engineers had played in reducing the unit costs.

GOODS MARKET.

New York, June 26 (A.P.).—Cotton cloth markets were strong and active today, print cloths selling at new high prices. Fine cotton goods were steady. Rayon cloths were in good demand. Burlap was steady. Wool goods were scarce and in brisk demand. Silk values were higher.

AUSTRIA WILL REPEL RAIDING NAZI PLANES

Vienna, June 26 (A.P.).—Austria's military fliers are ready to take the air against German propaganda planes, Karl Vaugoin, minister of war, told a gathering of Catholic youth at Linz today.

Referring to a mystery plane which scattered leaflets over Linz last week warning that a "new fight" will be made against the government of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss by the recently outlawed Nazi party, the war minister declared.

"I have stationed military fliers at the Vienna, Innsbruck, Salzburg and Linz airports so that we will be able to take a closer look at such airplanes in the future.

"Fortunately, even the slenderness of our army budget has not prevented our maintaining a flying corps."

Inasmuch as the treaty of St. Germain forbids Austrian military planes, Vaugoin's pilots would necessarily employ civil aircraft in case of emergency.

The newspaper Stunde, however, points out that Austria recently drew attention at the World Disarmament Conference to the desirability of revision of the treaty's air force provisions and expressed the opinion that the present Austro-German situation is convincing the powers that Austria must be given a fleet of fighting planes. It suggested that a beginning be made with 75 planes, similar to Switzerland.

An unidentified person today attempted to dynamite the electric power line on which Vienna is largely dependent. Explosives were placed under a steel mast near Pottenstein, but they caused only slight damage.

Noisy, but comparatively harmless, bombings also were reported in other sections. In Carinthia additional telephone lines were cut and in various cities last night progovernment political meetings were attacked with tear gas.

Forestry Worker Clawed by Bear

Thompson Falls, Mont., June 26 (A.P.).—Pawed by a big black bear and wounded by a bullet fired at the animal by a rescuer, George Anderson, of Missoula, a member of the Civilian Conservation Corps, was in a serious condition here today.

Anderson was tramping in the timber 8 miles from camp yesterday when the bear rushed him. He attempted to protect himself with a club, but the bear pawed the weapon out of his hands and grappled with him.

Two Regular Army enlisted men who came upon the scene rushed to Anderson's rescue, but when the bear closed in Sergt. Hardiman was compelled to fire at close range and one of the bullets passed through the animal and then wounded Anderson in the side. The second shot killed the bear.

Thief Spoils Dog's Credit at Grocery

Liberty, Mo., June 26 (A.P.).—Pence Burke's 5-year-old pointer dog, Dick, has lost credit rating at the corner grocery. Burke used to write an order for dog meat, place it in a sack and send Dick to the store with it. The order would be filled, Dick would seize the sack and return with his meal.

However, a villain, unidentfied, learned of the trips and stopped the unsuspecting dog one day. He added butter, lard and other items to the order. The grocer filled that, too. Naturally, Dick, heavy laden, did not object to being halted again and relieved of part of the load on his way home.

Burke learned of it when he got a dog meat bill for $1.85 in place of the customary 35 or 40 cents. Now when Dick goes to the store he carries a nickel in the sack.

6,000 Rotarians Attend Convention

Boston, June 26 (A.P.).—The twenty-fourth annual convention of Rotary International met here today amid gala scenes in Mechanics Building, one of New England's largest public buildings.

It was welcomed to Massachusetts by Gov. B. Ely, heard Paul P. Harris, father of Rotary, declare that "the friendships of men of many countries have made me more than a millionaire," and then plunged into serious business session, with President Clinton P. Anderson, of Albuquerque, N. Mex., who presented an account of his stewardship.

Early figures showed more than 6,000 registrations.

Lowliest Group Named By London Conference

London, June 26 (A.P.).—A great-great-grandchild was born today to the world monetary and economic conference. It bears the name "The Sub-Sub-Sub-Committee on Limitation of Sales."

The principal offspring of the conference are the economics commission and the monetary commission. Of the subordinate groups which have been formed the one appointed today is the lowliest.

ABOUT THE SHOW SHOPS

With Nelson B. Bell

ONE of the early week's joyous additions to these wistful paragraphs is to the effect that Master Jackie Cooper, probably at the moment the American screen's most famous child actor, who was teamed with Wallace Beery in Frances Marion's lachrymose and largely unforgettable fable of "The Champ," will appear again with Beery in "The Bowery," which Joseph M. Schenck and Darryl Zanuck are putting into production as their first Twentieth Century picture, for release through United Artists.

Jackie Cooper.

If "The Bowery" should turn out to be the overwhelming success everyone connected with its production expects it to be, it will afford an almost unprecedented example of a new company's basking in a purely borrowed glory.

Jackie Cooper is being borrowed from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for the role of Swipes, the newsboy pal of Beery, who will appear as Chuck Connors, the "Mayor of Chinatown." George Raft, likewise, will be borrowed from Paramount for the role of Steve Brodie, the gentleman who made a name for himself by leaping off the Brooklyn Bridge without benefit of parachute, vice Clark Gable, who also was to have been borrowed, declared by the medicos to be too ill to undertake the assignment. Raoul Walsh will direct "The Bowery," having been borrowed from Fox for that purpose. It is understood that United Artists will furnish their own celluloid!

In "The Champ," Beery and Jackie Cooper comprised one of the most popular combinations ever brought together in a photoplay and earned tremendous dividends at the box-office. Reliance is being placed in the theory that history will repeat itself in the case of their latest professional association.

"The Bowery," with its colorful story of comparatively early Manhattan history, will be the bell-wether among the Twentieth Century productions to go into work this summer, July 1 being set as the tentative date to begin turning the crank on it.

These forecasts of coming events in the theater are not always the safest things in the world in which to impose confidence. For instance, already the list of playwriting activities emblazoned in this space yesterday morning is being laid liable to drastic modifications.

It is in connection with S. N. Behrman's "Love Story" that the principal discrepancy arises. Mr. Behrman, it seems, has decided to emulate Paul Green as a scribbler for the cinema in Hollywood's opulent pastures, Mme. Nazimova is reported to have experienced a sudden cooling of her enthusiasm over the stellar role in the piece, and the present outlook, as a result, has resolved itself virtually into a certainty that "Love Story" will not be one of September's luminous offerings.

Eleanore Wilson, our charming and highly esteemed afternoon contemporary, it becomes known to this column, will relinquish the dramatic editorship of the Washington Daily News within the fortnight to devote her entire time to magazine writing and the completion of what her friends would be happy to see eventuate into the great American novel.

Miss Wilson, in private life Mrs. Frank Smith, will be succeeded as drama editor and critic on the News by Don Craig, who heretofore has conducted the radio column on the same journal. Mr. Craig should find the transition an easy one. Welcome, brother—can you spare a dime?

By Miss Wilson's dedication of her generous talents to another field of writing, Washington's critical fraternity—which has been two-fifths sorority for many months now—loses an enthusiastic and conscientious observer of the passing show and a commentator of humor and cogency. I shall miss her, sitting two rows ahead there in C-1 and 3 on first nights.

Vale, Eleanore, best wishes and a world of luck!

A friendly postcard from Col. William Harryman Rapley, owner of the National Theater and the dean of Washington managers, rusticating on the shores of Lake Spofford, N. H., reveals the white-clad figure of the Capital's best-known theater man standing proudly before the spacious portals of Rapley Lodge, obviously unharrassed by anxiety, excessive heat, poison ivy or mosquitoes, just as we hoped he would be when he departed these humid Potomac precincts a week ago. Rapley Lodge appears to be, roughly, about the size of Old Faithful Inn out in Yellowstone! I can think of no one more entitled to its rambling glories.

Katharine Cornell, who lacks only a few votes, if any, for the nomination as first lady of the American theater, and who was the first actress-producer to promise to present a play in Chicago during the Century of Progress World Fair, has attracted such crowds to the Harris Theater in that city—according to Ray Henderson, her erudite publicist, who still seems to be operating from the Belasco Theater in New York—that she has been forced for the second time to extend her engagement there in Sidney Howard's "Alien Corn."

Miss Cornell announces the present extension of the run as positively the last and that she will end her Chicago season on July 1, in order to secure a brief period of rest before beginning work on her repertory program and her long tour for next season.

As was the case with "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," but unhappily not with "Lucrece," it is evident that she could continue her World's Fair run indefinitely, as night after night the Harris has been sold out to the last seat, including extra chairs placed in the orchestra pit.

Among others of Mr. Henderson's communications is the note stating that Guthrie McClintic, theatrical producer, returning from his European travels, reports that in Budapest he saw Rudolf Besier's "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," acted in this country with sensational success by his wife, Miss Cornell.

Gizi Bajor, Europe's most brilliant comedienne, was seen as Elizabeth and out-sirened Hollywood in the character of the English poetess. She wooed with more than a dash of the Hungarian national condiment, paprika, a fat Robert Browning. Flush was impersonated by a dachshund with a pink bow on his neck!

The romance was not a success in Hungary!

The divergence of opinion with regard to the ideal actress to assume the role of Alice in Paramount's forthcoming production of Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland" continues to rage and, I should think, add to the perplexity of those who eventually will be confronted with the necessity of making a decision that will satisfy the greatest possible number of people.

As a typical example of the contradictory suggestions that are coming in in response to Emanuel Cohen's cry for aid, Margaret N. Windom confides, "Janet Gaynor is my choice for an 'Alice in Wonderland,'" while on the same mail comes a note from Ellen V. Sobotka, 816 Somerset place, which, after remarking that "Bette Davis might do in a pinch," continues to say: "While I can think of no one who would fit the part to perfection, I can name many who just would not do. Chiefest among these are Marion Davies, Janet Gaynor and Marion Nixon."

Dorothea Lewis, of The Post's reviewing staff, agrees with Clifford Brooke that Helen Chandler should be Alice.

A surprisingly unanimous conviction seems to prevail that it should not be Mary Pickford, and Miss Isabelle M. Parks, after coinciding with that view, believes that "with the general feeling that she should be ingenuous, young, innocent (at least in appearance) and sweet without being nauseating, I would cast my vote unhesitatingly for the ingratiating Ruby Keeler."

And that's the way it goes and why I'm glad I am not Mr. Cohen!

Jimmie Walker, whom you may remember vaguely as a former mayor of Greater New York, should make a point of seeing Paramount's picturization of Zane Grey's "Sunset Pass," now at the Columbia, when—and if—it reaches the Riviera. In one of the early saloon-dancehall scenes, a buxom blonde stands athwart a jangly piano and sings "Will You Love Me in December as You Do in May?" one of the indiscretions of Hizzoner's song-writing days that still stands as a black mark against his name!

And why, also in "Sunset Pass," should the Half-Moon Ranch have a slender crescent hanging over the front gate as a mark of identification? Henry Hathaway, the director, one would guess, hath a way of ignoring minor details such as this.

As was prophesized in this spot when the picturization of the story was first broached, "Jennie Gerhardt" already is falling afoul of the censors. It has been decided that it may be shown in Massachusetts, but when it is, it will be different from the original prints by many deletions.

It is the presumption that when inquiry was made if the distributor could bring the film within the requirements of the State censorship board, the reply was, "I'll Dreiser!"

COLUMBIA

"SUNSET PASS." Paramount picturization of the story by Zane Grey, featuring Randolph Scott, Tom Keene, Harry Carey and Kathleen Burke, with Noah Beery, Leila Bennett and Fuzzy Knight. Directed by Henry Hathaway. Reviewed Monday morning.

Cattle rustlers, renegade ranchers, a beautiful girl, a disguised Government agent, a little barroom humor, quick draws, sudden deaths, hard riding, magnificent scenic background, the triumph of right—it all sounds like a very conventional, meaning blood-and-thunder. Western melodrama, yet there is a quality of excellence about this Zane Grey adaptation that sets it distinctly apart from the usual six-gun "horse opera."

Paramount has taken seriously the fundamental virtues of one of the most soundly constructed of the Grey fictions and by careful casting, intelligent direction and expert photography has converted a melodrama of vigor, virility and sometimes violence into an entertainment that will appeal to a public a trifle more inclusive than the mere thrill-seekers, the "wild western" addicts and the wide-eyed youngsters who still dream of stalking Indians and toting a cannon on each hip!

"Sunset Pass," of course, adheres with some tenacity to a familiar formula. Its climax and denouement are discernible to the seasoned picturegoer from as early as the second reel. It pretends to no subtlety either in plot movement or characterization and compounds no false suspense.

What it does do, however, is present a series of exciting episodes, effectively leavened with a broad vein of comedy, that add up into an hour and a half of vivid action, pictorial splendor and wholesome and enjoyable entertainment.

In the field of outdoor drama, "Sunset Pass" may lay some authentic claim to being an all-star production. In its pivotal roles are Randolph Scott, a leading man of steadily growing importance; Tom Keene, a clean-cut young fellow molded to a hero's ideal dimensions; Kathleen Burke, who, in time, will outgrow her pseudonym of "tiger girl;" Harry Carey, Noah Beery, George Barbier, Leila Bennett, Fuzzy Knight and Charles Middleton.

The comedy reposes in the capable hands of Miss Bennett and Mr. Knight, as a bunk-house slavey and guitar-playing Romeo, respectively, with Vince Barnett assisting mildly in the role of a playful bartender.

The supplementary attractions are not uniformly up to the level of the feature. "The Cougar's Mistake," one of Educational's expositions of the prowess of the Western hound and the ill luck of an unhappy wild cat, and the Paramount Sound News are engaging subjects, but I regret to report that "A Pair of Socks," a purported comedy in which Moran & Mack, the "Two Black Crows," go in for pugilism in a grotesque way, must be numbered among the cinema's fatal and incomprehensible blunders!

SLAIN MORE OFTEN VICTIMS OF FRIENDS

But Thefts Are Usually Dealt to Strangers, Scientists Hear at Chicago.

Chicago, June 26 (A.P.).—People are more likely to kill their neighbors and acquaintances than anybody else, but usually steal from total strangers, the American Association for the Advancement of Science was told today.

That was one general conclusion drawn from a study of crime conditions in a large city by Prof. R. Clyde White at the University of Indiana. The reason for it is that people are most likely to have quarrels leading to assault or murder with others close at hand. Such crimes are not reasoned out in advance. Robberies, however, are planned beforehand and there is less risk in robbing a stranger.

The number of both crimes and criminals in a city decreased steadily outward from the business center, Prof. White found. He made his study in Indianapolis, but said the findings probably were applicable to any large American city.

Police departments he urged should make such "crime censuses" in every city as a guide to proper distribution of policemen, patrol cars and other law-enforcing agencies.

In Indianapolis, Prof. White's study showed, there were 76 felonies committed and 50 felons convicted of crimes for each square mile of a zone 1 mile in radius around the business center of the city in a year. In the same year, however, in a zone 1 mile wide, but 5 miles from the city's business center, there were only 3.7 felonies per square mile and 2 felons convicted.

Rates for other mile-wide zones per square mile were: Second zone out from center, 20 convictions, 14.8 crimes; third zone, 8.2 convictions, 7.6 crimes; fourth zone, 3.5 convictions, 5.3 crimes. There was a similar decreasing ratio of misdemeanors or minor crimes in the zones progressing outward.

Christgau Will Be Aid On Farm Administration

(Associated Press.)

Former Representative Victor Christgau (Republican), Minnesota, will become an assistant to Chester C. Davis, director of production for administrators of the farm act. Christgau's appointment will be announced formally in a few days.

He assumed a part of his duties yesterday by representing Davis at a conference of the dairy industry, and in an address said administrators would seek to keep out of dairy production any land which by contract with the Government was removed from the production of other basic farm commodities.

200 Sugar Chiefs Meet Here Today

(Associated Press.)

Nearly 200 representatives of the sugar industry today will seek a solution of the low price and over-production problems through exploration of the possibilities of applying the trade agreement provisions of the farm act to sugar producing.

In addition to domestic cane and beet producers and refiners, representatives of the industry in Hawaii, the Philippines, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Cuba were invited to take part in drafting a plan.

Dr. John Lee Coulter, a member of the tariff commission, will direct the efforts to work out an agreement, acting for administrators of the farm act. Representatives from outside of the continental United States were invited because this country has been dependent for a large portion of its sugar supply on outside sources.

4 Spanish Army Fliers Die in Plunge Into Sea

Barcelona, Spain, June 26 (A.P.).—Four army fliers were killed today when a military plane containing six passengers plunged into the sea near Playa Castell while making a test flight.

The victims were Capts. Juan Montes and Joaquin Argoly and Mechanics Antonio Lagos and a man known as Rodriguez. Torpedo boats rescued Lieut. Isnor and Private Isidro Velazques, both of whom were slightly injured.

$75,697,000 Treasury Subscriptions Accepted

(Associated Press.)

Acting Secretary Acheson of the Treasury last night announced that applications totaling $209,956,000 had been received upon tenders of $75,000,000 of 91-day Treasury bills offered June 22, and that $75,697,000 had been accepted at an average rate of 0.27 per cent per annum on a bank discount basis.

Weird Bugs

"Daddy Longlegs Carpet" Is Seen in Siam by Capital Scientist.

"Daddy Longlegs" with legs three inches long—a living carpet of them, which make the entire surface of the earth seem in motion. And when they pass over dried leaves they make a noise like falling raindrops.

No, you're wrong. This is not a tall story. Such a creature is reported to have been seen in the mountains of Northern Siam by Dr. Hugh M. Smith, fisheries adviser to the Siamese government and collaborator of the Smithsonian Institution, who is collecting zoological material for the institution.

PROHIBITION BUREAU CUTTING UNDER WAY

Furlough or Dismissal of 1,000 Employes Is New Forecast.

(Associated Press.)

As a forerunner of a complete reorganizaton of the Prohibition Bureau, probably to be announced today, Attorney General Cummings yesterday ordered Puerto Rico and Hawaii discontinued as separate districts of the bureau and split the Fifth District, embracing six Southern States, into two administrative units.

The Attorney General's move is expected to result in approximately 1,000 employes of the bureau being furloughed or dismissed, effective June 30. The order directed that the handling of prohibition enforcement in Hawaii, Puerto Rico and Alaska be left in the hands of the United States marshals in those Territories.

In splitting up the Fifth District, Texas and Louisiana were included in a new district known as the Thirteenth District, while Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Florida and Puerto Rico are left in what will still be known as the Fifth District.

The headquarters of the old Fifth District were in New Orleans. It was considered probable that Houston, Tex., would be made headquarters for the new Thirteenth District.

The reorganization to be announced today is designed to reduce the expense of the bureau 50 per cent. Congress appropriated $8,000,000 for prohibition enforcement during the next fiscal year. Director Dalrymple and Attorney General Cummings have decided, however that it can be operated on half that sum and have worked out a reorganization along that line.

The changes announced yesterday are expected to save $70,000 a year in rent and traveling expenses.

Every branch of the bureau's work will be cut sharply. A number of deputy administratorships will be left vacant. Most of the present administrators will be replaced.

The exact number of employes to be furloughed could not be ascertained. There are, however, in the service approximately 2,500 men and women. It is known that a personnel cut of around 40 per cent has been planned.

Creditors of Reich Insist on Interest

London, June 26 (A.P.).—American and Swiss long-term creditors of Germany were understood to have insisted at a discussion today that the Reich is capable of paying interest on long-term debts.

Germany faced 25 of the long-term creditors across the table today as Dr. Posse, director of the ministry of public economy, told the World Economic Conference that Germany could not abolish exchange restrictions on account of the constant necessity of defending the mark. This necessity, he continued, rendered it impossible to rescind exchange restrictions.

The conversations among the long-term creditors today were chiefly among those who wished to present a common front when Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank, faces the group tomorrow.

Friends to Start Hunt For Mattern by Plane

New York, June 26 (A.P.).—An air expedition in search of Jimmie Mattern, around-the-world flier, lost somewhere between Siberia and Alaska, will leave Floyd Bennett Airport Wednesday, it was announced today. The expedition will be composed of personal friends of the missing airman.

Sponsored by Irving Friedman, Brooklyn brewer, the expedition will fly to Nome, Alaska, and establish a base there from which an extensive search will be conducted. In addition to financing the expedition, Friedman has offered the fliers a reward of $5,000 if they bring Mattern back alive.

Robinson Lauds Democrats For Keeping Party Pledges

Senate Majority Leader Declares All Platform Promises Have Been Fulfilled or Are Nearing Completion; Sees Improvement in Business.

(Associated Press.)

Praising the administration for an "incomparable record" in fulfilling campaign promises, Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, said yesterday all the party's platform pledges either have been kept or "advanced to a stage which promises early ultimate results."

Reviewing the record of the administration and Congress, he said there were signs of "a decided improvement in business.

Heading the list was the pledge to cut Government expenditures 25 per cent, which he said had been accomplished by effecting annual savings of "about $1,000,000,000." This also fulfilled the promise to balance the budget, he asserted.

Robinson said Congress "made a record unparalleled for speed and effective action," and that he knew "of no other instance of equal cooperation by a legislative body with the executive.

"The Congress has not been a rubber stamp," he said. "The most obvious necessity of emergency legislation has been a speedy passport for its enactment, while other measures less urgent, or seemingly so, have been debated in considerable detail."

Among other pledges he claimed had been fulfilled were farm relief, Federal aid to the unemployed, spreading employment, development of water power, protection of the investing public and a firm foreign policy.

Commenting on the platform pledge for sound currency and an international monetary conference, he said:

"In the opinion of many, conditions which had not been anticipated by the previous administration made necessary the grant of extraordinary powers to the President with respect to the content of the gold dollar.

"Authorization for the issuance of Treasury notes secured by Government bonds and for the purchase by the Treasury of Government obligations is supported by numerous precedents.

"Manifestly, the platform declaration which declared for an international monetary conference to consider the rehabilitation of silver did not commit the administration to the obligation to maintain the gold standard in spite of the fact that nearly all other commercial nations of prominence might abandon it."

Commissioners Win Fight To Abandon Condemnation

The challenged authority of the District Commissioners to abandon condemnation proceedings once started was decided in the affirmative by the District Court of Appeals yesterday.

The Commissioners, desiring to erect a new building for Jefferson Junior High School, began proceedings to condemn a site belonging to Johnson & Wimsatt, Inc., in southwest Washington. The first jury gave the owners only $105,797.90 for their land and a rehearing brought the award up to $294,874.88, nearly three times the original amount.

The Commissioners consequently abandoned the project, and the owners sued to compel them to go through with the purchase. The appellate court held that a citizen would not have to complete a purchase that was not final, and it pointed out that the Commissioners, occupying a position of trust, ought not to be placed in such a situation that they would have to do something that would not be good business merely because of their position.

Soviet Recognition Is Urged by Rabbis

Milwaukee, Wis., June 26 (A.P.).—The central conference of American rabbis concluded its convention today by adopting a resolution favoring recognition of Soviet Russia by the United States.

Another resolution protested legislation hostile to the Catholic Church in foreign lands in recent years. Although not mentioning any nations by name, the resolution clearly referred to Mexico and Spain.

The vote on the resolution favoring Russian recognition came after spirited debate. Opponents said the rabbis, a religious group, ought not to favor recognition of a government which has shown itself hostile to all religions. The majority contended recognition would help to promote better relations between Russia and the United States.

FATAL PLANE TAKEN TO BASE AT NORFOLK

Norfolk, Va., June 26 (A.P.).—A complete wreck, its tail section hanging by threads and its engine gone, the bombing plane in which four men from Langley Field lost their lives when the craft crashed in James River, near Rushmere, Isle of Wight County, Saturday night, was brought to the Norfolk Naval operating base on the wrecking barge Mary Anne early tonight.

The bodies of three of the victims of the crash had previously been landed at Fort Eustis by the Mary Anne. The fourth body was not recovered. It was seen by the salvage crew on the wrecking barge, but floated away before it could be recovered, naval authorities here said.

Which of the bodies it was that floated away was not known by Navy men, who turned the three recovered over to authorities representing Langley Field. Those who lost their lives in the crash were:

Second Lieut. Lewis Horvath, Air Corps Reserve, a native of Honey Creek, Wis. Second Lieut. H. W. Mackelcan, Air Corps Reserve, a native of Baltimore. Private, first class, Charles C. Bayer, jr., aged 22, Forty-ninth Squadron, a native of Philadelphia. Private, first class, Albert C. Oliver, aged 33, Forty-ninth Squadron, a native of Smithfield, N. C.

Capt. A. W. Pitch, commandant of the Naval Air Station, declined to advance an opinion as to what caused the accident.

A board of inquiry named by Col. C. C. Culver, commanding Langley Field, will endeavor to ascertain the cause of the disaster.

Deadly Putting of Burke Saves Ryder Cup Golfers From Shutout in Britain

Americans Lose Two Matches and Win and Tie One.

By Frank H. King.

SOUTHPORT, England, June 26 (A.P.).—Thanks largely to the heroic putting of a player who was almost left off the team—Bill Burke, one-time Connecticut ironworker—the United States averted a rout today at the hands of British professional golfers in the foursomes of the Ryder Cup competition.

As a result of their fighting finish, the Americans captured one of the four two-ball or

His Manager Says Primo Is Cinch

Meanwhile, Foes in Thursday's Battle Pound Away.

By Edward J. Neil.

NEW YORK, June 26 (A.P.).—All the familiar trappings of bygone heavyweight successes flapped about the scene today as Champion Jack Sharkey and Challenger Primo Carnera punched merrily away in their training camps, almost ready now for 15-long rounds in the Madison Square Garden Bowl Thursday night.

The ballyhoo blew torridly across the champion's testing grounds at Orangeburg, N. Y., where the camp followers are still recovering from a breathless week-end, Sharkey's 400-mile drive to Boston and back Saturday, and the letters threatening to kidnap his children that sent him on the frantic dash.

Friedman Causes Excitement.

Today it was "Good Time" Walter Friedman, resonant dresser, international wanderer and one of the many managers of Carnera, who caused the excitement. He sneaked into the champion's workout, disguised as a ghost in a cloud of smoke from a fine 5-cent cigar and issued forth after the workout with the following statement for the press:

"That Sharkey looks like a big bum. It was the worst exhibition of supposedly championship boxing that I've ever seen. If Carnera doesn't knock him out in eight rounds, I'll retire him to the nearest circus. Carnera will win in a walk."

An antidote was administered immediately by Hans Birkie, rugged German heavyweight, who went ten close rounds with Carnera last summer and who now is sparring with Sharkey. The champion boxed three rounds today, two with Birkie and one with Chester Matan.

Birkie Predicts K. O. by Sharkey.

"Jack is a clever man," said Birkie, thoughtfully. "You can't hit him the same punch more than once. He is too fast, has too many methods of getting under the Italian's left hand to make Primo's only means of defense effective. Jack should win easily. He should really knock Carnera out."

This statement was considered all the more remarkable because of the fact the German speaks little English.

Meanwhile Carnera, at his training camp at Pompton Lakes, took his first workout of the day in the manner of an established champion. He sparred with the law for a couple of hours, answering a referee in bankruptcy who has his finances in charge. Chief among Carnera's debits is a $14,890 judgment Miss Emelia Tersini was awarded in a breach of promise suit in London.

Then Carnera still had energy enough to box briskly two rounds with Harold Mays, three with Arthur Huttick, and one with a heavy bag.

Despite the excitement business has been slow at the ticket windows. Estimates of the advance sale, with ringside seats priced at $15, vary, but predictions are the gate will not exceed the $240,000 taken in by Jack Dempsey with his Max Baer-Max Schmeling battle. There will be no broadcast. Sharkey remains a 6-to-5 favorite.

The Garden announced today there had been 2,000 applications for the job of announcing the fight, Joe Humphreys, standby for years, being ill. In addition to a small sum of money, the announcer views the proceedings free. The work has been assigned to Harry Balough, veteran of much yelling in the armories.

Three Reasons Why Sharkey Rushed Home

Horn Stopped By Godwin In Second

Invader Outclassed; Bowen, Koshover, Bullock Win.

By Lewis F. Atchison.

CHARLES (TRADER) HORN flaunted his five-bout winning streak in the face of Bob Godwin at Twin City Arena last night and promptly had it snapped. The aggressive Southerner knocked the youngster from Gotham flat on his back after 47 seconds of fighting in the second of their scheduled ten-round bout, feature of the initial show at the Laurel punch bowl.

While he was being counted out and afterward, there was much talk of Horn taking a "dive" and quitting. Many of the 1,200 fans in attendance booed his performance, but the razzberry they hurled at the kid was unjustified. It was a legitimate kayo.

Godwin felt out his opponent in the first round, evidently decided he was an easy foil, and swarmed over him in the second with a devastating two-fisted attack that drove Horn over near his own corner and finally onto the floor.

A right to the head, a left that opened up a slight cut on Trader's left eye, followed by a short but effective left to the pit of the stomach finished the youngster. He withered before the Southerner's blows, crumpled to a sitting position and fell over on his back.

"Don't you quit," Referee Ed Brockman screamed in Horn's ear as he lay writhing on the canvas. Horn's seconds and Godwin carried him to his corner where he sat in a daze for a few minutes. Back in the dressing room, his face was swollen and bruised where Godwin had caught him with the final blows.

Ray Howen won a decisive victory over George Harmon in the six-round semifinal, which was put on after the main go because of threatening weather. The Mohawk gent was entirely too clever for his awkward opponent and several times had him on the verge of a knockout.

Harmon was a tough hombre, but he couldn't crack a cream puff. He swung a pair of stiff arms in the fashion of closing gates and Bowen spent six rounds ducking inside and playing on his ribs like a xylophone.

The Winners—

Bill Bennings, The Post's exclusive handicapper, began his stay at Arlington Park yesterday with five straight winners. From the second race to the sixth, his first selection romped to the finish ahead of the field. After Essie Wessie, his second choice, won the opener, Bennings had Etcetera, $9.02; Twisted Threads, $5.68; Rush Hour, $4.36; Indian Runner, $9.84, and Springsteel, $9.40. Bennings' live racing column, At The Post, is a daily feature of The Post's sports pages.

Cleveland Scribe Rates Nats Best Team in Majors

Special to The Washington Post.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 26.—High praise for the Washington ball club and Manager Joe Cronin was sounded today by Ed Bang, veteran sports editor of the Cleveland News, who wrote in his daily column:

"I saw a great ball club yesterday, the best in the American League and probably the superior of any in the National, as well. I am referring to the Washington Senators.

"I had not watched them previously this season, but I am here to tell you that Joe Cronin is piloting the best-looking club I have seen in the majors in several years. Those 9-to-0 and 10-to-1 victories over the Indians yesterday made it fourteen victories in the last fifteen games for them. That's playing ball in anybody's league. No wonder they are at the top of the heap. They belong there, and something will have to go decidedly awry with their machinery if they are nosed out of the pennant.

"I am not trying to take one iota of credit away from Joe Cronin as manager, for he certainly has his boys inspired and up on their toes all the time, but the thought came to me yesterday that it must be a cinch for a man to manage a ball club like the Senators."

Ossie Bluege Singles in Winning Tally in Eighth Inning.

By Shirley L. Povich
(Sports Editor of The Post).

MUNICIPAL STADIUM, Cleveland, Ohio, June 26. The Nats put two and two together this afternoon and won their eighth straight ball game, 4 runs to 3.

Their winning streak collided again with the losing streak of the Cleveland Indians and again neither was fractured, although for several innings it appeared as though the Nats were in for a fine old tomahawking. They escaped with their scalps in both the eighth and ninth innings by the proverbial skin of their molars and tonight are resting comfortably two full games ahead of the idle Yankees.

Johnson Sad, as Hildebrand Is Pounded.

Chief Walter Johnson of the Tribe stood by, a disconsolate figure on the first base coaching lines, as the Nats ambushed his pitching prize, Oral Hildebrand, in the eighth inning for the two runs that won the ball game after the contest seemingly belonged to the Indians by a 3-2 score.

It seems that the Tribe has now lost six straight.

But before the Nats could call the game their own they had to send reenforcements out to protect Al Crowder's lead in the eighth inning. Jack Russell got the job and did it well despite a tolerably rough voyage in the ninth, when the Indians had both the tying and winning runs on base.

Joe Kuhel, a Cleveland boy who has made good in the Nation's Capital, performed for the home folks today. He put the first two runs of the ball game together for the Nats in the second inning when he rode one of Hildebrand's pitches between right and center fields for a home run to the most distant angle of the far-flung park with Fred Schulte aboard the bases. The Injuns then took the lead right away from the Nats with a 3-run upriaing in their half of the second, in which Pitcher Hildebrand's triple past the lame Goslin in right field, following doubles by Kamm and Knickerbocker, was the pivotal blow. Then the game settled down to a 3-2 duel between Crowder and Hildebrand.

Goslin Starts Winning Rally.

16,000 SEE INDIAN RUNNER WIN ARLINGTON INAUGURAL

Okapi Second By Length And Half

$9.84 Mutuel Paid by Horse Owned by Baltimore Man.

By Charles Dunkley.

CHICAGO, June 26 (A.P.).—Darting through one hole after another in a thrilling stretch drive, Indian Runner, owned by D. A. Wood, of Baltimore, Md., captured the $5,500 Inaugural Handicap, opening the 30-day Arlington Park meeting today.

Okapi finished a length and a half behind the winner, with No More, entry of C. E. Davison, of Chicago, third.

Indian Runner, ridden by Jockey A. Tipton, conquered 19 other fleet-footed thoroughbreds, a field so unwieldy that Starter Dickerson had difficulty in getting the thoroughbreds away. When he did snap the tape, Osculator was left entirely unprepared.

Pairbypair Shoots Into Lead.

Pairbypair, owned by Mrs. John D. Hertz, of Chicago, shot into the lead, with No More in close pursuit. They raced head and head until just before reaching the stretch, where Pairbypair tired under the impost of 117 pounds. No More held on gamely as Indian Runner began to shoot openings ahead of him. He was sixteenth as the field charged down the backstretch, but passed the horses one by one in his remarkable stretch drive.

Indian Runner ran the 7 furlongs in 1:23 4-5. The race had a pot value of $4,505 to Owner Wood. Indian Runner, heavily played in the mutuels, paid $9.84 to win, $5.64 to place and $4.86 to show.

The place price on Okapi, running as an entry for the Brookmeade Stable with Hellanthus, was $17.28, with $9.20 to show, while the show price on No More was $10.68.

Gallant Sir, owned by Norman W. Church, of Los Angeles, was expected to make his Chicago debut in the Inaugural, but when it appeared certain a bulky field would start it was decided to scratch him, rather than risk danger of injury.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: ARLINGTON PARK, JUNE 26.

My friend Jack Westrope received a check for $432 today, representing his week's pay for booting home winners at Lincoln Fields. He should be a big help to his mother if he don't grow up. Right now, at his light weight and in his present sensational riding form, he's in big demand among the horsemen. From all indications, this meeting is going to be the best in the five years the track has operated. Pardon me if I bring up the fact that I had five winners today, including Indian Runner in the opening day feature. Providing you must get in action tomorrow, you might do worse than give these a chance. BILL.

FIRST RACE—LeMISERABLE has had plenty of racing and seems as well suited as any of these juveniles. Gets a fair post position and has speed enough to miss some of the interference that may develop in this large field. BUSY SPAIN has a good figure. BORDER KING won in New York before being shipped West.

SECOND RACE—I don't believe this group will get around to defeating BOILERMAKER. The Bradleyite is in rare form and rarin' to go from all I can learn. Don Meade, he of the longshot habit, probably will have the mount. FRENCH KNIGHT and OUR JUSTICE for the rest.

THIRD RACE—MISS MOUSE, half of the Greentree entry, is a fast little thing that the clockers say is crying to run. May get some help from the stablemate, DAB CHICK. SOME POMP and DUST GIRL to battle it out for the place and show.

FOURTH RACE—GIFT OF ROSES has been consistent hereabouts and is going to be a tough one to beat among these. If the trick is turned, I look for MOUNTAIN ELK to do it. MONEL'S appearance in the money would not be a surprise.

FIFTH RACE—WATCH HIM never hit the stride expected of him in Maryland. However, he is sharp now and will run home ahead of these, I do believe. BIG BEAU is improved enough to take the place. SNAPBACK for the show.

SIXTH RACE—I look for two old friends from Maryland to provide most of the battle here. I mean BELOW COST and SKY HAVEN, and I like them in the order named. NIGHT JASMINE to complete the money picture.

SEVENTH RACE—I'm taking BEAU JOLIE here off a fast workout. FOXIANA and PORTCODINE have a little edge in the cold figures. However, I am putting my dependence in the clockers.

EIGHTH RACE—CHAT EAGLE moved up into the money in a recent race and seems the mostly likely of this poor field to earn a purse. GRAMARYE was fair in Maryland. PHARAHEAD to take care of the others.

Maj. Noyes Cards 69 at Army-Navy

Maj. E. A. Noyes, lanky Army and Navy Country Club golf star, came within one shot of tying J. Monro Hunter's unofficial course record of 69 yesterday at his home course. The former Army and Navy pro registered his par-cracking score last November.

Maj. Noyes, who has been hammering away at par at Army and Navy for several months, traversed the first nine in 33, three under par, and completed the stretch in 36 for his scintillating 69, three below orthodox figures.

The major, former club champion and winner of the recent spring handicap tournament at his club, fired birdies on the third, fourth, seventh, and sixteenth. He was playing with his wife, and Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Holtzman.

His card:

Out—
Par	454	544	343	—36
Noyes	453	444	243	—33
In—
Par	344	545	434	—36—72

Cronin, Crowder On All-Star Team

Chicago, June 26 (U.P.).—The all-star American League team which will meet a picked team from the National League at Comiskey Park July 6 was named today by President William Harridge.

The 18 players follow:

Catchers, Bill Dickey, Yankees, and Rick Ferrell, Red Sox. Pitchers, Bob Grove, Athletics; Vernon Gomez, Yankees; Wesley Ferrell and Oral Hildebrand, Indians, and Alvin Crowder, Nationals. Infielders, Lou Gehrig and Tony Lazzeri, Yankees; Charley Gehringer, Tigers; Joe Cronin, Nationals; Jimmy Foxx, Athletics, and Jimmy Dykes, White Sox. Outfielders, Al Simmons, White Sox; Babe Ruth and Ben Chapman, Yankees; Sam West, Browns, and Earl Averill, Indians.

The Yankees placed six men on the team, twice as many as any other club. Cleveland came next with three representatives.

The American League team line-up and batting order will be named by Connie Mack, Athletics' manager, picked to handle the all-stars.

Cherry Time Winner Of Latonia Feature

Latonia, Ky., June 26 (A.P.).—In the absence of a stake, the Eden Park Purse, an allowance affair for 2-year-olds, served as the feature of a typical Monday card here. The racing strip was deep in mud, but seven of the better grade juveniles accepted the issue.

Mrs. W. Crump's Cherry Time was backed into odds-on favoritism and never gave her supporters cause for a moment's concern, breaking on top and leading throughout the 5½-furlong spin. Three lengths back came Gormley & Nutter's Monty M, which in turn had little trouble holding W. E. Smith's Angon Bridge safe for the place. After the first 50 yards the trio raced in the order in which they finished.

Johnny Allen, Yanks, Suspended for 5 Days

Detroit, June 26 (U.P.).—William Harridge, president of the American League, today notified Pitcher Johnny Allen of the New York Yankees that he has been suspended for five days for shouldering Umpire George Hildebrand in the fifth inning of yesterday's first game with Detroit.

Allen was so enraged when Hildebrand called only one runner out on an attempted double play that he rushed at the umpire, bumped him with his shoulder, and might have struck him had not Lou Gehrig pulled him away.

Miss Holm Drops Movies for Meet

Hollywood, June 26 (A.P.).—Eleanor Holm, swimmer and film actress, said today she had canceled a contract with Warner Brothers to compete in a swimming meeting in New York in July.

Termination of the contract, which would have prohibited her entering the meet, does not mean that she is retiring from motion pictures, she said. She plans to leave Friday or Saturday by airplane for New York to enter training.

6 D. C. Netwomen Win in Baltimore

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Md., June 26.—The four seeded players advanced in the opening two rounds of the Maryland State women's tennis singles on the Baltimore Country Club grass courts. They are, in order, Mrs. De Lloyd Thompson, of Washington, Pa., former Maryland champion; Reba Kirson, Baltimore Municipal, city and Elkridge Hunt Club invitation titleholder; Mrs. Ruth Martinez, of Washington, and Mrs. D. Luke Hopkins, Baltimore.

Besides Mrs. Martinez, the District of Columbia is represented by five others; Abie Sard, Frances Walker, Alice Rose, Mrs. Dorette Miller and Marion Butler, all of whom were victorious in their early engagements.

Results of Washingtonians:

Preliminary round—Mrs. Martinez defeated Mrs. Wilbur Mayo, 6—1, 6—0; Mrs. Miller defeated Margaret Whitehead, 6—1, 6—0; Miss Butler defeated Mrs. John Worthington, 6—4, 4—6, 6—3; Miss Sard defeated Elsie Jahn, 6—4, 6—3.

Second round—Mrs. Martinez defeated Mrs. A. Rudolph Stewart, 6—1, 6—0; Miss Miller defeated Mrs. Edward Hanrahan, 6—2, 6—0; Miss Butler defeated Eleanor Cole, 6—0, 6—0; Miss Sard defeated Charlotte Blanchard, 6—0, 6—0; Miss Rose defeated Mary Ramsay, 6—3, 6—1; Miss Walker defeated Mrs. Charles Code, 6—4, 6—1.

Medicos Say Primo Is Physical Freak

New York, June 26 (A.P.).—In a copyright article today the New York World-Telegram finds that Primo Carnera, after examination by three medical experts, is "definitely a physical freak of the acromegalic type and his gigantism is the result of too great a production of the growth hormone by the pituitary gland, which is attached to the brain."

The finding, result of examinations by Dr. Joseph Eidesiberg, head of the endocrine gland clinic at Columbia; Dr. Morton K. Hertz, of the Post-Graduate Hospital, and Dr. Vincenzo Fanoni, former head of the Italian Hospital, seems to settle a controversy that started when another afternoon paper announced medical opinion that Carnera, was perfectly normal, and not a freak.

Highlights of the World-Telegram version are: "Hyperpituitary development like that of Carnera is accompanied by a deficiency in coordination and a slowing up in reactions and reflexes. Carnera's size does not give him greater immunity than Sharkey insofar as a knockout is concerned. * * * His advantage lies only in size and weight. * * * His acromegalic growth has not produced commensurate gains in strength and endurance." * * *

The doctors refused to believe Carnera's claim that he weighed 22 pounds at birth. The record is about 17 or 18 pounds.

WESTERN DOUBLES FINALS.

Chicago, June 16 (A.P.).—Jane Sharp, Pasadena, Calif., and Helen Fulton, Winnetka, Ill., today defeated Catherine Wolf, Elkhart, Ind., and Louise Hollenister, Chicago, for the women's doubles championship in the finals of the Western Tennis Association championships, 6—4, 7—5.

D. C. Golfers Near Top in Prep Play

Special to The Washington Post.

GREENWICH COUNTRY CLUB, Greenwich, Conn., June 26.—Maury Nee and Billy Dettweiler, of Georgetown Prep School, Washington, D. C., shot rounds of 76 each, to trail Sidney Carson, of Kiski Prep, Pittsburgh, by three strokes, as the first half of the 36-hole qualifying round in the Eastern interscholastic golf championship, came to a close today.

Carson negotiated the 18 holes in 38, 35—73, 2 above par, while Nee shot the first 9 in 39 and came home in 37.

The 15-year-old Dettweiler ruined his chances for taking the medal lead by taking a 7 on the seventeenth hole, where he dumped his second shot into a trap and failed to blast out safely. Dettweiler was out in 38 and back in 38.

Fourth Hole Costly to Nee.

Nee, runner-up for medal honors last season, was the first away from the tee early this morning with a heavy fog blanketing the atmosphere. He three-putted the fourth for a 5, the seventh for a 6 and the eleventh for a 5, but otherwise played beautiful golf. The District star expects to redeem himself tomorrow in the final 18 holes.

Kiski Prep led Georgetown Prep into the first round for the team championship by two strokes, having a total of 320. Lawrenceville, defending champion, was third with 332, and Choate School had 334.

Georgetown Prep's other three entrants scored in the eighties. Frank Allan, captain, shot 45, 38—83; Jimmy Ferguson, 46, 42—88, and Jack Sewell, 45, 44—89.

Cards of leaders:

Par out	4	3	4	5	4	4	4	4	4	—36
Carson	5	3	4	5	5	4	4	5	3	—38
Dettweiler	5	4	4	4	5	5	3	5	5	—40

Three at Aqueduct To Whitney Family

New York, June 26 (A.P.).—With Alfred Robertson handling the reins, the Whitney family today dominated the program at Aqueduct, winning three successive races.

"Robbie" won the first with C. V. Whitney's Trumpery, a 2-year-old making his first start, the second with Mrs. John Hay Whitney's juvenile filly, Yap, and then completed a double for Mrs. Whitney astride Mack Sennett in the third contest, a dash of 6½ furlongs, which headed the card. Mrs. Payne Whitney's Stealthy Step, with Melvin Lewis up, ran second to Yap.

Light showers fell during the afternoon, but the racing was fast as evidenced by Mack Sennett's time of 1:19, only one and three-fifths of a second slower than the track record. He paid 3 to 1.

Robertson rode a perfect race aboard Mack Sennett. The victor won by three lengths. Modern Ace was a like distance to the rear in the show position, while Bob, the favorite, was back among the also rans, never a contender.

Action Galore Promised in Mat Show

By Frank H. Young.

IF Washington's rassle addicts are looking for a cure, they are advised not to show up at Thursday night's grunt and groan show at Clark Griffith's ballyard, for the card is such that the malady is just bound to linger on in the cases of those who witness it. A rassle addict is even worse than a fight-nutty fan, and, like a vampire bat, he (and she, too) seems to like his meat rare and served with a little claret.

In matching up the behemoths for this week's show, Promoter Joe Turner has rounded up most of the rough and tough customers now performing in this vicinity.

The feature brings Ray Steele and Gino Garibaldi into the same ring at the same time, and what these two boys do not know and practice in the gentle art of legalized torture is not worth mentioning.

Both Rate Near Top Of Game.

Besides being maulers, both rate right around the top of the mat ranks. Each has thrown Champion Jim Londos, but, unfortunately for them, only in three-fall matches in which the Gorgeous Greek has come back to gain the verdict by taking the other two falls. They seem to enjoy the going when it is roughest and neither stands on ceremony when it comes to giving and taking punishment. It should be some match.

And, as though this bout were not enough for the bloodthirsty, four others which promise red hot action are listed. Dick Shikat, a former champ, leers at Henry Piers in the semifinal, while such showmen as Abie Coleman, Frank Speers, Pat O'Shocker and Floyd Marshall make their contributions of agony. Coleman and Speers face each other; O'Shocker takes on Fred Grobmeier, and Marshall pulls punches with Son Jennings, who also is rated as being far from gentile.

Ladies free if escorted by cash customers.

Carnera Seeking Revenge; Elephant Never Forgets

By H. I. Phillips.

AS a further indication of a rapid recovery in the "sock" market and staple commodities such as beef, hides and grunts, Primo Carnera and Jack Sharkey will engage in a heavyweight open-air prizefight Thursday night.

The second major heavyweight battle to be staged within a month in the New York area, it is generally regarded by economists as ranking with the return of beer and the reopening of banks in economic significance.

If two heavyweight battles inside of four weeks can make money, the reports on car loadings, steel unfilled orders and the monthly U. S. reemployment figures will become of minor importance to all students of business improvement.

It is already close to a sell-out and for the past week it has given the London Economic Conference a hard run for publicity honors.

A fight that will be picturesque if not exciting is certain. It will really be a battle between Jack Sharkey, a retired sailor, and a group of other fellows.

Mr. Carnera is the Pachyderm That Walks Like a Man, and anybody who struggles with him without ropes, tackle and other piano-moving equipment is taking on a big job.

Sharkey defeated Carnera in a previous test, but they say an elephant improves with age.

WILL-THORN AND MACMASTER-CALDWELL IN M. A. GOLF TIE

Indian Spring Is Host to 26 Teams

13 Twosomes Place Near Cosharers of First Honors.

By Dave Herman.

A YOUNG caddy, Harlan Will by name, abandoned his bag-toting duties long enough yesterday to go over to the Indian Spring golf course, team up with Arthur B. Thorn, instructor at a driving range, and assist in producing a best ball of 66—good enough to earn a tie for first prize with Carroll T. MacMaster and Ernie Caldwell, both of Hillendale, in the Middle Atlantic P. G. A. pro-amateur sweepstakes.

Son of a greenskeeper at Woodmont Country Club, Will, and his professional partner, Thorn, together shot the treacherous outgoing nine in 33, and finished the stretch in identical figures. Thorn wound up with a 69, 2 below par.

The man mountain, MacMaster, smokes away on his pipe as he shoots, and his amateur partner, Caldwell, 1932 Middle Atlantic champion, matched the score of Will and Thorn for each nine.

These two combinations withstood the challenge of 24 other crack pro-amateur teams assembled from Baltimore, Washington, West Virginia and Virginia. The battle for honors was tightly waged. Gil Cunningham, Burning Tree, and Maury Fitzgerald, of Kenwood, made a bold attempt to win. They aggregated a 67, the same posted by Al Treder, pro, and Harry Pitt, and the Baltimore duo of Glenn Spencer and John Dowling.

13 Other Teams Near Leaders.

Thirteen other teams were within a shot or so of the cosharers of first prize.

The day was not without its excitement. Paul Bennett, Martinsburg, W. Va., amateur, who teamed with his pro, Joe Fungy, created a furore by scoring a hole-in-one on the 185-yard fourteenth. He used a No. 4 iron. Glenn Spencer, tall Maryland Country Club pro, had something to write home about when he holed a 125-yard mashie niblick for an eagle deuce on the 385-yard eleventh. George Diffenbaugh and Roger Peacock, of the host club, were burning up the first nine in 32. But they finished in 68.

June Beebe Shoots 79 To Top Western Golf

Chicago, June 26 (A.P.).—Making her first 1933 effort at tournament golf after being ill most of the spring, Miss June Beebe today captured the medal in the women's Western open tourney with a score of 79, one over women's par at Olympia Fields.

The 19-year-old Chicagoan recovered from a discouraging seven on the first hole to bag two eagles for a 39 going out and came home in 40 to become the first woman to break 80 on the difficult course. Mrs. Lillian Zech, of Chicago, was the second low scorer with 44—43—87, while Mrs. Melvin Jones, of Chicago, and Miss Dorothy Foster, of Springfield, Ill., tied for third with 88's.

Garcia-Azteca Fight Postponed to July 5

Los Angeles, June 26 (A.P.).—The scheduled ten-round bout here tomorrow night between Ceferino Garcia, Filipino welterweight, and Kid Azteca, Mexico City boxer now stranded at El Paso over immigration difficulties, was postponed today until July 5.

Azteca, with Baby Casanova, Mexico City featherweight, who is to fight here next month, were stopped at El Paso several days ago and denied entry because they possessed no contract labor vise.

Tom Gallery, local matchmaker, who was in Chicago, held hope that Azteca might comply with the requirements in time to keep his appointment.

A's Pound Out Wyatt and Get 14 Hits as Peterson Wins.

CHICAGO, June 26 (A.P.).—Excellent relief pitching by big Jim Peterson plus a 14-hit attack that routed Whitlow Wyatt in less than two innings gave the Philadelphia Athletics an 8-to-2 victory over the White Sox today.

It was the fifth triumph in six starts for the third-place Athletics and the seventh defeat in their last eight games for Chicago.

Peterson, young 6-foot right-hander, received credit for his first victory of the season. He replaced Tony Freitas in the second inning with bases filled, allowed one runner to score and then shut out the Sox the rest of the way on five scattered hits.

The A's disposed of Wyatt with seven hits for five runs in an inning and two-thirds. Joe Heving went in for him and yielded three more runs.

Net Choices Win in D. C. Title Play

Hunt, Deck, Charest and Shore Enter Third Round.

THE old and young guard of the local tennis front marched through their singles and doubles matches victoriously yesterday in the third day of the District of Columbia tournament at the Army and Navy Country Club courts. There was not an upset in the day's activities, as Gilbert Hunt, Frank Shore, Pat Deck and Clarence Charest advanced to the third round.

Undaunted by the loss of the second set, young Hunt made a whipping finish to topple Frank Taylor, 6—1, 4—6, 6—0. Shore eliminated John Cullen, 6—1, 6—3, while Deck was pressed to the limit before beating Manuel Martinez, 6—2, 8—6. The one-armed Charest, flashing his racquet at top speed, bowled over Jim Heiskell, 6—1, 6—4.

Darkness Halts Hunt, Blade.

Darkness prevented Hunt and Allan Blade from completing their third-round match. Blade had won the first, 6—2, and Hunt the next, 6—1. They will resume the battle today.

A number of interesting and exciting matches resulted from the first and second round doubles. Bill Seidel and Gene Hermann had to stage a strong comeback to eliminate Joe Rutley and Owen Howenstein, 4—6, 6—3, 7—5. Frank Shore and Anthony Latona had easy coasting in their second-round victory over the Sherfy brothers.

One of the features of today's singles matches will be the meeting between Gwyn King and Dooley Mitchell, heavy favorite, at 6 o'clock. King, a former rival of Mitchell in their junior days, is attempting a comeback after a five-year absence from local courts. They are partners in the doubles, having won their opening match yesterday from Judd and Phillips, 6—2, 6—1. Mr. W. Bostrom, Swedish Minister, engages Charest at 3 o'clock.

SINGLES.

Second round—Hunt beat Taylor, 6—1, 4—6, 6—0; Charest beat Heiskell, 6—1, 6—4; Deck beat Martinez, 6—2, 8—6; Shore beat Cullen, 6—1, 6—3.

DOUBLES.

First round—Loney and Haney beat Taylor and Nordlinger, 6—4, 6—3; Seidel and Hermann beat Rutley and Howenstein, 4—6, 6—3, 7—5; Maj. Swearden and Baker beat P. Cyr and A. Cyr, 6—1, 7—5; King and Mitchell beat Judd and Phillips, 6—2, 6—1; Staubley and Blanchard beat Ruckman and Stewart, 6—0, 6—3.

Second round—Shore and Latona beat L. and R. Sherfy, 6—2, 6—0; Mangan and Graven beat Yeomans and partner by default.

TODAY'S PAIRINGS.

Single, third round—4:00, Charest vs. Bowstrom; Lake vs. C. Blanchard; 5:00, Hermann vs. Staubley, Dorst vs. Latona, Shore vs. Deck, Mangan vs. Judd; 6:00, King vs. Mitchell.

Doubles, first round—2:00, Hunt and McLean vs. Trigg and Johnson; 6:00, Haney and Loney vs. Gould and Garnett, Deck and O'Neill vs. Hill and partner.

Gov Lehman Approves Appointment of Brown

Albany, N. Y., June 26 (U.P.).—Gov. Lehman today approved the appointment of William J. Brown, New York City, as member of the State Athletic Commission to fill the vacancy created by the death of William Muldoon.

Brown, 59, operates a health farm at Garrison, N. Y., similar to the one owned by the late Muldoon at White Plains. In his earlier years Brown was well known as a referee.

Three Bidders Seek Ross-Canzoneri Bout

Chicago, June 26 (U.P.).—Three promoters today were angling for the return lightweight title match between Barney Ross, of Chicago, new title holder, and Tony Canzoneri, of New York, former champion.

Jack Dempsey seemed to have the inside track for the match by wiring Sam Pian, Ross' co-manager, not to accept any offer until he had conferred with him.

"I would like to have Dempsey promote the bout," said Pian, "and I will not close any deal until he has had a chance to make me his offer."

Tim Mara, of New York, and the Chicago Stadium were the other bidders for the bout. The match seems likely to go to New York, and to be held outdoors early in September.

Frank Shields Wins In Eastern Tourney

New York, June 26 (A.P.).—Frank Shields made his first appearance in the Eastern clay court tennis championships today and pushed his way into the fourth round without trouble.

Shields, seeded No. 1, drew a first round bye, received a default in the second round and defeated Reginald Talmage, of Brooklyn, today, 6—2, 6—3. J. Gilbert Hall, of South Orange, N. J., likewise advanced to the fourth round when his third round rival, E. Ralph Martin, defaulted.

Edward Tarangioli, Jacques Verstraten, Merritt Cutler and Frank Bowden were other winners. Tarangioli put out the Cuban Davis Cup player, Arturo Randin, 1—6, 6—4, 6—3; Cutler beat Richard Willis, 3—6, 9—7, 7—5; Verstraten eliminated Frank Dame, 3—6, 6—2, 6—1, and Bowden won from Edward McKnight, 6—3, 6—4.

Burns, of Baltimore, in another six-rounder. Dancing in and out, throwing leather as he went, Koshover hit Burns with everything in the books to win by a city block.

Doug Swetnam's infighting earned a draw with Sammy Lucas in the third six-rounder on the card. Lucas started strongly, but Swetnam took most of the starch out of him with a steady and telling barrage of blows to the midsection.

Jack Bullock took the decision over Ted Lewis in the opening bout of the show, a four-rounder. The two were willing mixers and had the crowd yelling for first Bullock and then Lewis to "knock 'im cold."

Nats Win Eighth Straight By Defeating Indians, 4-3

Bill Hudlin relieved Hildebrand and Fred Schulte, who is paid to bunt among other things, couldn't advance his boss when his attempted sacrifice was a pop to Myatt. Joe Kuhel lofted a fly to Milt Galatzer in medium right center and then Cronin virtually did the Indians out of the ball game with as clever a piece of faking as this correspondent has seen.

Cronin remained on the bag as Galatzer took Kuhel's fly, making no effort to go to second after the catch. Galatzer took due note and simply lobbed the ball back to the infield. And Cronin, also taking due note, lit out for second when he saw his trick had worked. He slid in safely by yards and was in scoring position for Bluege's single to left, off Hudlin, that brought him home with the winning run.

The Injuns were still on the trail of the ball game when Boss opened their eighth with a single to left. Cronin would have no more of Crowder, who started the game with his arm still slightly sore. Russell was called in and he disposed of Boss with a force-out at second. Then with the hit-and-run plan on, Averill dashed for second on Vosmik's pop over Kuhel's head, but the Nats' first baseman gathered the ball in on the dead run and easily doubled Averill off first with a toss to Russell. Averill by that time was nearing the plate.

Indians Threaten Mildly in Ninth.

Russell didn't breeze through the ninth. He walked Kamm at the start to put the tying run on, but then slipped a third strike past Myatt. Bluege made a swell stop to throw out Knickerbocker at first, but Kamm went to second. Pinchhitter Burnett drew a walk and the winning run was on base, but everything ended happily for the Nats when Galatzer lifted a foul to Bluege.

AMERICAN NETMEN WIN AT WIMBLEDON

Sutter, paired against the Japanese Davis Cup spare, E. Itoh, rushed through to a 6—2, 8—6, 6—1 victory, and Stoefen, apparently playing under a strain at the start, needed four sets to defeat E. R. Avory, seventh ranking English player, 2—6, 10—8, 6—4, 8—6.

Impress With Ferocity of Service Balls.

All three Americans impressed with the all-round caliber of their play and especially the ferocity of their service balls, Stoefen especially turning on blinding speed at times completely to befuddle Avory.

Two former American college stars now attending Oxford and Cambridge, respectively, Clayton Lee Burwell, formerly of Sewanee, and David Jones, formerly of Columbia, also won easy first round victories as did W. L. Breese, former Harvard player.

Burwell defeated the veteran German, Hans Kleinschroth, 6—0, 6—1, 6—2, while Jones upset the British veteran, J. D. P. Wheatley, 6—4, 6—2, 3—6, 6—3. Breese won from H. K. Lester, veteran British star, 3—6, 8—6, 6—4, 6—4.

The only American casualties were Donald Frame, another former Harvard player, who lost to Bela von Kehrling, the Hungarian internationalist, 2—6, 6—4, 6—4, 6—4, and G. Jason, who was beaten by the veteran English player, R. J. Ritchie, 6—3, 6—2, 6—4.

Crawford Barely Escapes Being Beaten.

Jack Crawford, of Australia, a semi-finalist against Vines last year and declared by critics to be one of the most improved players in the world, barely escaped elimination in the first round, defeating Enrique Maier, the Spanish champion, 7—5, 6—4, 2—6, 3—6, 6—4.

Henri Cochet, out to redeem his recent straight set defeat at Crawford's hands in the French championships, easily won his first round match from H. S. Burrows, of England, 6—2, 6—2, 6—1, but his young companion, Marcel Bernard, found the giant Irishman, G. Lyttleton Rogers, too much to handle and went out in the first round, 2—6, 6—2, 6—8, 6—3, 6—3.

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, defending the women's title, did not get into action, the play being confined to men's singles, but she will start tomorrow. She is scheduled for the center court with Mrs. MacReady, veteran English player.

PHOENIX NINE REORGANIZED

The Phoenix A. C. baseball team has been reorganized, with Clarence Dumford as manager, and will play the Seaman Gunner nine tomorrow afternoon at 5:30 o'clock at the Navy Yard. All old and new players have been requested to meet at the yard in time for the game.

Several at Wimbledon Battle in White Shorts

Heretofore, unwritten law has called for the wearing of long white trousers. Today, however, several of the players appeared in white shorts, including Henry Wilfred (Bunny) Austin, H. Lester and G. E. Godsell.

who pounded out a homer for the Nats yesterday with Schulte on base to pave the way for yesterday's victory.

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

Cleveland, Ohio, June 26.

THE AMERICAN LEAGUE vital statistics are very comforting to the Nats. Peering down beyond the Yankees, who are now two full games behind the lead, there is very little of a threatening nature to be seen.

The Athletics are in third place, 7½ games behind the Nats, and the Indians are in fourth place, ten games behind. The White Sox in fifth are on a virtual level with the Indians. The danger of an attack on the Nats from the rear is virtually nil, with the exception, of course, being the Yanks.

Barring a sensational slump by the Nats and an equally sensational rise by the Athletics, the A's appear washed up this season as far as the pennant is concerned. That goes, too, for the Indians and the White Sox. The American League is now a two-team race between the Nats and the Yanks.

Nats Apparently Can Do No Wrong.

The Nats are in the kind of a winning streak where they can do no wrong. When the hitters aren't hitting, the pitchers come through, although there has been little necessity of high-grade pitching of late. When the pitching isn't so good, their mates go to work and bat out the ball game.

Yesterday, Joe Cronin was trapped between the bases when he overran his single and the play was turned into a run when Goslin scored from third as the Cleveland infield attempted to run down Cronin.

They've made plenty of errors on the Western trip, but none when it hurts. On the other hand, the errors of the opposition are usually fatal. But the team is hitting from top to bottom. Their nine hits today was the lowest number since they left Boston on June 8. By the time the Washington pitchers weaken, the Nats have usually run up a nice 8-run lead.

Sewell's Pep Surprises Indians.

Cleveland scribes are surprised by the dash and pep of Luke Sewell behind the plate for the Nats. They said he had outlived his usefulness in Cleveland last year and his shipment to Washington for Spencer was heartily received.

Sewell made the mistake here of siding with Wes Ferrell in the latter's frequent disputes with Manager Peckinpaugh. Whatever Ferrell's differences with the Indians' boss were, he had a stanch supporter in his catcher and battery mate. The Cleveland front office, which refused to trade Ferrell, assuaged its anger by trading Sewell. It was a godsend to the Nats. Sewell is giving Washington better catching that it has received since the palmy days of Muddy Ruel in 1924 and 1925. His handling of the pitchers has been excellent and he is lending a punch to the lower batting order that previous Washington teams never knew.

RUNS, HITS AND ERRORS.

Among other things, the Nats have beaten both Ferrell and Hildebrand within two days—but Hildy had a bruised elbow and shouldn't have been in there today . . . He also took two cracks on the shins from the bat of Luke Sewell . . . Cleveland fans are going for their new right fielder, Milt Galatzer, in a large way . . . Steve O'Neil, manager of Toledo, recommended Galatzer with the note that he is a better fielder than Averill . . Sewell singled in the second inning and then batted in hard luck . . . He bounced one off Hildebrand's leg and was thrown out by a whisker . . He bounced another off Hildy's shin and Kamm threw him out . . . He bounced a third off Hudlin's glove and Knickerbocker tossed him out after a bare-handed stop . . . 7,000 school kids in the upper stands have learned to boo in unison . . . Crowder ditched Moe Berg and used Mascot Jimmy Mahorney as his warm-up catcher before the game . . . He was so close to the showers in the second inning when the Tribe scored their three runs that he could feel the spray . . . Kuhel gave 'em fair warning about his home run in the second inning . . . He lifted three into the distant bleachers in practice . . . Dave Harris, who turned up with a manicure the other day, is now affecting a cane . . . They call him Beau Bummel . . . It's Al Thomas for the Nats tomorrow in the fourth game of the series . . . And Mel Harder for the Indians . . . Harder beat the Nats here last trip . . . When the Indians hit hard and the Nats couldn't hit Harder.

Georgetown Golf Team Trailing

Special to The Washington Post.

WILLIAMSVILLE, N. Y., June 26.—Georgetown University's golf team was virtually out of the running in the battle for team honors in the thirty-seventh national intercollegiate championship today, as the Hoyas found themselves 21 strokes from the pacesetters, Yale, defending champions.

Led by Sidney Noyes, jr., who shot one of the finest rounds of the day, a 73, 1 over par, the Eli foursome jumped off to a flying start with an aggregate score of 304. University of Texas was second with 313. Michigan, with Johnny Fischer, defending champion, scoring a 78, tied for third place with Notre Dame with 316. Dartmouth was next with 321, nosing out Georgia Tech by a stroke.

Georgetown's scrappy team, however, pinned its hopes on the sturdy shoulders of Joe Lynch, sophomore star, to make a strong showing in the battle for individual medal honors. The short, stubby Lynch shot a 76 today, resulting from a 37—39, to lead the seven Hilltoppers in the qualifying round.

Lynch found himself three strokes from a quartet of college stars, each of whom had nifty rounds of 76. They were Noyes, John Banks, Notre Dame; Don Nittinger, Southern California, and Henry W. Kowal, of Colgate.

Don O'Brien, of Georgetown, rallied on the homeward voyage for a 38 after soaring to a 43 on the first nine. His 81 was two strokes better than his teammate, Walter Tynan, who had 40—43. John Slattery, fourth of the low scorers on the Hoya team, scored 42—43—85; Rupert Friday had 41—44—85; Joseph A. Galvin 47—40—87, and John A. O'Brien, 43—46—89.

Public Links Jamboree Will Be Held Thursday

Washington's public links courses are going "ritzy" next Thursday night when East Potomac, Rock Creek and West Potomac will inaugurate an extensive social program at the Indian Spring Golf Club.

A dance and entertainment are scheduled. Serving on the committee are Al Farr, Sam Miller, E. Anthony Burns, Harold Bowers, R. H. Stephenson, B. Harry Graham, I. M. Henry, Miss Hilda Barnes, Miss Ethel Larson, Mel Shorey and Al Price.

It will be known as the "Public Links Jamboree."

Thursday Preliminary Bouts Are Announced

New York, June 26 (A.P.).—The preliminary card for the Carnera-Sharkey heavyweight championship bout Thursday night was announced by Madison Square Garden tonight.

Al Stillman, St. Louis light-heavyweight, will meet Tony Shucco, of Boston, in the six-round semifinal, and the following pairings were made for five-round bouts: Innocente Baiguerra, Italy, vs. Chester Matan, New York; Arthur Huttick, New York, vs. Vic Bernard, New York; Harold Mays, Bayonne, N. J., vs. Bob Moody, New York; Hans Birkie, Germany, vs. Frank Edgren, Colorado. Leonard del Genio and Phil Bruno will clash in the opening four-rounder.

Leaders in Yacht Race Pass Ocean City, Md.

Ocean City, Md., June 26 (A.P.).—Leaders in the yacht race from New London, Conn., to Gibson Island, Md., tonight were skimming southward along the shoreline of Maryland and Virginia on the last leg of their journey before rounding the Virginia Capes and entering Chesapeake Bay.

They still had a good slice of their 475-mile ocean course to negotiate. The first of the fleet of 42 yachts passed Ocean City early in the afternoon, a point estimated by the U. S. Hydrographic Office in Baltimore as being 230 miles from their destination.

Only fourteen of the yachts were sighted by the Coast Guard headquarters here, but many of them were believed to have been sailing too far from the shore to be seen. The yachts started from New London Saturday morning for Gibson Island, some 18 miles below Baltimore.

MANDELL TO MEET CASPER.

Ottawa, June 26 (A.P.).—Sammy Mandell, of Rockford, Ill., former lightweight champion of the world, and Johnny Casper, Boston welterweight, have been signed to meet in a 10-round bout here nxet Monday night, it was announced today.

Prefers Swim

Hollywood, June 26 (A.P.).—Eleanor Holm, swimmer and film actress, said today she had canceled a contract with Warner Brothers to compete in a swimming meeting in New York in July. Termination of the contract, which would have prohibited her entering the meet, does not mean that she is retiring from motion pictures, she said.

RED SOX HIT 3 HURLERS, WIN, 13-5

Rhodes Holds Browns Safe and Pounds Out 4 Hits.

ST. LOUIS, June 26 (A.P.).—The Boston Red Sox pounded three pitchers for fifteen hits today and won the third game of the series from the St. Louis Browns, 13 to 5. McDonald allowed four runs in the first inning on two hits and three passes, and was taken out in the second after yielding two more hits. Rhodes not only pitched well for Boston, but made four hits.

U. S. GOLFERS TRAIL IN RYDER CUP PLAY

DAM IS SUGGESTED ON UPPER POTOMAC

Finan Project Presented to Marylanders Working Under Recovery Act.

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., June 26.—The project for a dam in the upper Potomac watershed has been presented by Thomas B. Finan, this city, and Holmes D. Baker, Frederick, members of the subcommittee for western Maryland, to the general committee for Maryland working under the national industrial recovery act.

Sentiment, as far as known, is unanimous in favor of the plan, which has had the enthusiastic indorsement of Abel Wolman, sanitary engineer of the State department of health.

A meeting was held here Saturday, attended by Representative David J. Lewis, Sixth Maryland District, chairman for the district; Messrs. Finan and Baker, G. Clinton Uhl, chairman of the State roads commission; Leo T. Downey, district engineer, State roads commission, and Mayor George Henderson, this city, at which various projects were discussed and the upper Potomac dam movement indorsed.

At the conference dates for meetings in the Sixth District to discuss certain projects were fixed as follows: Frederick, July 7, for Frederick and Montgomery Counties; Hagerstown, July 8, for Washington County, and Cumberland, July 10, for Allegany and Garett counties. These meetings will be attended by county and city officials, for in some cases the Government furnishes but a percentage of aid, the balance for carying out projects coming from the interested communities.

It is hoped the Stony River Dam proposition, on account of the wide range of expected results, may be carried along through appropriation without calling on any county of municipal aid, West Virginia, which, it is conceded, would benefit as well as Maryland, is expected to cooperate, while Washington, which would also benefit, would give sanction. It is looked upon as a health measure, as well as presenting benefits from other angles, and the Government at Washington would thus be directly interested.

The Stony River plan, it was announced, would be considered by the executive committee of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce this week. James C. Shriver, former city engineer of Cumberland, has made a complete survey of the project and is enthusiastic in describing the great common good that would result from carying it through.

Fascist Revolt Leader Is Sentenced in Prague

Prague, Czechoslovakia, June 26 (A.P.).—The trial of 58 Fascists in connection with an unsuccessful plot to capture the garrison at Brno last January, ended today with the conviction of Lieut. Wiladislav Kobzinek, who led the uprising. The lieutenant was sentenced to six years in prison. A number of others received sentences ranging from two months to four years.

Rudolf Gajda, the leader of the Fascists, who are not Nazis, was acquitted. Gajda, former chief of staff, was accused of inspiring the revolt, in which one man was killed and eight were injured. The Fascists surrendered after a 45-minute fight which aroused the entire city.

Infant Saved

Honolulu, June 26 (A.P.).—City, county and military police joined today in a search for three men said to be Filipinos, who, according to a maid, attempted to break into the beach home of Capt. Robert F. Bradish, Eleventh Medical Regiment, Schofield Barracks, for the avowed purpose of kidnaping Bradish's infant child. The attempt was frustrated by the maid, Agnes Rosario, who was alone with two children.

The maid said the men, two of whom were armed with sugar cane knives, came to the house about 8 p. m. Saturday and demanded entry. One attempted to cut away a screen door with a knife. She shut and locked a wooden door.

While a second man was attempting to cut through another door and threatening to kill the maid unless she handed over the baby, she telephoned police and the men fled.

FUNERAL TOMORROW FOR W. S. ANDERSON

Youth, Victim of Dive Into River, Was Resident of Riverdale, Md.

Funeral services for William Stanley Anderson, Riverdale, Md., who was killed Saturday when he fractured his neck by diving in shallow water while at Cedarhurst, Md., will be held tomorrow at the Gasch funeral home, Hyattsville. The Rev. W. Keith Custis will officiate.

Anderson, an employe in the purchasing department of the Washington Times, had gone to the bathing resort near Galesville, Md., on West River, with a few friends to spend the evening. He was seen to dive from the diving board into approximately 4 feet of water and to come floundering to the surface.

Thinking that he was attempting to swim, his companions paid no more attention. A few minutes later his body was discovered lying on the bottom of the river. The rescue squad from Annapolis attempted artificial respiration and first aid. He was pronounced dead by a local physician.

Born in Brentwood, Md., in 1913, Mr. Anderson received his education at the Hyattsville High School. He has been a resident of Riverdale for a number of years. Surviving are his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Anderson.

Three sisters and three brothers also survive. They are Anne J., Dorothy, Charlotte, Charles H., jr., Mier L. and Edwin M. Anderson. All are residents of Riverdale.

James W. Robey's Funeral Is Today

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. today for James W. Robey, 87, who, as a boy on his father's farm, saw the first Confederate soldier killed at Flint Hill and Falls Church roads in Virginia, May 27, 1861. He died Sunday at the home of his son, J. H. Robey, 4802 Chesapeake street northwest. The services will be held at his son's home. Burial will be in Mount Zion Cemetery, Alta Vista, Md.

A resident of this city for the last 25 years, Mr. Robey was born in Fairfax County and often described the battle in which he saw Capt. Payton Anderson, of the Confederate Army, killed by Federal troops.

Mr. Robey was a member of the Eldbrooke Methodist Episcopal Church at Tenleytown, and a charter member of the Reno Council, No. 46, Junior Order United American Mechanics. Six sons, two daughters, 17 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren survive him.

Capt. D. C. Grayson Dies at Residence

Capt. David C. Grayson, 95, Confederate veteran, died yesterday at his residence, 3755 Jocelyn street northwest.

Capt. Grayson was born in Luray, Va., and spent 62 years of his life in Washington. He was in the lumber business until 20 years ago. He is survived by three sons, D. L. Grayson, of Chattanooga, Tenn.; W. W. Grayson, of St. Louis, and F. O. Grayson, of Coral Gables, Fla., and by three daughters, Mrs. Edwin McKay Chace, of Hollywood, Calif.; Mary C. and Virginia Grayson, of Chevy Chase.

Funeral services will be held at the residence at 10:30 a. m., tomorrow. Interment will be at Luray.

$220,000,000 ACTION PONDERED BY ADKINS

Mellon's Attorneys Argue Olson Has No Standing to Maintain Suit.

Justice Jesse C. Adkins, of the District Supreme Court, has under advisement a motion made by attorneys representing Andrew Mellon, former Secretary of the Treasury, and others, to dismiss a suit brought by David A. Olson for $220,000,000.

Mellon's attorneys attacked the suit as being frivolous. They contended that Olson, who was formerly a special investigator for a Senate committee, had not sufficient standing before the court to enable him to maintain the suit.

Olson filed the suit on behalf of the United States and himself, on the grounds, alleged by him, that high Government officials, including Ogden L. Mills, Arthur A. Ballantine, David H. Blair and Alexander W. Gregg, had permitted foreign steamship companies to evade payment of $110,000,000 in income taxes.

Justice Adkins listened all day to arguments of the attorneys. He decided to take the case into his chambers and consider it further before announcing whether the suit is to be dismissed or allowed to stand.

MONTGOMERY PLANS ALLOT MONEY'S USE

Federation Group Decides to Seek Action on Projects Already Approved.

Road and school projects which already have been approved by the Montgomery County Civic Federation will be advanced by the federation as projects for which the Federal and State construction moneys allotted to the county should be spent. This was decided at a meeting of the executive and advisory committees of the federation last night at the National Press Club. Frederick P. Lee, president of the federation and Maryland representative to secure the State's share of the Federal appropriations, presided.

The committees decided to cooperate with county officials in the work of securing appropriations for the county. It was decided that it would not be advisable to approve any new projects, inasmuch as the federation already had acted on road and school programs.

Stephen James was appointed chairman of a subcommittee which is to function in obtaining as many of the projects approved by the federation as possible. Other members of the committee are Robert E. Bondy, schools; William I. Cleveland, internal county improvement; William H. Reynolds, public health, and Richard Akers, roads.

The subcommittee probably will meet today to prepare its program for submission to the Sixth Congressional District committee of the governor's committee, July 7, at Frederick, Md.

Pneumatic-Tired Trains Forecast for Commuter

Chicago, June 26 (A.P.).—The commuter of the future will probably ride stream-lined, pneumatic tired suburban trains with special drafting gears to absorb the shock of starting and stopping, the convention of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers was told today.

A double-decked train with noise and road bumps reduced to a minimum by pneumatic tires was termed a probable development for suburban runs by C. D. Young, Pennsylvania Railroad vice president.

Boy, Playing With Bottle Of Gun-Powder, Killed

Special to The Washington Post.

Front Royal, Va., June 26.—Nine-year-old Calvin Greenwalt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Greenwalt, was accidentally killed here this afternoon while at play. The boys were packing gun powder into a bottle and lighting a match to it to hear it explode.

When the bottle failed to go off one of the boys went back to the bottle. It exploded and a piece of glass flew up, striking the Greenwalt boy in the neck, cutting an artery. He died a few minutes later. He is survived by his parents, one sister and two brothers.

TRAFFIC VIOLATIONS JAIL 3 IN MARLBORO

Two Capital Men Unable to Pay Fines Imposed at Hyattsville.

Three men were committed to the Marlboro Jail yesterday by the Hyattsville police court in default of fines for traffic violations.

William F. Dorsey, 29 Sixteenth street northeast, was given 60 days in jail when he was unable to produce $125 and costs for driving under the influence of liquor and reckless driving.

William E. Smith, 1620 Tenth street northwest, unable to pay $10 and costs for driving without a license in Prince Georges County, was committed to jail for ten days. Roland E. Smith, of Baltimore, was sentenced to the same number of days in default of $25 fine for speeding.

Four motorists chose to forfeit collateral rather than appear in court to face various traffic charges. Raymond Conrad, 3638 Thirteenth street northwest, and B. DeBosky, 3814 Nineteenth street northwest, forfeited $11.45 for operating a vehicle without a license.

Maurice A. Schlein, 128 Webster street northwest, forfeited $6.45 for reckless driving, and W. A. Shepherd, Easton, Pa., forfeited $26.45 for speeding. R. H. Burdett, giving his address as 2306 Warder street northwest, was fined $5 and costs for reckless driving and having no operator's permit.

Washington Art Student Injured by Avalanche

William Edwards, 26, of Washington, a student at the Munich Art Academy, is recovering in the German city from serious injuries suffered while mountain climbing, his mother, Mrs. C. W. Irvin, of Takoma Park, Md., has been notified.

He was climbing when an avalanche carried him 150 feet down the mountain side. He was unconscious in the snow all one night, being rescued the next day by a mountain patrolman.

DEMOCRATIC SPLIT ATTEMPT CHARGED

Randolph Tells New League Party Must Not Stop With Present Gains.

Charging that attempts were being made to foster dissension within Democratic ranks, Representative Jennings Randolph, of West Virginia, told the newly-formed National Democratic League, holding its first public meeting at the Racquet Club last night, that organization and cooperation within the party was needed.

"We must not stop with our present achievements, but go forward to the progressive true destiny of the party," he asserted. He stated that the Democratic party was "in its hour of triumph and in its hour of challenge."

Speakers at the meeting stated that President Roosevelt's program was not a departure from the old principles of Democracy, but an application of old principles to a new administration.

Others who addressed the meeting were Mrs. Mary Wright Johnson, Admiral Mark S. Bristol, George W. Offutt and Judge Hardesty.

Meeting of Republicans To Be in Luray Saturday

Special to The Washington Post.

Luray, June 26.—Lewis Willis, Republican county chairman, has issued a call for "all loyal Republicans" to meet in Luray Saturday night to elect 25 delegates and 25 alternates to the Republican State convention at Lynchburg, July 3. The Lynchburg convention will nominate candidates for governor, lieutenant governor and a United States senator.

The announcement of C. C. Louderback, Democrat, candidate to succeed himself in the Virginia House of Delegates from this district, that he favors submitting the eighteenth amendment to a vote of the people and also legalizing 3.2 beer, will doubtless result in the Republicans' nominating a candidate to oppose Louderback, who has always voted dry in the Legislature. The Louderback announcement came as a thunderbolt to dry Democrats.

Teller, Winner of Prize, To Address Rotary Club

The Alexandria Rotary Club will have as a special guest today at its luncheon in the George Mason Hotel E. Wallace Schreiner, a teller at the First National Bank and winner of the third prize of the American Bankers Association in oratory at a contest held at the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago.

The recently elected officers will assume their duties today. They are Alfred Thomason, president; Lawrence E. Roland, vice president; Hebert E. Cross, secretary; Everett Swan, treasurer; H. H. Martin, Blair McLeod and Francis H. Fannon, directors.

$1,360 Rings Recovered By Alexandria Detective

Two diamond rings, valued at $1,360, which had been reported stolen by Mrs. Herman Elg, 201 Hume avenue, Alexandria, were recovered yesterday by Detective James Bayliss.

A housemaid informed the Alexandria officer she had hidden the rings in a hatbox for safekeeping. She was arraigned in police court yesterday and charged with the theft of the articles, but her case was continued until Thursday.

ALEXANDRIANS AID 25 NEEDY CHILDREN

Approximately twenty-five children from the congested districts of New York have been placed in Alexandria and vicinity for a two weeks' vacation through the efforts of the Alexandria Committee of the Tribune Fresh Air Fund, Miss Lucy M. Graves, chairman.

The final meeting of the committee was held last night in the George Mason Hotel, when lists were checked and arrangements made to meet the young visitors when they arrive in Alexandria July 7. The train will be met by members of the committee and those of the entertaining group who can do so, and the children, will be taken to their summer homes. Many are entertaining children they have had for the last few years, and the majority of those caring for these underprivileged children have taken them into their homes for at least two years.

The list of the entertainers follows: Mrs. Harry D. Kirk, Mrs. Harvey A. Westbrook, Mrs. Francis H. Fannon, Mrs. George Windsor, Miss Lucy M. Graves, Mrs. Joseph Cox, Mrs. Bertha Gillingham, Mrs. Harmon Roberts, Mrs. A. D. Kerby, Mrs. C. G. Alley, Mrs. S. E. Ayers, Mrs. J. C Parrott, Miss Margaret Shuman, Miss Frances Shuman and the alumnae of St. Mary's Academy, this group to pay the board of a child. One colored child has been placed with the family of Mrs. Annie Holland, near Alexandria.

Kensington Keeps 53-Cent Tax Rate

The tax rate for the town of Kensington, Md., will continue at 53 cents per $100 of assessed value, the Kensington Town Council voted last night at its meeting in the National Guard Armory. The budget and road program will be acted on at the July meeting.

Robert Lewis, who succeeds himself, and Charles H. Davison, who succeeds Archer Woodwell, were sworn in as members of the town council at the meeting by Mayor A. L. Geiger. The council will organize at its July meeting, last night's meeting being the last of the fiscal year.

The council reduced the assessment on ten properties, of which parts had been sold to the State Roads Commission and approved by the new by-laws adopted by the Kensington Volunteer Fire Department.

Alexandria Beer Cases Will Be Heard Today

The cases of three Alexandria merchants who recently were fined $70.50 each in police court on a charge of having beer in their possession containing more than one-half of one per cent alcohol, and who appealed to the corporation court, will be heard this morning before a jury with Judge William P. Woolls presiding.

Those summoned for jury duty are Aubrey N. Shuman, D. L. Rubin, W. J. Werner, James M. Cunningham, Charles M. Stump, Magnus L. Bales and Jacob Siegel.

The merchants whose cases will be heard are Tony Harris, Benjamin Apter and John Gadonas. They were arrested May 31.

Street Renaming Hearing.

The public hearing by the Arlington County board on renaming of streets will be held at the courthouse tonight and not last night, as previously announced.

KENSINGTON CHURCH PARLEY TO BE TODAY

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 8706 Georgia Ave., Silver Spring, Md. Telephone Shepherd 2363.

The quarterly group meeting of the Montgomery County Women's Missionary Union will meet at 10:30 a. m. today at Kensington Baptist Church. Mrs. G. W. Gregory, of Frederick, Md., superintendent of the Western District, will lead the conference. Mrs. J. O. Pyle, of Barnesville, is president of the county group.

Mrs. S. R. Barnes, of Baltimore, will address the group. Mrs. Barnes is State secretary. The general topic will be "Launching Out in Montgomery County." Mrs. T. J. Palvey, of Rockville, will bring a message on "Launching Out in Prayer."

Representatives of all Montgomery County Baptist Churches will attend the meeting. The Women's Missionary Society of Kensington will be hostess group. The group is composed of the following churches: Travilah, Barnesville, Rockville, Upper Seneca, Mount Zion, Germantown and Kensington.

Suit for damages of $15,000 was filed yesterday by Harriett C. Lewis, through the law firm of Cissel & Whiteford, of Rockville, in Montgomery County Circuit Court, at Rockville, Md. Charles David Goldberg and David Goldberg were named as defendants. The plaintiff alleges that she was injured as the result of negligent driving of an automobile in which she was a passenger February 23 on Garrett Park road.

George M. Pierlert, of Glen Burnie, Md., was fined $50 yesterday on charge of possession of intoxicating liquor with intent to sell, and $11 for operating an automobile with fictitious markers by Judge Donald A. DeLashmutt in Montgomery County Police Court.

2 Fined $25 for Speed On Baltimore Boulevard

Speeding on the Washington-Baltimore boulevard cost two motorists $25 and costs each yesterday in the Laurel, Md., police court.

James T. Jenkins, of Laurel, was found guilty by Judge J. Chew Sheriff of speeding near Beltsville, Md. He was arrested by State Policeman W. L. Smith. Aaron Silberman, of Baltimore, was fined for speeding in the vicinity of Laurel. The arrest was made by State Policeman C. R. Parker.

Alexandria Books Are Due Saturday

The Alexandria school board has announced that Saturday is the dead line for turning in textbooks, so that the pupils may have the advantage of the new system being inaugurated this year. Teachers will receive the books at the George Mason High School, the Jefferson School and the Parker-Gray School for colored, from 1 to 4 p. m. Saturday.

The books turned in will be reissued and those books which must be bought will be furnished at cost, making the total cost of books only one-third to one-fourth that of former years. Those pupils who fail to turn in their books will not be entitled to benefit by the new system.

It is understood that about 80 per cent of the pupils have already turned in their books. Only a few members of the class just graduated from the Alexandria High School have complied with the request of the school board, and these are being urged to cooperate, since it will aid incoming pupils.

Authority to Open Given To Old Dominion Bank

The Virginia State Corporation Commission yesterday entered an order authorizing the Old Dominion Bank to open for business, President George S. Cook announced last night.

The bank, which replaces the People's State Bank of Cherrydale, Arlington County, will open about July 1, Cook said.

Arlington P.-T. A. Course Is Offered

A school of instructions covering a ten-week period will be given the Parent-Teacher presidents by the president of the Arlington County Council of Parent-Teacher Associations, Mrs. O. C. Rauh. The class will meet every two weeks, beginning tonight, in the Cherrydale School.

Mrs. Rauh has completed the national course at the George Washington University.

Three courses are offered, composed of the presidents' course, the officers' course and the "Know Your School" course. The latter two will be taught this fall.

Radio Dial Flashes

By Robert D. Heinl

WHEN Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, director of the National Recovery Administration, arrived for his broadcast he dragged along with him an old alarm clock. Will Rogers used an alarm clock to remind him when to sign off, but Gen. Johnson merely wanted this clock to look at as he went along so that he might keep track of the time.

However, the old clock had a tick so loud that if it had been placed in front of the microphone folks out in Chicago would have thought it was a piledriver. Accordingly when the general was busying himself with final preparations Harry C. Butcher, of Columbia, substituted a watch for the general's dollar time-piece and the broadcasting engineers heaved a sigh of relief.

In his manner of speech, talking out of the corner of his mouth, and giving the impression of being pretty hard-boiled (though it is said he really isn't) Gen. Johnson reminded some of his listeners of former Gov. Al Smith. Although the general evidently had not done much broadcasting, there wasn't a trace of nervousness about his performance. He proved a very easy man to handle, though the radio people had considerable apprehension on this point before the broadcast.

A new summer series of programs featuring "The Road Reporter," will be presented over WJSV on Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 6 o'clock, beginning tonight.

"The Road Reporter" will chat about places and events of interest to motorists and travelers, introducing dramatizations of motoring adventures from real life.

AMERICA'S increasingly important role in European politics, as well as the more cosmopolitan interest resulting from the increase of travel abroad, have created a desire on the part of the American listener for a radio that will bring in the signals of foreign stations, A. Atwater Kent observes.

"International broadcasts have only served to whet the American appetite for the programs broadcast from European capitals, with the exotic appeal of foreign customs and an antiquarian interesting older civilization," Mr. Kent said.

"This rising demand on the part of radio listeners has caused American manufacturers further to stimulate the new interest by the development of sensitive all-wave equipment that will establish contact with the countries of Europe."

Ella Gardner, of the Children's Bureau, will give her views on "Children and the Summer Vacation" over WRC at 10 a. m.

Gov. Joseph B. Ely, of Massachusetts, and Prof. A. N. Holcombe, of Harvard, will discuss "Saving Money in State Government" over WMAL at 6:15 o'clock.

EVEN though the appearance be brief, there is often a lot of hard work in connection with a broadcast. For instance, Harris B. Hull, the Postilion, spends on an average of two hours each night preparing for his 14-minute appearance.

In the condensed version of Ziegfeld's "Show Boat" recently the company spent 15 hours in intensive rehearsal before giving a one-hour performance over the air. This was in addition to the preliminary rehearsals of the individual performers.

Dr. Ortiz Tirado, tenor of the Mexican National Opera Co., will sing the farewell concert of his present series tonight (WMAL, 8 o'clock).

Dr. Tirado will sail tomorrow for Vera Cruz, Mexico. His leave of absence from the Morales Hospital, which he heads, will expire the first week in July.

Maj. Gen. Paul B. Malone, Third Corps Area Commander, will address the far-flung units of the reforestation army under his jurisdiction at 5:30 p. m. over station WBAL in Baltimore. Receiving sets purchased for the Conservation Corps units are expected to be installed in all of the 150 or more camps scattered over Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia, in time to enable the 28,000 young foresters to hear the address.

JUST how the Roosevelt Administration plans to increase buying power and stabilize prices through the Industrial Control Board will be explained by Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins addressing the National Radio Forum (WRC, 9:30 p. m.).

On the eve of the beginning of the nation's struggle for economic recovery, she will show the magnitude of the projects. She will tell about the duties and powers vested in Brig. Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, industrial control administrator, and the part that labor and industry are expected to take in this vast project.

The heroic story of Tom Eadie, Navy diver, who risked his life to save a fellow-diver, will be dramatized during the Lives at Stake program tonight, at 9 o'clock, over WRC. On December 18, 1927, while the Navy was trying to get an air line to the S-4, the submarine wrecked off the coast of Provinceton, Mass., a diver working from the U. S. rescue ship Falcon became caught and his lines fouled. Eadie, although already exhausted, again risked his life by going below and rescuing the man, working without gloves in water at freezing temperature.

BETTE DAVIS, blonde star of film production, will be interviewed during the broadcast of "California Melodies," from Los Angeles over WJSV at 9 p. m.

Julia Sanderson (WRC—7 p. m.) says she never expects to go to a boat race again but if she does she'll wear an overcoat and throw it away as soon as the race is over. For the Yale-Harvard race at New London, Julia decked herself out in a white ensemble made by one of New York's leading dressmakers.

Frank Crumit, unfortunately, had obtained seats in the first car of the observation train, just back of the engine. By the time the race was over, according to Julia, her dress was black, her face and hands were black and her hat, which collected both steam and cinders, looked like a family heirloom.

WHILE the primary purpose of the cruise is rest and relaxation for its distinguished passenger, the owner of Amberjack II apparently decided that it would be well to give the temporary skipper some means of listening in to the news of the world and to radio programs that would provide music while the schooner made its way down the Maine coast.

So an automobile radio is the only contact between Amberjack II and happenings in Washington, and quite possibly while the yacht lies at anchor the dial is twisted to bring in some noted comedian or a dance band. And wouldn't those artists like to know whose program was listened to most often on Amberjack II?

LOEW'S PALACE

A New Yorker AT LARGE

By Mark Barron.

New York—Cruising up the Hudson River, I bustled into Camp Tera, where 200 homeless girls from the sidewalks of New York are spending the summer at the expense of Federal relief agencies.

They offer a striking picture of what the cruelty and indifference of a big city can do do to a group of young women who ask no more than a decent living in this, the wealthiest metropolis in the world.

At Last a Haven.

Most of the girls have lived for more than a year with scarcely any work, rarely a home and all too little to eat. Almost overnight this sylvan retreat on the banks of Lake Tiorati, with its outdoor life and nourishing food, had transformed them so much that they will be 200 per cent better equipped to seek jobs when they return to Manhattan this fall.

The parks and subway stations have long been refuges for homeless men, but where had these girls been living? One of them went to a different friend's house each night and asked permission to bunk on the floor or on a cot. Another remained up most of the night, and then borrowed the room of a girl friend after she had gone to work in the morning.

Several of them had spent night after night riding on the subway. Many of them had tried municipal lodging houses, but they rarely went back after one night's experience.

These girls are not habitual vagrants. Practically all of them are trained in some profession. One was a solo dancer in Broadway musical shows until a fall left her deaf and she was no longer able to hear the music.

Tragedy.

Another had once made a considerable amount of money in the Florida land boom. She exhibited a bundle of canceled checks to prove she once boasted a healthy bank account. She lost her money, and following this came a double tragedy when both her husband and young son died.

For all the vicissitudes they have experienced, I found that camp life has strengthened their morale tremendously. It doesn't require long for the rebuffs of cold New York to instill one with fear, but the healing qualities of nature rebuilds one's courage sometimes very quickly.

Eva Le Gallienne will tour all next season.

The motordrome at Coney Island is run by one Isaac Contente. He was once champion corn-on-cob manipulator, but the galloping bikes offered more excitement.

Nowadays there are few restaurants that forbid smoking, a cup of coffee and a cigaret or cigar having become the widely accepted way of ending a meal. But one large chain cafeteria displays "no smoking" signs prominently—the idea being, perhaps, that smoking causes one to linger, occupying a place that some eat-and-runner would be glad to have.

DICK TRACY—Hitch Hikers

WELL, CHIEF, I GOT THE KID AND HIS FATHER OFF OKAY! THEY SAILED ON THE LINER "MYSTIC" WITH PAT PATTON IN CHARGE! HATED TO SEE THEM GO, BUT IT'S THE SAFEST PLACE FOR THEM WHILE I'M RUNNING DOWN "STOOGE" VILLER AND STEVE, THE TRAMP.
BY THE WAY, TRACY, HERE'S A TELETYPE MESSAGE THAT CAME IN THIS MORNING - IT SAYS TWO MEN, ONE OF THEM DRESSED IN WOMEN'S CLOTHES, JUMPED OFF A TRAIN IN SOUTHERN ILLINOIS WHEN THEIR IDENTITY WAS QUESTIONED BY A CONDUCTOR! DO YOU SUPPOSE THEY COULD BE OUR LITTLE PLAYMATES?
THERE'S NO DOUBT OF IT, CHIEF! THIS THING'S GOING TO WORK OUT EXACTLY LIKE I SAID IT WOULD--STEVE AND "STOOGE" ARE ON THEIR WAY EAST - THEY'RE COMING TO THIS CITY - AND I'M GOING TO JUST SIT TIGHT UNTIL THEY GET HERE - THEN -
MEANWHILE ON A CERTAIN COUNTRY ROAD.
I'M SORRY TO STOP YOU THIS WAY, MISTER, BUT I WONDERED IF YOU'D BE KIND ENOUGH TO GIVE ME AND THE MISSUS A LIFT TO THE NEXT TOWN?

PLOT AGAINST FORD CHARGED BY BANKER

Jury Told Wall Street Tried to "Strangle" Him by Freezing Deposits.

Detroit, June 26 (A.P.).—A witness' charge that a long-standing Wall street plot to "strangle" Henry Ford lay directly behind the closing of two national banks in Detroit tonight rested in the records of a one-man grand jury investigating the city's involved banking affairs.

The charge, the most sensational in two weeks of open testimony, was made by Herbert R. Wilkin, Detroit banker, in detailing his knowledge of affairs leading up to the closing of the Guardian National Bank of Commerce, which, with the First National Bank-Detroit, did not reopen after the Michigan banking holiday.

"Wall street believed it had a chance, by tying up Ford's deposits in the Michigan banks," declared Wilkin, to so deplete his working capital that he must deal with them or go broke. "I think they realized that here was the time to finish what they had started. But they were very sadly fooled."

Previously in his testimony the witness had startled his hearers with the declaration that $4,000,000 was removed from the two banks before the State-wide holiday was proclaimed February 14. He said two such withdrawals were those of Mrs. James Couzens, wife of the Michigan senator, and the Second National Bank of Houston, Tex.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

WITH nothing but his extraordinary memory to guide him, Bert Seip takes his load of letters, packages and cards to deliver them to their respective addresses. Mr. Seip has been carrying his route at Lake Zurich, Ill., for 30 years. Every day he makes his rounds—but he has yet to make a mistake.

The postmaster sorts the mail in order of delivery, then tells Seip where each letter or card goes. With no more preparation than this, Seip then carries his route.

Strange as it seems, Mr. Seip is not only the only blind mail carrier in the United States, but he is the only veteran letter carrier who gets no pay for his services. He just carries his route, as he has done for 30 years, just because he likes his job.

Not only that, it keeps him acquainted with everybody in town. From his customers on the mail route he gets many odd jobs, for not only is Mr. Seip a mail carrier but he is also an accomplished furniture maker. He does his own housework, cooking and mending.

Mr. Seip was blinded when he was 12 years old by a gunshot wound. He had at that time completed six years in public school. Since then he went to school for the blind another six years, where he learned to make furniture.

SUMMER SCHOOLS WILL OPEN JULY 5, ON LIMITED BASIS

Restrictions Are Imposed by Economy on Session in Several Buildings.

Plans for the opening of summer schools on Wednesday, July 5, were completed yesterday by E. J. Lockwood, director of summer and evening schools.

Certain restrictions will be imposed on the schools this year, due to the fact that the appropriation has been curtailed.

No class will be started in the senior and junior high schools unless a minimum of 25 students is enrolled. The senior high school summer school will be held at Central, Thirteenth and Clifton streets northwest; the junior at Macfarland, Iowa avenue and Webster street northwest, and the Stuart, Fourth and E streets northeast.

Classes will be made up of students in the following order: Those who have failed a subject and are to repeat it in summer school; those who have passed the subject with a low grade and need strengthening in the subject, and those who wish to take an advance subject. No more than 40 will be enrolled.

Elementary school summer classes will be held at the following buildings: Brown, Connecticut avenue and McKinley street northwest; Buchanan, Thirteenth and E streets southeast; Burroughs, Eighteenth and Monroe streets northeast; Curtis, Thirty-third and O streets northwest; Emery, Lincoln road and Prospect street northeast; Fairbrother, Tenth and E streets southwest; Thomson, Twelfth street and Massachusetts avenue northwest; Ludlow, Sixth and G streets northeast; Petworth, Eighth and Shepherd streets northwest; Pierce, Fourteenth and G streets northeast; Wallach, Seventh and D streets southeast; West, Thirteenth and Farragut streets northwest, and Webster (Americanization), Tenth and H streets northwest.

Students who enroll at the Force will report at Thomson, and Johnson School students will report at West and Petworth Schools.

Potomac Council Marks Birthday

Two hundred members of the Knights of Columbus celebrated the thirty-fourth anniversary of the Potomac Council at the Knights of Columbus Hall last night, with a formal meeting of the body.

Grand Knight George F. Howell addressed the members with a review of the council's progress and recounted the history and origin of Potomac Council. Among the visitors was State Deputy George Herring, State Warden John Dowling and Grand Knights Francis Dulaney, of Carroll Council; J. Fred Brady, of Spalding Council, and James McKeon, of Keane Council.

Few District Employes Will Learn Fate Today

A scattering of District employes will learn their fate today after the District Commissioners approve recommendations scheduled to be submitted by the personnel board after three lengthy sessions with department heads regarding retrenchments made necessary by a reduced District appropriations act.

The personnel board continued its interviews yesterday afternoon with the department heads, but Maj. Daniel J. Donovan, chairman, declined to reveal details of the departmental reports. Previous indications have been that only three departments will make any substantial dismissals, though a number will have to resort to rotative furloughs.

Punching Highwayman Attacks Two Women

Miss Emma Hertfelder, 104 Rosemary street, was accosted by the hold-up man while walking on Connecticut avenue near her home. The man walked up to her, punched her eye, took 50 cents from her and ran. A few minutes later and a couple blocks away, a colored woman, Lula M. King, opened the window of the house at 133 Hesketh street, to fix the blind, when a man answering the same description walked up to her, punched her jaw and ran.

RENT PROBE STARTS AS RING TAKES OATH

Special Investigator Plans to Send Questionnaires to Complainants.

The heralded Public Utilities Commission rent inquiry got under way formally yesterday after James Ring, former clerk of the Senate District Committee, took an oath of office as special investigator and was given a desk in the commission's general office.

Bringing with him all the data heretofore gathered during the Senate inquiry, Mr. Ring explained that he intended to study this information while completing the drafting of a formal questionnaire to be answered by all complainants.

These forms will be available upon application just as soon as they are approved and mimeographed. After all facts are obtained and checked on each complaint, Mr. Ring will submit the case to the commission for action.

In asking for cooperation from the public, Mr. Ring stated that he must have accurate facts, rather than prejudices or opinions, to be able to make the most of the inquiry.

Dead Man's Name Used by Prisoner

Seventh Precinct police are accustomed to fictitious names and wrong addresses, but this case tops them all.

They locked up a man for intoxication. He identified himself with an ordinary name and gave an ordinary address. Later he became very sick, and was rushed to Gallinger Hospital. A policeman was sent to notify his family and discovered the address to be that of an undertaking establishment.

Asked if he knew a man by a certain name, the undertaker said "Yes, I have his corpse here." Sure enough the name given by the intoxicated one was that of a dead man. Police Court will probably get the man's right name when he is brought up on the intoxication charge.

Lost Pet Raven Found, Wearied by Wandering

Some one who goes in for the unusual in pets has lost a raven and George F. McNamee, 35 Longfellow street northwest, has the bird.

It turned up at McNamee's home early yesterday, somewhat weary from its wanderings, and seemed perfectly willing to stay. The bird has a gold band, stamped with No. "10" on its leg.

Some Hand!

One of District's Finest Breaks Windshield; Three Lacerated.

It was all inadvertent—but the results were painful to all concerned.

Yesterday morning Policeman Edward Smith was directing traffic at Potomac avenue and M street northwest. He changed the flow of cars. A car hurrying down M street did not get the signal. Smith's outstretched hand broke the windshield, shattering the glass into the faces of the occupants.

Smith was treated at Georgetown Hospital for a badly lacerated hand, and Miss Grace Ballser, and her sister, Esther, both of Clarendon, Va., for cuts to their faces.

Washington Seeks National Conclave

Plans were laid for bringing the 1935 convention of the National Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., to Washington at a dinner last night, given by the Greater National Capital committee of the Washington Board of Trade at the Mayflower Hotel.

Washington women who will go to the convention of the organization in Chicago next month were guests at the dinner. They included Mrs. Nell Ingels, president of the local club; Miss Erline White, secretary; Miss Mary Stewart, who will present the invitation, and Miss Charl Williams.

Curtis Hodges, executive director of the Greater National Capital committee, presided, and presented the moving picture of the Capital just completed by the committee. The club women voted to show the film in Chicago.

Court Denies Use Of Alley to Family

Although it expressed a desire to "reach a different conclusion," the District Court of Appeals yesterday affirmed the action of the District Supreme Court in holding that Charles N. Lehman, 420 East Capitol street, was entitled to the exclusive use of a three-foot alley way between his home and that of Katherine Douglass, 418 East Capitol street.

Lehman, who owns all but a few inches of the alley way, brought suit to restrain the Douglass family from using it. The court found that no easement existed in favor of the defendant and returned a verdict upholding Lehman's contention that he alone was entitled to use the alley.

The result of the decision is that the Douglass family will have to use the front door of their home for entrance and egress, there being no rear entrance.

HAMILTON CHARTER APPLICATION NEAR

4,900 Stockholders Now Are Assured for New National Bank Here.

Members of the organization committee for the proposed Hamilton National Bank of Washington expect to apply for a charter for this prospective institution the latter part of this week, it was announced yesterday. Approximately at the same time application for the charter is made at the United States Treasury Department, application for trust authority for the bank will be filed there and an application for membership for it in the Federal Reserve System will be submitted to the Fifth Federal Reserve District Bank at Richmond, Va.

Members of the committee said yesterday that Hamilton National Bank of Washington, realization of which enterprise now is virtually assured, will begin business with more than 4,900 stockholders, more than 70,000 depositors, assets of more than $13,000,000 and deposits of approximately $11,000,000. The foregoing figures were increased to these amounts by alignment Saturday of Seventh Street Savings Bank with the seven local restricted banks definitely committed to the Hamilton National Bank plan.

Members of subcommittees of the organization committee for the new bank held meetings yesterday relative to analysis of assets of the eight banks comprising the Hamilton National Bank plan; selection of certain of the 13 buildings of these banks for retention as branches of the new bank; selection of members of its board of directors, the remainder of its official staff, its employed personnel and decision as to salaries.

The subscription committee of Seventh Street Savings Bank began its individual campaign yesterday for procurement of $50,000 worth of new stock which will be that institution's quota for stock in Hamilton Bank. It is now the idea of the general subscription committee to have the necessary total of $1,250,000 worth of stock for the bank oversubscribed in order to offset a natural shrinkage resulting from release of certain funds in the various banks participating in the plan otherwise intended for application to new stock.

Rescue Squad Revives Woman Victim of Gas

Busy painting in an upstairs room, Mrs. Elizabeth Brewer, 34, 117 Quincy street northeast, yesterday afternoon suddenly became aware that gas was escaping somewhere in the house. She found a pipe broken in the kitchen, and attempted to stop the flow of gas with a cork.

She was overcome but revived by the fire rescue squad, which was called by neighbors. At Casualty Hospital it was reported her condition is not serious.

Woman Is in Hospital After Alleged Poisoning

Found in an unconscious condition in her room, Miss Frances Vincent, 1420 Seventeenth street northwest, was reported in an undetermined condition at Emergency Hospital last night from the effect of a quantity of poison she is said to have taken.

Body of Drowned Man Recovered.

The body of Frank Brown, 30, colored, of 1220 Quackenbos street northwest, who disappeared Saturday while swimming in the C. & O. Canal between Chain Bridge and Railroad Bridge, was found floating in the canal yesterday. It was removed to the District Morgue.

GRAND JURY PROBE IS CONDUCTED INTO PARK SAVINGS CASE

Four Indictments Expected in $1,700,000 Shortage and Bank Closing.

In a brief session yesterday the District grand jury investigated alleged criminal phases of the closing of the Park Savings Bank, which has a shortage now estimated at $1,700,000.

All through its investigation, the grand jury was told of the innumerable defalcations of Robert S. Stunz, executive officer of the bank, who killed himself in March just prior to public disclosure of the condition of the institution.

A former employe of the bank, two customers and a former official of the Treasury Department, who resigned in May, are expected to be indicted as a result of their alleged parts in the shortage. It was emphasized that most of the losses of the bank are catalogued under bad loans.

Numerous civil suits are expected to be brought in an attempt to collect these loans for the benefit of the bank's creditors, but no criminal charges are contemplated. The fact that Stunz paid for his "hard liquor" with the bank's money, and was a "big shot" in gambling houses will not figure in the investigation, although there was some thought of asking for an indictment of an embassy official for his alleged part in a liquor transaction.

The jurors last week heard evidence relating to irregularities in the Mount Vernon Savings Bank. It was said there that the bank suffered no loss as a result of the peculiar transactions for the reason that a bonding company was behind the employe whose dishonest activities resulted in the inquiry.

2 P. U. C. Lawyers Will Be Released

Two legal assistants will be released by the Public Utilities Commission August 1 because of financial stringency, it was revealed yesterday. They are Frank Buckley and Jack Levin, who have been working with William A. Roberts, special assistant corporation counsel, under William W. Bride.

Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman of the commission, stated that the dismissals are made necessary by the termination of the Washington Gas Light Co. valuation and the fact that the commission's chief accountant and valuation engineer, who have been paid largely under a miscellaneous trust fund made up by the utilities, must return to the regular salary rolls, already seriously cut in the 1934 appropriations.

Gen. Patrick denied that the appointment of James Ring as special rent investigator had been responsible for the dismissals, although a controversy developed prior to the Ring appointment because of the failure of Congress to appropriate $2,400 expenses for the rent inquiry.

Location of New Dump To Be Chosen This Week

Engineer Commissioner John C. Gotwals this week will select one or more sites for a District burning dump from among six suggested yesterday by Maj. Joseph D. Arthur, District engineer for the War Department, in response to a request.

One site is on the Potomac River near Oxon Run, four are on the Anacostia River in the vicinity of the National Training School for Boys, and the sixth is on the Potomac near Hunters Point. The dump is made necessary by the closing of the Northeast incinerator by edict of Congress.

Raid Data Quashed By Faulty Warrant

Because of an improper identification on the search warrant, Judge Isaac R. Hitt, in Police Court yesterday granted a motion by defense attorneys to quash all evidence seized by police in a raid at 1141 Connecticut avenue northwest, which led to the arrest of Z. Thomas Goldsmith.

The only address given in the warrant was that of 1141, and it was shown that the raided place was on the second floor. There is another business place located also at 1141, it was proved, and there was not sufficient definiteness in the warrant to sustain it, Judge Hitt ruled.

Charles Ford, attorney for Mr. Goldsmith, yesterday declared he planned to file an order for the return of everything taken by police when they raided the place.

Girl Takes Poison by Mistake.

Suffering from a headache and insomnia, Frances Owens, 1822 New Hampshire avenue northwest, early yesterday morning went to her medicine cabinet for a sedative. By mistake she swallowed a poison tablet. She was treated at Emergency Hospital. Her condition is not regarded as serious.

Fire Chief George Watson Returns to Duty Tomorrow

Temporary Retirement to Be Ended After Two Months' Illness.

The temporary retirement of Fire Chief George S. Watson, who was forced because of ill health to curtail his activities two months ago, will end tomorrow when he returns to duty as chief engineer of the District Fire Department.

Chief Watson, who is 57 years old, was appointed to the department in 1906. He served in various positions until 1918, when he was made fire marshal. He was promoted to chief of the department in 1920.

His work in handling the Knickerbocker Theater disaster in 1922 won Chief Watson national recognition. He was awarded a gold medal and highly praised for his direction in relief work.

FIRE CHIEF GEORGE S. WATSON.

MAJ. BROWN SEEKS CITIZEN COMMITTEE

Creation of Advisory Group on Police Problems to Be Asked by Chief.

The new District Commissioner, to be appointed by President Roosevelt, will be asked by Superintendent of Police Ernest W. Brown, to approve the appointment of a citizens advisory committee to aid him in police administrative problems.

The personnel of this committee, Maj. Brown said, would be composed of outstanding civic leaders whose service would be voluntary and without compensation.

"These men," Maj. Brown said, "would be asked to give their ideas on current administration problems. Their views on legislation would be sought when and if a problem arises which calls for special legislation.

The appointment of such a committee, Maj. Brown said, has been given his consideration for some time. He is particularly interested in what the layman thinks on current police problems and frequently seeks the advice of prominent civic leaders when a pressing problem arises.

Petworth Women's Club Praised for Art Work

Directional art work by the Petworth Women's Club was praised yesterday at a meeting of the District of Columbia Federation of Women's Clubs in the Roosevelt Hotel. A painting by Miss Clara Saunders was presented to the club.

A report on the six-day council meeting at Richmond, Va., last month was made by Mrs. Harvey Wiley, president of the Federation. Memorial services were held for Mrs. Tamer F. Rorke, a member of the organization, who died recently.

Motorist Shakes Robber Off Auto

The intended victim was Douglas Morris, of 309 B street northeast, an employe of the Sanitary Grocery Co. The robber, brandishing a gun, jumped on the running board of his car at Fifteenth street and Massachusetts avenue northwest when Morris stopped for a red traffic light signal. The robber commanded Morris to "stick 'em up," but the lights turned yellow and he stepped on the gas, the robber falling to the pavement, making his get-away.

P. U. C. Sets Hearing On Bus Lines' Pleas

The Public Utilities Commission yesterday scheduled a public hearing July 7 on petitions of the Alexandria, Barcroft & Washington Rapid Transit and the Arlington & Fairfax Motor Transport Co. to pick up passengers in Washington other than at their respective terminals.

The interstate lines had been allowing passengers to ride between the Potomac River and the Washington terminals for 5 cents until the commission threatened prosecution under orders issued last year.

FINAL SCHOOL BOARD MEETING ANNOUNCED

Dismissals and Retirements Will Be Decided On Tomorrow.

School business for this year will be completed at a meeting of the Board of Education at 3:30 p. m. tomorrow in preparation for the annual reorganization meeting of the board to take place Saturday morning.

Final retirements and dismissals in connection with the school reorganization program will be acted on at tomorrow's meeting.

Three new appointments to the board will be made by the District Supreme Court justices prior to Saturday's meeting. Those who are due for retirement from the board at the end of this year are: Dr. Abram Simon, Mrs. Philip Sydney Smith and the Rev. F. I. A. Bennett.

Dr. Simon has asked not to be considered for reappointment, because of his health. Mrs. Smith and Dr. Bennett, it was learned on good authority yesterday, will be reappointed. Identity of the appointee to fill Dr. Simon's place is expected to be announced within the next day or so.

A new president of the board will be elected at Saturday's meeting. Dr. Hayden Johnson, chancellor of National University, has been serving as president since the illness of Dr. Simon.

Policeman Races Cyclist and Wins

Private G. N. Nicholson, of the First Police Precinct, also can claim "got-his-man" honors.

Early yesterday morning while walking along the 500 block of Second street, Nicholson saw a colored man carrying a jar which he suspected of holding liquor. The colored man jumped on a bicycle and started up an alley. Nicholson pitted his sprinting ability against the colored man's cycling ability.

To First street and up First street they raced. At First and G streets the policeman was sideswiped by a hit-and-run driver and knocked to the pavement. But he picked himself up and overhauled the cyclist, who by this time had unburdened himself of his jar. After booking his man who identified himself as James Porter, 21, 1112 Pierce street northwest, on a charge of breaking glass in the street, Nicholson went to the police clinic for treatment for a badly bruised leg.

Three-Story Fall Kills Ironworker

A fall from steel girder on the third floor of the Department of Agriculture extension, now under construction at Fourteenth and B streets southwest, caused the death last night of Torlief Holtane, 23 years old, of 609 Irving street northwest.

Holtane, a steel worker, fell from the structure as he was riveting. He was taken to Emergency Hospital where he died three hours later. Dr. A. Magruder Macdonald, acting coroner, ordered an inquest at 11:30 a. m., tomorrow.

Holtane is survived by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Holtane, and two brothers, Carl and Bernie, all of 609 Irving street northwest.

NEW TRAFFIC CODE IS URGED TO INSURE PEDESTRIAN SAFETY

Chamber Adopts Program for Legislative Action at Next Congress.

A five-point program for improvement of traffic conditions in Washington to insure greater safety for pedestrians, was adopted at a luncheon meeting of the transportation committee of the Washington Chamber of Commerce yesterday at the Kenwood Country Club.

The objectives recommended by the chamber committee are: Enactment by Congress at the next session of legislation fixing the financial responsibility of private car and taxicab drivers to insure proper indemnification for all injured persons.

Legislation providing penalties for the offense of "negligent homicide" to cover extreme cases of careless driving resulting in serious injury or death of pedestrians; establishment of a traffic school which violators of street and traffic regulations may be forced to attend; elimination of the coroner's jury for a medical examining board, and strict enforcement of the rights of pedestrians and strict enforcement of pedestrian control.

The report making these recommendations was presented by the subcommittee on pedestrian safety including Miss Louise E. Tomlin, chairman, and C. Phillips Hill, Walter C. Balderston, Inspector B. A. Lamb, and James B. Luttes. Mr. Balderston and Mr. Luttes served as representatives of the chamber's committee on police and fire protection.

Among those who attended the meeting were George E. Kenelpp, chairman of the committee; Maj. E. W. Brown, Inspector Benjamin A. Lamb, C. Phillips Hill, Edward S. Pardoe, William F. Friel, Harry C. Davis, C. H. Cooke, J. Edward Heberle, and Dorsey W. Hyde, jr.

Three Killers Lose Fight Against Chair

The District Court of Appeals yesterday affirmed the conviction of three colored men who were sentenced to electrocution on a charge of slaying Policeman Milo J. Kennedy.

The three are Joseph J. Jackson, Irvin Murray and Ralph E. Holmes. They were convicted of enticing Kennedy into Logan Circle last August so that he could be attacked.

The death sentences had been held in abeyance awaiting the outcome of the appeal. Chief Justice A. A. Wheat, before whom they were tried, will set a date for their execution.

Child's Pelvis Fractured When Truck Strikes Him

Five-year-old Mathew Edward Gunther, 4348 River road northwest, suffered a fractured pelvis and bruises yesterday when knocked down by a truck while playing on the dump at Davenport and Forty-fourth streets northwest. He was treated at Georgetown University Hospital.

Edward Carter, 50, 1224 Congress courts northwest, driver of the truck, said he was backing from the dump and did not see the child.

Edward James Irvine, Self-Designated Laureate, Would Have Poetry Meetings at Sylvan Theater in Spring, Summer and Fall.

Open-air poetry meetings will be the rule at the Sylvan Theater if Edward James Irvine, self-designated poet laureate of the Nation's Capital, achieves his ambition to become District Commissioner. His "12 demands of liberalism" were made public last night by the aspirant to the commissionership.

They are:

1. A reduction in his own pay, if appointed.
2. Merger of the two street car companies, and a 5-cent fare.
3. Regulation of the chaotic taxicab situation, and a 25-cent fare to any point in the District, all cab zones to be abandoned.
4. Removal of all brick sidewalks, to be replaced by cement sidewalks.
5. Abolition of left-hand turns. Installation of more traffic lights. More one-way streets.
6. Immediate abolition of alley dwellings.
7. More pennyterias for both white and colored persons, the eating places to be conveniently located.
8. Crime prevention signal boxes, alongside of all fire-alarm boxes.
9. More public comfort stations, conveniently located.
10. The right to keep any business open on Sunday.
11. Open-air poetry meetings at the Sylvan Theater grounds during spring, summer and autumn.
12. Absolute freedom of speech and assembly, and the right to peaceably picket and petition for the redress of grievances by any and all groups of citizens, whether they represent the minority or majority points of view.
